

International Review (1987-1996)

International Review was an irregular internal bulletin of the RCLB. There were seventeen issues produced between 1987-1996. It was produced to circulate information about and from international contacts and make available their analysis and comments. It contained commentary on various international topics. As such, and given the unacknowledged differences therein, they were not reflective of agreed RCLB positions and unsuitable for republishing in "Class Struggle".
