1,450,000 RailroadeWorkers Fed Up With Gov't Run-Around Vote Overwhelmingly for Walkout; Unions Set Dec. 30 Deadline

By Art Preis

DECEMBER 21. — President Roosevelt has been compelled to intervene personally in the railroad wage negotiations in a last minute effort to head off the general railroad strike scheduled to begin Dec. 30. All his elaborate boards and arbitration machinery, set up to stymie the wage demands of the railroad workers, have completely broken down and are discredited. Roosevelt is now forced to assume direct responsibility for the raw deal he is trying to put over.

A successful strike or even a strike threat resulting in substantial wage gains will deal another powerful blow to Roosevelt's fast-waning prestige with labor and to his increasingly discredited war labor relations machinery.

The hard pressed bualmost a year, have hastened to the White House

at Roosevelt's imperious

summons. They are no doubt anxious to obtain a formula which they can palm off on their membership as an "acceptable" settlement to avert a strike the Whether they can dig up such a formula is another question.

Assistant to President EVELVN DUBROW Legislative Counsel MORRIS ISSERMAN

This letter is in response to yours of December 9th, 1943 bringing to my attention the fact that the Supreme Court of the United States has refused to allow an appeal from the 18 defendants who were con-victed in the Minneapolis case.

I disagree with many of the things that these defendants or their political party stand for. How-ever, my disagreement with their ideas forms the very basis of my strong conviction that their right to their beliefs and their freedom to express those beliefs ought to be strongly safeguarded. This principle, I believe, is the very rock upon which our democracy stands.

December 15, 1943

This is the reason why the Executive Board of the organization which I head, recorded itself in favor of protecting the civil rights of the defendants in-volved.

Therefore, on behalf of the New Jersey State CIO Council, I would like to add my strong protest against the refusal of the Supreme Court of the United States to hear a case where the elements of freedom of speech are involved.

Sincerely yours, Irving Abramson, President N.J. State CIO Council

NEW YORK, Dec. 16-A direct and forceful demand that President Roosesevelt grant an immediate and unconditional pardon to the 18 Minneapolis victims, framed-up under the anti-labor Smith "Gag" law, was issued tonight by an overflow mass protest meeting at the Manhattan Center here. The meeting was sponsored by the Civil Rights Defense Committee.

This important gathering, addressed by leading spokesmen of a number of civil liberties and working class political organizations, initiated the nation-wide campaign to win the freedom of the 18 Socialist Workers Party and Minneapolis drivers Local 544-CIO leaders and to wipe from the Federal statutes the Smith "Gag" law, the most dangerous legal threat to American civil liberties since the notorious Alien and Sedition Laws of 1798.

Roger Baldwin, Director of the American Civil Liberties Union and the nation's outstanding liberal fighter for civil rights, and Albert Goldman, brilliant Minneapolis trial defense attorney and himself one of the defendants, topped a list of prominent speakers who scored the reac tionary decision of Roosevelt's U. S. Supreme Courtain refusing even to hear an appeal by the defendants.

Resolution Demanding President Pardon 18 Minneapolis Prisoners

The following is the text of the resolution demanding that President Roosevelt grant an immediate and unconditional pardon to the 18 convicted Trotskyist and Minneapolis Local 544-CIO leaders, adopted unanimously by the protest mass meeting held under the auspices of the Civil Rights Defense Committee Thursday, Dec. 16, in New York City:

We, 400 defenders of civil liberties, gathered in Manhattan Center on Thursday, Dec. 16, at a mass meeting called by the Civil Rights Defense Committee, indignantly protest the railroading to prison of the 18 members of the Socialist Workers Party and of Minneapolis Truckdrivers Local 544-CIO as an intolerable violation of the elementary principles of democracy and as the most vicious attack in years upon the rights of labor.

These 18 men and women are the victims of political persecution, placed behind bars solely because of their ideas and union activities. They are the first to be bludgeoned by the Smith "Gag" Act, a savage instrument of oppression against organized labor and minority opinion. Although this law clearly abrogates the constitutional rights of free speech and free press, the U. S. Supreme Court in an unprecedented action refused to consider its constitutionality and to review the convictions.

We will not permit these acts of injustice to go unchallenged. The imprisonment of the 18 Minneapolis defendants vitally concerns every fighter for the rights of la civil liberties. The virtual upholding of the Smith "Gag" Act places a weapon in the hands of reaction which can now be used against other trade-unionists and working class political

Albert Goldman Flays Supreme Court For Its Part In Railroading 18 To Penitentiary

THÉ MÍLÍTANT

Excerpts from speech delivered at mass meeting held by the Civil Rights Defense Committee in New York City Thursday Dec. 16, 1943.1

By Albert Goldman

Seven legal questions were raised in the petition which the attorneys filed before the U.S. Supreme Court asking it to review the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals affirming the conviction of the 18 Minneapolis defendants. I think that at least six of these legal questions not only justified but demanded that the Supreme Court grant a review, consider oral and written arguments, and render its opinion.

I offer for the consideration of the layman only two of the legal questions raised by the defense, because in the case of these two questions no special legal training is required to decide whether or not the Supreme Court should at least have given the reasons why it affirmed the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals.

One section of the Smith "Gag" Act under which the defendants were convicted makes it unlawful "to advise, counsel, urge, or in any manner cause insubordination, disloyalty, mutiny, or refusal of duty by any member of the military or naval forces of the United States." The Espionage Act of 1917 makes it unlawful "willfully to cause or attempt to cause insubordination, disloyalty, mutiny, or refusal of duty, in the military or naval forces of the United States. . . ." Now I admit that the language is not exactly alike because the act under which we were convicted speaks of "advising and urging" insubordination while the Espionage Act uses the expression "causing insubordination." Sensible people would agree, I think, that causing insubordination must necessarily involve in some way or other advising and urging. Even a totally dumb person would be compelled to find a method, if he wanted to cause insubordination, to communicate with others. He would then be "advising" and "urging." To all intents and purposes the two statutes are the same.

Spurious Legal Contentions

It was in interpreting the Espionage Act that the Supreme Court, in 1919, laid down the rule that, before any one can be convicted for making oral or written statements, the government must prove that "a clear and present danger" exists that these statements might actually result in creating insubordination in the armed forces. The government contended that this rule does not apply to that section of the Smith Act which is almost identical with the Espionage Act. I am not now trying to convince you that the government is incorrect from a legal point of view. All that I assert is that the question is of such importance and the similarity of the two statutes is so great that the Supreme Court was obligated to discuss it and present reasons for its decision.

Another important question involved in the case which can be readily understood without any special training is: what constitutes urging insubordination in the armed forces. This does not involve the question whether the government witnesses testified against us truthfully. For the sake of presenting the legal argument before the Supreme Court we assume the truth

A MESSAGE FROM JAMES T. FARRELL

James T. Farrell, noted novelist and National Chairman of the Civil Rights Defense Committee, who was prevented by illness from participating in the New York mass meeting protesting the railroading to prison of the 18 Minneapolis defendants, sent the following vigorous message to the meeting:

"The refusal of the Supreme Court to hear the appeal in the Minneapolis case is an implied recognition of the constitutionality of the Smith 'Gag' Act. The Congress of the U.S. and the Supreme Court have thus both attacked the first and his voice on behalf of any democratic rights for men in the military service.

What more perfect a weapon can a prosecutor expect than a statute so interpreted as to permit an indictment and conviction for any statement criticizing anything connected with the military regime? All that he need do is to frame an indictment in the words of the statute. The method of choosing juries in the Federal courts practically guarantees a conviction. What a paradise for a prosecutor aiming to convict revolutionists if no more is required to make a conviction stick than to introduce a copy of the "Communist Manifesto." The courts have opened wide the gates of the Federal penitentiaries for victims of the Smith "Gag" Law to be driven in.

Whether or not the government will set the prosecutors into motion does not depend solely on the fact that a reactionary law has been interpreted in a reactionary manner and that the conviction of eighteen Trotskvists has been affirmed. For the present the government may well be satisfied to have a powerful weapon-at its disposal which can be used whenever it becomes necessary, not only against revolutionists but against any and all militant unionists and progressives.

The weapon may again be used when the European masses take their fate into their own hands and refuse to take orders from Stalin, Roosevelt and Churchill. It undoubtedly will be used when the workers of this country will become more militant in their demands to curb the war profiteers and will refuse to assume all the burdens of the war.

creating insubordination in the armed forces are only flimsy pretexts to confuse the backward and fool the gullible. In fact it is because we are opposed to a social order which condemns mankind to the physical violence of war and fascism and to the spiritual violence of poverty and ignorance that we have been sentenced to prison terms. They who boast about the number and quality of weapons produced to kill human beings by the thousands and tens of thousands accuse us of advocating violence because on the basis of an analysis of social forces and a study of history we conclude that the ruling class will not yield its wealth and power without resorting to violence.

It is because we have been indicted, convicted, and are being sent to prison for holding and propagating advanced social ideas that the labor and liberal movements are obligated, in their own interests, to struggle for a pardon on our behalf and to erase the Smith "Gag" Act from the statute books. Too many liberals and labor leaders are so interested in supporting Roosevelt in what they consider to be a struggle against German fascism that they have forgotten that right here in this country men are being railroaded to jail because they are struggling for a new social order. Let those who want democracy to prevail and are indifferent to our case, beware. By their failure to struggle on our behalf they are helping to create a monster that will ultimately destroy them also.

Lesson of Supreme Importance

Some people, I hope, have learned a lesson in this case. They have learned that no reliance can be placed in a so-called "liberal" Supreme Court to guard essential democratic rights. A "liberal" Supreme Court may interfere with a lower court to protect the right of an unimportant and unpopular religious sect to distribute its literature. It has been shown in our

LABOR AND NEGRO LEADERS PLEDGE THEIR SUPPORT TO EIGHTEEN

Among the expressions of support for the 18 convicted Minneapolis defendants addressed to the New York protest meeting were messages from such prominent labor and Negro leaders as Willard Townsend, International President, United Transport Employees, CIO; Rev. A. Clayton Powell, pastor of the Abyssinian Baptist Church and former New York City Councilman; and Mark Starr, National Educational Director of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, AFL. Some significant extracts from their messages are the following:

"Our International Union at its convention vigorously expressed itself against the denial of civil rights involved in the persecution of the eighteen Minneapolis defendants. We feel the refusal of the United States Supreme Court to hear your case, the first appeal of any conviction under the notorious Smith 'gag' act, is an indication of the anti-civil liberties temper of these times.

"We pledge our solidarity with you in the work that lies ahead to secure the freedom of the eighteen defendants."-WILLARD TOWNSEND

"... The labor-haters and the red-baiters, the anti-Semites and the anti-Negroites are all our common foe. THEY MUST BE DEFEATED! THEY WILL BE DEFEATED.

"The new Negro and the new White man are on the march and there isn't a son of a fascist in America who is going to hold us back.

"We are going to fight together until . . . the eighteen Minneapolis victims of American Hitlerism are freed. ..... A. CLAYTON POWELL, Jr.

of the government's evidence. The question is whether as a matter of law the facts as presented by the government constitute urging insubordination.

Some of the government witnesses testified that a few of the defendants told them that if drafted, they should try to create dissension in the army by kicking about the food and bedding. This is obviously the invention of stupid people but we assume that it is true. Does this constitute a conspiracy to create insubordination in the army? Suppose it turned out that the food and bedding were excellent and there was nothing to kick about on that score? Suppose they were bad, would it be wrong to kick about them?

It was also shown by the government that the Socialist Workers' Party favors military training under the control of the trade unions and democracy in the military forces. Does that constitute urging insubordination?

Political Motivation Is Clear

A Supreme Court motivated purely by legal obligations would have considered at least the two questions that I have mentioned and would have presented reasons for its decision. It is possible to come to either one of two conclusions with reference to the failure of the Supreme Court to grant a review. It is possible to say that the Court considered all the legal questions raised by the attorneys for the defendants and decided not to grant a review because these questions were not sufficiently important or were already settled in some previous case. Such a conclusion is ruled out for the reason that the questions raised were novel ones and most people will agree that they are important.

The other conclusion, and the correct one, is that the Supreme Court did not want to interfere with the conviction in this case and was not interested in discussing the legal questions that were raised. It is on this assumption that one can best explain the failure of the Court to grant a review. This was the simplest and easiest way out. It obviated the necessity of discussing the questions and presenting reasons for a decision, something that would have been embarassing for those judges who claim to be liberal. When arguments are lacking to justify a reactionary decision, silence is the best policy, especially for those who pretend to be liberal.

Every one in the labor and progressive movement must clearly realize the implications of the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals, which the Supreme Court has approved by virtue of its refusal to review it. It not only permits a viciously reactionary law, the Smith "Gag" Act, to remain on the statute books. It has strengthened that law by interpreting it in a manner which gives the widest possible scope for its use by prosecutors against any one who stands for the right of workers to defend themselves against reactionary violence and who raises

Undoubtedly it will be asked why the Supreme Court refused to interfere with the conviction? I explained why it chose the method of refusing to grant a review but that in itself does not explain why the judges decided to permit the conviction to stand. Every individual having anything to do with the prosecution had his own particular reason for his desire to get us convicted. Tobin wanted to run the Minneapolis teamsters' union as he pleased without the interference of men who fought for honest, militant and democratic unionism. He asked his friend Roosevelt to do something for him. Our "great" and "democratic" President was more than willing to have us indicted and convicted in order to do his friend Tobin a favor. And once the machinery of what is called justice is set into motion every individual connected with that capitalist justice is anxious to do his part faithfully and well.

It can also be asserted with a high degree of certainty that the desire of the Administration to curry favor with Stalin constituted a contributing factor in the Supreme Court's refusal to review the decision of the lower court. It is difficult to explain the different attitude taken by the Supreme Court in the case of Schneiderman, a Stalinist, on any other hypothesis. For the Schneiderman case involved legal questions that are almost identical with some of the questions involved in our case.

Basically, however, the special and particular reasons motivating the various personalities connected with the prosecution play a minor role. To find the basic motives of Tobin and Roosevelt and prosecutors and judges one must look to the fundamental ideas which the defendants represent and in the activities which the defendants pursue for the realization of their ideas * * *

Let me once more assure you that the charge of advocating violence to overthrow the government and the accusation of case that it will not interfere with the jailing of people who seriously advocate a fundamental change in the social order.

In the last analysis only a politically conscious working class will be able to guard the democratic rights of the people. The attention of all who are devoted to these rights must be centered on the masses, on educating them to the significance of our case as a violation of their rights. All of us can and must agree on one thing-that democracy is absolutely essential for the working class. It is essential for its struggle for better conditions under the present system. It is essential for its struggle for a new social order. It is essential for the building of the new social order.

To struggle for our pardon, for the repeal of the Smith "Gag" Act and for the nullification of the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals and of the Supreme Court is essentially a struggle for the democratic rights of the masses.

Full well do we know that the sacrifice which we are compelled to make by virtue of our imprisonment is nothing in comparison with the sacrifices which revolutionists of other lands and different times were forced and are still forced to suffer. We do not at all consider ourselves in the category of martyrs. We have done our bit in the cause of working class emancipation. We go to prison confident that the struggle for our ideals and for the democratic rights of the American masses will continue. Upon our liberation we shall together with you continue the struggle for socialism which will bring freedom and equality to all mankind.

The coal miners found it necessary to call four strikes to gain what is no more than a modest increase. The railroad workers will not have to fight as hard. It is their good fortune that the miners did the heavy spade work. Only by following in the footsteps of the miners will the rail workers achieve their demands and take a step forward.

Secret Diplomacy

Secret diplomacy was completely exposed during the last war as a special instrument of the imperialist bandits. The Bolsheviks under Lenin and Trotsky thoroughly discredited secret diplomacy by publishing the secret treaties of Czarism. None dared to espouse it openly. It was publicly renounced by capitalist statesmen, pompous liberals and other hypocrites in "democratic" disguises. The first of President Wilson's 14 Points called for the abolition of secret diplomacy.

The onset of reaction since 1923 is marked by the brazenness with which secret diplomacy has been practised, especially throughout the so-called "war for democracy against fascism." Since the proclamation of the Atlantic Charter in Aug. 1941, London, Washington and the Kremlin have held a series of conferences which constitute the blackest chapter in the long filthy record of secret diplomacy. The Nov. 1 Eden-Molotov-Hull conference in Moscow made a pretense at publishing the political decisions. Thereupon the conferees immediately proceeded to show in the case of Italy the utter worthlessness of all their "democratic" promises. But from the Cairo and Teheran conferences nothing has come save silence.

All the diplomatic chancelleries and cowardly liberals have tried to explain away this silence on the grounds of "military necessity." This is the shabbiest of all pretexts. Military plans are one thing; political decisions, something else again. The only political decisions ever kept secret are those so sinister and so apt to arouse a storm of public indignation that those who conspire in making them dread to make them public. Had Churchill, Stalin and Roosevelt agreed to any other kind of policies, they would have rushed to proclaim them to the whole world.

The American people have every right to know what political decisions were reached at Cairo, Teheran and at all past conferences. The workers, who bear the brunt of the war must be especially on guard against this vile resurgence of secret diplo-" macy, and ought to take the initiative in demanding an end to secret diplomacy.

Rail Wage Crisis

The rail wage dispute has again raised, in an acute form, the question: Which road for the American worker?

The moderate wage demands of the railroad workers have been kicked around from one board to another for over a year. After a special panel had awarded an increase of 8 cents an hour, Vinson, Roosevelt's "economic stabilizer" set aside the ruling. Even the principle of compulsory arbitration, so vehemently defended by the employers, establishes that the decision of an arbitration board is final and binding. The Roosevelt administration has, however, introduced a refinement of that conception. Now, only those decisions are binding that conform to Roosevelt's Little Steel formula.

It is to the everlasting credit of the coal miners that they refused to fall victim to this shell game. They taught the American working class an invaluable lesson: that the strike remains the indispensable weapon for the protection of labor's rights. The mere threat of a rail strike has already resulted in more governmental attention to the railroad workers' wage demands than a whole year of palavering before government boards.

Workers are growing pretty indifferent to the anguished howls about upsetting Roosevelts "stabilization program." The pretence of stabilization is wearing very thin. The cost of living continues to soar while only wages remain "stabilized" (frozen). To gain even a few cents more per hour entails bitter and long drawn out struggles.

These struggles are handicapped by the fact that the wage objectives are so limited that the effort expended is out of all proportion to the small gains made. These wage gains, even when achieved are being rapidly wiped out by the mounting war inflation. Militants are becoming increasingly aware that the no-strike-pro-Roosevelt policy of the trade union bureaucrats is bringing the unions to the brink of disaster. They are seeking for a realistic program that will provide a way out.

There is a simple and effective measure to achieve that stabilization which is the cause of so much concern every time a group of workers ask for the most modest wage increases: The rising scale of wages to meet the rising cost of living. A reactionary Congress has threatened to remove all price controls if a general wage increase is granted. Labor's reply to such a threat must be the rising edited document purporting to show that Hirohito wanted peace before Pearl Harbor. "The implications (of this diplomatic document) were developed in a special article in last Sunday's Herald-Tribune: 'Hirohito Plea for '41 Peace May Save Him. Allies May Let Him Remain on Throne."

"The State Department," Stone writes, "revealed a tender concern for Hirohito months ago, when it censored a speech in which an American official took a potshot at the Emperor, and it now gives him favorable publicity in the American press on the basis of a document which shows only what fools we were before Pearl Harbor. The Department seems to be building Hirohito up for use as a Japanese Petain."

According to Stone, the Big Business interests are pressing for such a policy. "This friendliness for Hirohito reflects the needs of some sections of American big business which had cartel and other partnership ties with the Mitsuis and Mitsubishis of Japanese<sup>m</sup>onopoly capitalism, ties which they hope to resume after the war. If faith in the Emperor crumbles, backward Japan, like backward Russia before it, may have a socialist revolution."

This liberal critic carefully avoids mentioning the role of Roosevelt. He helps spread and sustain the myth that nasty reactionary underlings in the State Department carry on this reactionary work without Roosevelt's knowledge and behind his back.

Roosevelt's liberal and labor supporters are reduced to such lame devices and sleight-of-hands to bolster their preposterous propaganda that Washington's war is being waged for democratic and progressive purposes.

Roosevelt long maintained and still secretly maintains ties with the puppet Petain government. Roosevelt has crowned this calculated policy by keeping in power by force of arms the ex-accomplices of Mussolini, King Victor Emmanuel and Badoglio, who are detested and opposed by the entire Italian people. He would not have to stretch his consistently reactionary policy to include Hirohito and his gang.

The facts which Stone presents provide further, evidence that the real policy being pursued by Roosevelt and his State Department is one of making agreements with and helping to prop up all kinds of militarist and dictatorial regimes. Stone's facts furthermore demonstrate that the govern<sup>4</sup> ment's policy is dictated by the needs of America's monopolists to preserve their international cartel agreements with Big Business interests in other countries and by their fear that the masses will take power in their own hands and "have a socialist revolution."

White Collar Workers Get Crocodile Tears in Senate

A Senate Subcomittee on Wartime Health and Education announced last week that it was going to "study" the economic situation of 15 million whitecollar and professional workers whose salaries have remained fixed while prices have been soaring.

What a flood of crocodile tears these hypocrites are shedding over the white-collar workers! This fake campaign was initiated some weeks ago by the N. Y. Times which suddenly discovered that these unorganized workers had no way of securing even the meagre pay rises permitted within the limits of the Little Steel formula.

The aim of the N. Y. Times was not to aid the white-collar workers who are so callously exploited by the corporations nor to get wage-increases for them. This capitalist sheet hoped to use the starvation salaries and miseries of the white-collar workers as an argument against the wage-increases being demanded by the industrial workers and thereby to drive a wedge between the two labor groups.

These same reactionary motives animate the Congressmen who have taken up the cries of the Times. The Times was itself obliged to point out that the white-collar workers were not covered by the Little Steel Formula precisely because they were unorganized. The obviously indicated method for remedying this defect is for the white-collar workers to organize into unions. But neither the Times, nor the investigating Senators make this simple suggestion. Senator Thomas plainly intimates that his colleagues don't intend to do anything beyond investigating the situation. "There is no proposed legislation on the white collar worker's wage problems before the Senate subcommittee, nor will its investigation necessarily produce any," he stated.

The white collar workers can best help themselves to win wage-increases by organizing into trade unions. And in their own self-interest the union organizations must ecourage and aid the white collar workers in their efforts to organize and fight for higher salaries. By combining forces in a joint struggle for higher wages the organized industrial workers can frustrate the schemes of the bosses and their agents to pit the white collar and professional workers against them, and thus turn their divisive campaign into a boomerang.
