

Only Victorious Socialist Revolutions Can Prevent The Third World War! Manifesto Of The Fourth International Addressed To The Workers, The Exploited And The Oppressed Colonial Peoples Of The Entire World

(The following is the full text of the manifesto issued by the historic international conference of the Fourth International, the World Party of Socialist Revolution, held last month in Belgium. See Page Eight of this issue for a special editorial on the conference and a detailed report of its decisions.)

The first world-wide conference of the Fourth International since the conclusion of the second imperialist war meets at a time when the crisis of society has reached unprecedented depth and breadth.

In the very sight of the smoldering ruin and devastation and blood-letting of the last holocaust, the third world war is being prepared! The empires of Nazi Germany, Fascist Italy, and Japan have been destroyed by the "United Nations." But already the victors are engaged in a furious race among themselves for the possession of the most perfected weapon of destruction, the atomic bomb. What the totalitarian war fought with flying fortresses and supertanks, buzz-bombs and bazookas, flame-throwers and katinkas has still left standing, faces complete annihilation by this most dreadfully thoroughgoing of all death-dealing inventions. Thus the crisis of humanity has become a lifeand-death question in the deepest and most literal sense of the words.

The Fraud Of The "Four Freedoms"

The second imperialist war was solemnly consecrated by the governments of the "United Nations" and their flunkies at the head of the "socialist" and "communist" parties as well as the trade-union bureaucrats, as a war against fascism and for democracy. It was a war for the "Four Freedoms" in the words of its foremost protagonist, the late leader of American imperialism, Franklin D. Roosevelt. Instead of "Freedom from Fear," mankind faces the threat of atomic self-destruction.

Smashing The Chains Of World Capitalism

same time, American prductive capacity has, in the course of the war, more than doubled.

Even if its domination were absolute and unchallenged in the capitalist world, American imperialism could gain profits only during a short boom, while the shelves at home and abroad are still altogether empty because of the conversion of all industry in the past period to war production. Once reconverted industry begins to satisfy pentup demands, American capitalism must face the crisis of "overproduction": a depression so acute as to put in the shade the memories of 1929-33 with the 15,000,000 unemployed at that time.

But Wall Street's domination is neither unchallenged nor absolute. The other capitalist states, with their lower standard of living and lower wages, still retain a certain degree of importance as competitors to harass it.

A resumption of planned production in the USSR, and particularly its acceleration with a revolutionary overthrow of the Stalin regime and reinstitution of workers' democracy, is an ever-present threat.

Meanwhile the colonial world is rife with revolts - beginning with Indonesia and Indo-China and penetrating India and China as well, not to speak of the Near East and Africa.

The masses of Europe have entered into a sweeping swing to the left, challenging the whole system of capitalism including that of the oldest bourgeoisie in the world, England. Only the cowardice and treachery of the traditional workers' parties (Labor Party, Socialists, Stalinists) to whom the workers turned in the first phase of this swing, and the continued absence of mass revolutionary parties, have for the moment arrested its transformation into successful revolutions.

Wall Street's own army, reflecting the moods of the toiling masses from whom its ranks hail, clamor to go home from all the outposts of the world. The GIs do not want to serve as overseers of a world of slaves. And at home, Big Business has initiated a wage - freezing and union-breaking drive in order to prepare for cheaper production with which to consolidate the markets won b military might. But the masters face a rebellious wave of millions upon millions of strikers resisting this drive, fight-ing to bring their earnings in line with the rising cost of living.

Instead of "Freedom from Want," three-fourths of the world is plagued with starvation and disease.

Instead of "Freedom of Speech," the vast majority of the peoples are forced to obey the dictates of military governments or the puppets of the victors.

Only the spurious "Freedom of Religion" remains, in the hands of the rulers always a pliant tool by means of which to create raneor and strife among the ruled.

That is the true face of the promised freedoms. Meanwhile, under the benevolent eye of the victors, fascism raises its head again under new forms, as in Italy with the "Uomo Qualunque" movement, and elsewhere.

These were the alleged aims of the war, the promises brandished before the masses of the people. They have proved to be a pack of deceitful lies. In the Manifesto of the Emergency Conference of the Fourth International in May 1940, we branded these lies in advance. The Fourth International alone told the truth!

"Contrary to the official fables designed to drug the people," the 1940 Manifesto written by Trotsky said, "the chief cause of war as of all other social evils - unemployment, the high cost of living, fascism, colonial oppressionis the private ownership of the means of production together with the bourgeois state which rests on this foundation."

Like Lenin during the First World War we warned: "But as long as the main producive forces in society are in the hands of the trusts, that is, of tiny capitalist cliques, so long must the struggle for markets, for sources of raw materials, for the rule of the world inevitably take on a more and more destructive character."

These were the real aims. These remain today the motive forces leading to the next war.

If victorious revolutions of the working class do not supplant the rapacious system of private property and establish a planned socialist order of production for use, we repeat with Lenin and Trotsky, imperialist war is sure to follow once more. This time, accompanied by atomic annihilation of the entire industrial areas of whole countries at once.

This manifesto is therefore directed to the workers, the exploited, the oppressed. The fate of mankind rests in their hands and in their hands alone. It is to them that this conference of the Fourth International, the World Party of the Socialist Revolution, turns with its explanation of the situation we face together and it is them whom we summon to action against the rulers of the world.

Results Of The First World War

The real aims of the war were the struggle for markets, for sources of raw materials, for hegemony of the world economy. Two sets of capitalist powers faced each other in the conflict.

There were on the one side the old and bloated imperialist nations like England and France, who had long ago divided up among themselves the lion's share of the world's markets into colonies, but whose antiquated industrial technique made their economic hold very tenuous.

On the other side were the younger imperialist nations like Germany and Japan, which rose late in capitalist development, benefited from that fact in order to equip found the world market already divided and colonies only would not rest content with this role. Since the unificaobtainable by force of arms from the older powers.

In the sphere of the former were also such "sated" secondary powers as Belgium and Holland. In the sphere of the latter, such "hungry" powers as Italy. Their alignment was predicated upon their early or late arrival on the scene of capitalist development.

Hovering over the lot was the threat of the newest capitalist giant, the United States of America. Although it too came late on the scene. America possessed a vast internal market, which enabled it for a long time to enrich itself without coming into direct clash with the other powers and at the same time to build the most modern productive plant in the world. In the First World War, which was only a prelude to the second, the United States had participated only as a preventive measure. It wanted to forestall the threat of Germany's swallowing up all of Europe.

Meanwhile, the productive apparatus of world capitalism as a whole had expanded to such an extent as to make even the existing market shrink by comparison. The struggle for markets thus brought every imperialist nation into conflict with every other imperialist nation. Resort to war was determined only by the degree of desperation for markets. "Export or die" was the battle-cry of Nazi Germany in its struggle for "living space."

Already in the First World War, while defeating Germany, both England and France became greatly weakened economically to the great benefit of America, which came out of the war with the greatest gains.

But a factor of the first importance which reduced the market for capitalism as a whole was the great proletarian revolution in Russia in October 1917. By abolishing private property and socializing all industry, the revolution led by the Bolshevik Party at one stroke withdrew one-sixth of the earth from capitalist exploitation.

Under the impact of this event, the first great colonial uprisings took place in the Far East, warning imperialism of the coming universal revolt against its rule. All capitalist powers, after vain attempts to crush the young socialist republic by armed intervention from 1917 to 1921, cast greedy eyes upon this lost market. Their fear of further loss by the spread of the revolution to Europe and their desire to recoup the original loss, attenuated for more than twenty years the struggle they were conducting among themselves. That is why all the victors of 1914-1918 aided in rebuilding capitalist Germany. They meant to use Germany as a battering ram against the USSR. At the same time, England hoped by doing her share toward this end to keep her French competitor weakened and to find alliances against the American colossus. France and America had similar aims.

Rise And Fall Of Nazi Germany

tion of Europe had not been accomplished by a victorious proletarian revolution throughout the continent, the German capitalists undertook this task by reactionary means. That was to be their springboard in the struggle for world domination. To carry out these ambitions, they chose the most murderous and barbaric form of government yet known - the Nazi state of Adolf Hitler. The task of the Nazi state was to subjugate the working class at home, crush the USSR and enter into struggle for hegemony of the world with the USA.

The initial phase of this task was directly aided by the 'democratic" powers. It was facilitated by the bankrupt, cowardly, and treacherous policies of the Social Democracy, the Stalinists, and the trade-union officialdom. Even when their own skins were at stake, the latter could not form a united front of the working class to struggle against Nazism. The later phases brought on the clash with the Western powers, on whose side first the Social Democrats and later the Stalinists then participated in the war.

In the Far East, the imperialists similarly looked upon Japan as a bastion against the USSR. There, too, Japan was not content with its role. Swallowing up half of China, with the toleration of the other powers, the Mikado's empire set out to challenge British and American domination over the markets in the Pacific, with the aim of creating a Japanese "Greater East Asia."

The economic resources of Italy, Germany and Japan proved insufficient for the vast totalitarian second imperialist war that ensued. One after another, they finally succumbed in the struggle. But England, France, and the other secondary powers were not any more equal to this struggle of world proportions. Both have come out of the war vastly reduced in stature, their economy weakened as never before, their empires threatened with disintegration. Their real aims in the war-to retain their markets, to continue and increase their colonial exploitation. to safeguard their age-old profit system—were not attained any more than were Germany's and Japan's.

The Capitalist Victors And Their Prospects

Only the United States came out of the war tremendously strengthened. Its rivals, Japan and Germany, lie in ruins. Its allies, France and England, have become indebted to it to the point of vassalage. But what price victory for the American imperialists?

The USSR, that great sector of the world market withdrawn from capitalist exploitation in 1917, still stands. It even threatens to engulf numerous other countries around its borders, thus further causing the capitalist market to shrink.

But German capitalism, once helped to its feet, with vastly impoverished and devastated by the war and the not a thousand years! - solely because Britain was the themselves with the most modern industrial plant, but the high degree of technical culture it had attained, purchasing power of its population reduced by half. At the

The Results Of World War II

Even as regards their real aims, the second imperialist war has resolved none of the basic problems of the world's rulers. On the contrary, they have become more acute than ever. As long as private ownership of the means of production, as long as production for profit, as long as the search for the elusive market amidst a constant decline of the masses' purchasing power continue - that is, as long as capitalism continues to exist - so long must misery and chaos and the inevitable and futile recourse to war persist.

The second imperialist war, with its 50 million dead and 50 million crippled victims, with its hundreds of millions uprooted from hearth and home, with its immense destruction of cities and devastation of fields, solved nothing. But it was inevitable. The coming third world war, whose only conclusion can be the atomic annihilation of the human race, is just as inevitable as long as capitalism exists.

Make no mistake about it. The third world war is on the way. The anti-Soviet, anti-Communist harangues of Churchill; the spy-scares around the atomic bomb; the orders reestablishing secrecy of troop movements and reactivating air forces in the American army - all these are drum-beats announcing it. In their greed for superprofits the capitalist rulers are entirely heedless of the fate of mankind. The two world wars since 1914 have demonstrated this with shattering effect. Only successful proletarian revolutions which will transform society into a planned socialist order can prevent the third world war and the barbaric self-annihilation of humanity.

Power Of Marxist Prognosis

When the Nazi panzers rolled over Europe to the English Channel and Hitler still maintained his pact with Stalin, certain impressionable people, rejecting Marxist theory, drew "innovating" conclusions. Europe, according to them, faced a whole epoch of the "New Order." Some even went so far as to see in the events, and in the fact of the Stalin-Hitler pact, the rise of a new class replacing the entrenched capitalists as well as the challenging proletariat for the hegemony of society. They spoke of the new "managerial society," which bracketed under one head: the National Socialist Party of Hitler, the Fascist Party of Mussolini, the New Deal of Roosevelt, and the Stalinist bureaucracy. These innovations found wide currency among the petty burgeoisie and even penetrated into the ranks of the workers' vanguard. The Fourth International, defending Marxism against the revisionist "innovators," wrote in its Manifesto ir 1940:

"In return for the enslavement of the peoples Hitler promises to establish a 'German Peace' in Europe for a period of centuries. An empty mirage! The 'British Peace' The remaining world under capitalist rule has been after the victory over Napoleon could endure a century-(Continued on Page 2) pioneer of a new technology and a progressive system of production. Notwithstanding the strength of her industry, present-day Germany, like her enemies, is the standard bearer of a doomed social system."

How quickly this evaluation has been verified! How quickly have the evaluations of the revisionists been refuted! The power of the Fourth International lies in its program, which is capable of withstanding the test of great events.

The fall of Nazi Germany as well as that of Fascist Italy merely proved that even the most brutal and open form of state dictatorship cannot solve the tangled contradictions of the capitalist class. Frenetic fascism, like decadent bourgeois democracy, are doomed because they are merely different forms of the same decayed social system long ago condemned by the development of the productive forces.

The Fourth International in 1940 also castigated the lie that the United States, victorious in the war, would monsor a democratic European federation of states, sharing the world market with it.

"The state is not an abstraction," the Manifesto said, "but the instrument of monopoly capitalism . . . Voluntary renunciation by the most powerful state of the advantage given by its strength is as ridiculous a Utopia as voluntary division of capital funds among the trusts."

As to the future of the USA itself, the Manifesto deelared: "However, the industrial, financial and military strength of the United States, the foremost capitalist power in the world, does not at all insure the blossoming of American economic life, but on the contrary invests the crisis of her social system with an especially malignant and convulsive character."

Compare these prognoses made six years ago with the mality of today. In every important respect the analysis of the Fourth International has stood the test of time!

Basic Antagonism In World Today: USSR Versus World Imperialism

At that time, conjunctural considerations based on the Stalin-Hitler pact aroused speculations about the "fundamental" alignment of the USSR with the fascist states, just as the rupture of the pact and the unleashing of the war between the partners later gave rise to allegations of a "fundamental" alignment of the USSR with the "demooratic" states. The theses of the Fourth International long ago gave an evaluation that remains valid:

'Episodic agreements between the bourgeoisie and the USSR do not alter the fact that 'taken on the historic scale the contradiction between world imperialism and the Soviet Union is infinitely more profound than the antagonisms which set the individual capitalist countries in opposition to each other'."

Only on the basis of this evaluation could the unleashing of Hitler's war against the USSR be explained after the Stalin-Hitler pact. Only on the basis of this evaluation can imperialism and its British junior partner against their Soviet ally of yesterday be explained today.

The whole period of world politics before us is characterized by this basic contradiction. As long as the USSR exists with its present social structure, despite the ever more monstrous degeneration it has undergone under the rule of the Stalinist bureaucracy, it remains an obstacle on the path of the imperialist greed for markets. The second world war did not solve this contradiction, but only sharpened it.

The laying waste of the whole industrial western rethe desire to ward off attacks from without and permit the bureaucracy to entrench itself within the USSR, by currying favor with the capitalist rulers and their petty bourgeois agents among the masses. In the process the Communist parties were transformed into mere tools of the Kremlin's foreign policy. The natural allies of the USSR, the masses in all capitalist countries, were led by the Stalinists from defeat to defeat.

Within the Soviet Union itself, the Kremlin oligarchy developed a violent wave of repression against the Left Opposition led by Leon Trotsky. For Trotsky pointed out USSR thus implies directly the defense of the European each step in the growing betrayal, from the proclamation and world revolution against Stalinism. of the theory of "socialism in one country" to the strangling of the Spanish revolution. Only the advanced Communist militants in all countries, rallying to the banner of Trotsky and the International Left Opposition, could at first the current violent war-mongering campaign of American grasp the counter-revolutionary import of this evolution of the clique which usurped power in the first workers' state. But the Moscow Trials and the blood-purge of the whole generation of Lenin's co-workers in 1937 began to open up the eyes of ever wider strata of workers to the counter-revolutionary role of Stalinism.

The Stalin-Hitler pact was accompanied by the partition of Poland and the whitewash propaganda picturing Nazi imperialism as "peace-loving." Fascism became, according to Molotov, "a matter of taste." Broad masses of workers everywhere were repelled by this vile self-debasement of the Kremlin. When Hitler repaid the Stalin clique for the service which inaugurated the war, by unleashing his whole war-machine against the Soviet Union, the Kremlin made an about-face. In a campaign of the wildest chauvinism, Stalin branded not only the "peaceloving" Nazi band of yesterday, but the whole German people, for the crimes of Hitler!

dependent movements of the masses for their emancipation, hatred and fear of which it shares with the capitalist rulers.

Only the revolutionary action of the masses can forestall the plans of predatory imperialism, defend the USSR by extending the social overturn of October 1917. But the revolutionary action of the masses is possible only in struggle for the overthrow of the counter-revolutionary Stalinist regime in the USSR itself and its replacement by Soviets elected freely by workers and peasants. The defense of the Present Revolutionary Situation

Are the conditions ripe for the revolutionary action of the masses? Will not Stalinism on the one hand, and the Social Democratic helpers of world imperialism on the other, prevent revolutionary developments once more from reaching a successful conclusion? Will the Fourth International, with the small forces at its disposal today, succeed in overcoming these obstacles and in giving leadership to the masses? These are questions that no doubt are bound to be raised by serious-minded workers.

The past defeats of the working class, under Social Democratic and Stalinist leadership, hang heavy indeed. These were grave blows. The great weight of Stalinism today undoubtedly remains a grave obstacle. But as against these, there must be weighed the fact that today the critical situation of world capitalism is by far graver in France, in Belgium — for the time being thrown back than ever before. That is the point of departure for revolutionists, for those who seek to point out the road to action to the masses.

"nationalization." But these measures do not touch the property rights of Big Business. They assure the owners of 'nationalized" plants full compensation, thus imposing new burdens on an already over-burdened economy. By means of government bonds issued to them in place of their former stocks, the capitalists are assured continued profits. The direction of "nationalized" industries, instead of being turned over to workers' committees, is in effect left in the hands of the old managers who serve the trusts. By means of these fictitious "nationalizations," the bourgeoisie thus aims to concentrate ever more the power over the whole economy in the grasp of monopoly capitalism.

While the Socialist and Stalinist ministers disarm the independent militias of the workers and peasants which sprang up in the course of the Nazi occupation, while they put down all manifestations of class revolt in the armed forces, the bourgeoisie concentrates the permanent apparatus of the state (army, police, secret service) in its own hands. Behind the scenes it prepares and conspires with royal dynasties and reactionary generals for the proper moment to seize full control of the state and set up new Bonapartist dictatorships.

Meanwhile, the whole policy of the bourgeoisie, based on the aggravated economic situation, is marked by indecision and vacillation. After more than a year of efforts to bolster his position by authoritarian ultimatums. de Gaulle steps aside and into the background in France. In Belgium the bourgeoisie alternately pushes forward and retreats in its campaign for the return of King Leopold. In Greece, the attempts to reinstall the monarchy under the protection of British bayonets foreshadows open civil war. And so forth, and so on.

Fate of Petty Bourgeoisie

At the same time, the petty bourgeoisie, upon whose support monopoly capitalism has in the past depended both for its internal aims (fascism) and for its foreign policy (war) has been torn loose from the control of Big Business. In the countries where fascism has been the state form no less than in the "democratic" countries, the process of proletarianization and pauperization of the urban middle class has not only not been halted, but accelerated by the wiping out of savings and the absolute decline in the standard of living brought about by inflation. On the other hand, the peasantry which, as in every war, seems to have profited from the black-market conditions, is in reality no better off than before. Its profits are mainly in devaluated currency. With its paper riches it cannot buy the necessary and increasingly more costly agricultural machinery, fertilizer, cattle, etc. Thus a new and more acute agrarian crisis looms ahead.

Furthermore, the war has blown up the old petty bourgeois illusions of national unity. The big bourgeoisie has revealed itself to be thoroughly "collaborationist." The discontent of the petty bourgeoisie and its efforts for a decisive change are revealed in the mass swing to the parties traditionally known to it as labor parties. The tremendous victory of the British Labor Party, the huge vote for the Socialists and Stalinists in France, in Belgium and in Italy, the mass support for the EAM in Greece, etc., etc., cannot be understood except in this light.

Meanwhile, the mounting wave of strikes, which involve one country after another in Europe and in the Far East, reaching their highest points in the American citadel of world capitalism itself and spreading into its semi-colonies in South America, attest by their persistence and high degree of militancy as by their advanced slogans ("for the sliding scale of wages," "open the books of the big corporations," etc.) to a growing consciousness of an intolerable situation in the ranks of the working class. The incipient formation, during the first period of the war's end, of workers' militias and factory committees in Italy, through the connivance of the Stalinists and reformists with the bourgeoisie - were clear indications of preparations for revolutionary action. If these elements in the preparation for revolutionary action have not yet matured actually in Europe, this is in no small measure due to the unprecedented physical collapse of Germany. The signal for the intensification of the revolutionary struggle all over the continent was expected in the form of the outbreak of the German revolution. The criminal campaign of chauvinism unleashed during the war by the Kremlin against the German people including the working class - and supported by the treacherous reformist and Stalinist parties in all the "democratic" countries - served to bewilder the German masses letariat; 4) a clear program and a firm leadership of the in the course of the catastrophic military developments and to paralyze their action with the increasing debacle of the Nazi regime. At the same time the "Big Three" connived to prevent the outbreak of revolution by concerted physical destruction never before known to history (on a much larger and vaster scale than the bombardments against insurrectionary Turin and Milan after the fall of fascism).

gions of the USSR has weakened the Soviet Union tremendously from an economic point of view. The reactionary, chauvinistic, and pillaging policy of the Stalinist bureaucracy has weakened the USSR politically by alienating wide strata of its natural allies, the masses of Eastern Europe. But the very fact that the USSR has survived the war, that the bureaucracy has not been able to destroy its social foundations from within, and has even been forced to give an impetus toward the social transformation in varying degrees of the economies of the countries occupied by the Red Army under its command, has increased the acuteness of the problem of imperialism. That is why the imperialists have posed the settling of accounts with the USSR as their most pressing task.

The Fourth International remains unreservedly for the defense of the USSR against imperialism. But this defense, now more than ever, can only be a revolutionary defense. Consequently, it can have nothing in common with the counter-revolutionary policies of the Kremlin.

Role Of Stalinist Bureaucracy

"The defense of the USSR coincides in principle with the preparation of the world proletarian revolution. We flatly reject the theory of socialism in one country, that brain child of ignorant and reactionary Stalinism. Only the world revolution can save the USSR for socialism. But the world revolution carries with it the inescapable blotting devastation of half of Soviet industry. They weakened the out of the Kremlin oligarchy."

From 1924 on, when this nefarious theory of "socialism in one country" was first proclaimed by Stalin, the policy of the Kremlin has served to prevent the establishment of socialism in any country. In practice, this theory was meant to justify the entrenchment of a privileged caste of to the inevitable strengthening of American imperialism nationalist bureaucrats. Basing itself on the isolation of the young Soviet State amidst the decline of the first revolutionary wave in capitalist Europe, and on the fatigue caused by years of civil war in Russa itself, the bureaucracy sought to assure itself a privileged position at the expense of the masses on whose backs it climbed to power. Rejecting the international policy of Lenin which, with the aid of the workers in all lands, saved the USSR in its first years against imperialist intervention, the Stalinist clique utilized the Communist International he founded to undermine a whole series of revolutionary opportunities.

Thus, in 1926, at the time of the British General Strike, it made opportunist deals with the Laborite trade-union council to prevent the revolutionary development of the great strike wave. In China, from 1925 to 1927, it bound the Communist Party hand and foot to the politics of the bourgeois Kuomintang, which eventuated in the dictatorship of Chiang Kai-shek, the hangman of the Chinese proletariat. From 1929 to 1933, it promulgated the concept of "social-fascism" to lump Social Democrats and Nazis under one head, preventing a united-front struggle of the workers' organizations and thus permitting Hitler to come to power. In 1936, when the wave of sit-down strikes raised the question of power in France, the "People's Front" which it had created with the reformists worked to tie the working where the Red Army rules. Meanwhile, American imperial- parties, who fear to go beyond the limits of the bourgeois class to the capitalists. When the civil war broke out in Spain that year, the "People's Front" did everything in its power to restrain the revolutionary action of the masses and to confine them within the stranglehold of bourgeois democracy, thus making possible the victory of Franco.

Kremlin's Policies

Today, with the military action concluded, the Red pillage industry and homes in Germany, in Austria, in all conquered Eastern Europe. The aim is allegedly to rebuild ruined Soviet industry. That is a foul lie. The pillage and plunder are intended solely to cover up the bankruptcy of the Stalin regime, against which the Soviet masses are growing increasingly restive.

The present foreign policy of the Kremlin, which serves only the bureaucracy and its privileges, is directed ostensibly to strengthen the USSR against imperialism, just as the whole prewar policy was directed toward "neutralizing" the capitalist states and preventing war. But the bloc with the British trade-union fakers, the capitulation to Chiang Kai-shek, the betrayal of the French and the Spanish revolutions, the allowing Hitler to come to power without a struggle, and finally the Stalin-Hitler pact-all these "clever" maneuvers-did not prevent Hitler's war and the Soviet Union tremendously and threw back its progress for years. In exactly the same way, the present counterrevolutionary policy of pillage and plunder in Eastern Europe and Asia, and of outright suppression of the movement of the masses in these countries, cannot but lead and the preparations it is making for the ultimate crushing of the USSR.

In 1940, Trotsky wrote:

trimming successes, has already obviously worsened. The broad circles of the world working class and the oppressed peoples . . . Meanwhile Germany has obtained of Poland and gained a common frontier with the USSR. that is, a gateway to the east."

A year later, this warning was completely borne out! Today the Fourth International warns: in spite of the advances in territory, in spite of the wholesale looting, the Europe to China, the whole stretch of the globe.

The Kremlin oligarchy thus only facilitates the aims

Long ago the Fourth International enumerated the conditions for the workers' revolution:

"The basic conditions for the victory of the proletarian revolution have been established by historical ex-Army under Stalinist orders is directed to plunder and perience and clarified theoretically: 1) The bourgeois impasse and the resulting confusion of the ruling class; 2) the sharp dissatisfaction and the striving towards decisive changes in the ranks of the petty-bourgeoisie without whose support the big burgeoisie cannot maintain itself; 3) the consciousness of the intolerable situation and readiness for revolutionary actions in the ranks of the proproletarian vanguard-these are the four conditions for the victory of the proletarian revolution."

> Never has the impasse of capitalism been more tangled or the confusion of the ruling class more widespread. In one country after another, inflation is rampant. The burden of the state debt reaches astronomical figures. The decline in the standard of living and the impoverishment of the masses of the population as a whole reaches unprecedented proportions. In spite of a degree of government regulation and control never before attained, the economic crisis continues to rise in a dizzy spiral and, being already acute in Europe and in the colonies, threatens to overtake the most stable economy in the world, that of the USA.

After the First World War the bourgeoisie, in order to re-establish the class equilibrium in society threatened by the revolutionary wave that commenced in Russia, resolved to make considerable economic concessions to the masses. It thus lent a certain degree of stability to the political regime of social reformism, which was called upon to save it from destruction. After this war such a strategy "As a consequence of the first period of the war, the is a luxury which the capitalist class can no longer afford. international position of the USSR, despite the window- Particularly in Europe, where unproductive expenditure for war needs and the vast destruction of capital values foreign policy of the Kremlin has repelled from the USSR have enormously reduced the specific weight of the economy in the world market, the bourgeoisie can hope to rebuild ever so slightly its profit-making capital only by the most important and the most industrialized section a further onslaught on the wages and living standards of the masses. But this holds true in a broader sense of Engand and the USA as well.

Perspectives in Germany

Before the German working class, potentially the most powerful in Europe and the one with the longest revolutionary traditions, can take the road to revolution which it undoubtedly will, the physical prerequisites (reestablishment of a minimum of food, shelter, communications, and the return of its millions of young men from the prison camps) will have to be fulfilled. But the failure of the revolution to break out immediately in Germany has only slowed down the tempo of development. It has not in the slightest altered the trend.

In spite of this fact, in spite of the disarming of the workers' militias, in spite of the crushing of the armed struggle of the masses in Greece, we have not witnessed a turn toward reaction. None of these defeats has been decisive. On the contrary, all attempts of reaction to intrench itself (through the monarchy in Greece, Italy, Belgium, through the establishment of an authoritarian executive in France) have thus far met with the greatest resistance on the part of the masses, and failed of their purpose.

On the other hand, the workers do not confine themselves to combatting all these reactionary attempts. They go over to the offensive. The strikes against the freezing of wages, directed against the bourgeois regimes in which their "own" parties participate, objectively pose the question of state power.

While the revolutionary developments show a slackening of tempo in Europe, they take on a more accelerated pace elsewhere. The waves of strikes and soldiers' demonstrations in the USA testify to a speedy development of the revolutionary consciousness of the American masses. in the past much more backward than those in Europe in this respect. But of even greater importance is the present ripening of the revolutionary struggle in the colonies. Starting out with tenacious insurrections against British, French, and Dutch imperialism in Indonesia and Indo-China, and with an incipient revolt even against hypocritical "liberating" American imperialism in the Philippines, the wave of (Continued on Page 7)

Millions March In Big May Day Demonstrations

By Ruth Johnson

On the first "peacetime" May Day after six years of war-horrors, millions of workers throughout the world demonstrated their determination to fight for a decent life. Stricken by famine and disease, they nevertheless marched heroically through their ruined cities, or met in rallies to voice bitter protest® ditions of life under capitalist rule.

In Japan, under the menacing watch of Wall Street's occupation army, two million workers jammed the streets. Half a million marched in Tokyo alone, where only the day before, the army had launched a PROTEST JIM CROW "scare campaign" to minimize the demonstration. The Japanese workers did not falter. They sang out their song of in- discrimination which has made ternational solidarity: "Hear the sound of marching feet. ACCUSE CAPITALISTS

The Japanese workers carried banners demanding "A Minimum Wage Regulated by Living Costs, "People's Foodstuff Control!" "No Discharges!" They defied their exploiters by placards accusing: "Production sabotage and inflation are caused by the capitalists who drink our blood!"

> strikebreaking pressure campaign when he issued a statement which claimed that the mine strike constitutes a "national disaster." The statement embodied a report of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion. This scare-head report was clearly designed to throw responsibility for the strike and its economic consequences on the miners. Truman has remained silent, however, about the criminal disregard of safety rules and measures by the coal operators.

He has tacitly upheld their arrogant refusal to consider the just demands of the miners. Among other vital demands, the miners are asking the operators to include in the new contract a specific agreement to put into effect promptly all safety recommendations of the U.S. Bureau of Mines and the various state mine inspection agencies. FEAR "INSURRECTION"

On the same day as Truman's statement, a group of Senators representing the wealthy mining interests launched a savage attack on the mine union and its workers who participated in this leaders. Headed by Senator Lucas, the senatorial reactionaries frothed at the mouth about the strike being a movement that could "easily become an insurrection against the government." Every hypocritical argument is being used to smear the militant miners. The leading spokesmen for the Southern soft-coal operators, former Senator Edward R. THE MILITANT

To cite the most recent instance. Only The Militant carried the full story of the McCoy, Va., mine disaster, which the Big Business press tried to play down because that tragedy focused a glaring spot-light on the terrible conditions in the mines and underscored the current demands of the coal miners for safety conditions and a union health and welfare fund.

Our readers appreciate the fact that The Militant is sustained entirely by the contributions of workers. We neither solicit nor accept any advertising or other forms of financial aid from interests outside the labor movement.

We extend our heart-felt thanks to all those who have thus far contributed to our $15,000 Fund. At the same time, we remind our readers that the quota is still far from fulfillment. Therefore, we urge you to send in your contribution as soon as possible. The Militant needs your aid-and you need The Militant.

While Millions Starve

A Philadelphia shipyard worker has sent The Militant an eye-witness account of the burning and destruction of a boat-load of food and other precious consumer goods by order of the federal government. His story appears on page six of this issue.

This story corresponds to reports that have seeped in about the deliberate destruction of huge quantities of supplies at American military establishments all over the world.

This policy is being pursued at the very time when half the world's people are facing the greatest catastrophe in human history-a famine which is expected to wipe out a hundred million lives in Europe and Asia. It is being pursued while the American masses themselves suffer drastic shortages and are being gouged by the profiteers and black marketeers.

This criminal policy is being furthered by the very Truman administration which is now demanding that the American people "tighten their belts" and share their rations with the starving all over the earth.

Here we have the essence of capitalist barbarism and anarchy. The capitalist profiteers thrive on scarcity. They don't want huge supplies of commodities thrown on the market, with the "danger" that these might "adverse-

During Roosevelt's "New Deal" era, we recall, the capitalist government "plowed under" pigs and wheat and cotton while millions in this country were going hungry and illclad. The American ruling class deliberately destroyed vital necessities in order to "bolster the price structure."

Today, behind the screen of "humanitarianism," the capitalist rulers of America are "plowing under" vast stocks of governmentowned supplies while hundreds of millions starve, in order to "bolster the price structure" and protect profit interests.

The American labor movement must take the lead in demanding the immediate discontinuation of this planned destruction of life-giving necessities which the American people prosurpluses to committees of the unions, farmer and consumer organizations for immediate distribution to the starving millions abroad.

PROBLEMS FACING WAR VETERANS

By CHARLES CARSTEN-

The Atlantic City Outrage "The shortage of veteran hospital beds has assumed the proportions of a national crisis." declared Milton Alexander, writer on veterans' affairs, in the April 25 Veterans News Service.

"North and South, East and West-overtaxed veteran facilities are breaking their seams to meet the onrushing tide," he continued. The Veterans Administration estimates that by 1950 the need for general medical and surgical beds will be increased by 80.216.

Even now all VA hospital facilities are filled to capacity and thousands of veterans are awaiting admission. At the Bronx hospital in New York, to cite but a single instance, 2,000 veterans are on the waiting list.

"The present outrageous shortage of beds," Alexander goes on, "can be ascribed to an assortment of causes. Some of them are historical, . . . Others are most recent and threaten to perpetuate the tragedy." While World War II raged, taking its toll in dead and wounded, the Veterans Administration did nothing to make provisions for the hundreds of thousands of men it knew would need treatment.

"Pork Barrel Politics"

Even now, with a major crisis in hospitalization is the offing, squabbling over hospital sites, red-tape and "pork-barrel" politics are delaying and impeding hospital construction.

The Veterans Administration, with its top-heavy bureaucracy of Brass and ex-Brass, has done practically nothing even now, eight months since the end of the war, to facilitate hospital construction.

The government's failure to act in the interest of the disabled veterans is in sharp contrast to its actions in mobilizing the country's resources for war. Before and during the conflict, the war chiefs took over hotels throughout the country to house the expanding Army and Navy.

Some of these hotels were converted into hospitals. One of them, the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall Hotel in Atlantic City, known as the England General Hospital, has been maintained as a center for the treatment of amputees.

Despite the shortage of veterans' hospitals, the Army has made known its intention of closing this hospital on June 30. This move is in response to demands from wealthy hotel owners, both the owners of the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall and others, who object to having disabled veterans on the Boardwalk in Atlantic City.

Government Indifferent

Amputee patients of the hospital gathered on Atlantic City's Boardwalk around Easter to ask promenaders to sign a protest petition. They have inaugurated a campaign to have the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall properties retained as an Army hospital throughout the summer.

In one day, Friday before Easter, the amputees obtained 10,000 signatures and on Easter 20,000 more. The amputee patients planned to forward the petitions to President Truman in a direct appeal for his intervention to prevent the Army from shutting down the Boardwalk hospital.

The fact that war-disabled men are forced to take such action points up the callous indifference of the government toward disabled war veterans.

Not only should the hotel in Atlantic City be retained for the treatment and care of the warwounded, but other hotels should be made available. Veterans' organizations and the union movement must raise a mighty shout of protest against the Army's shameful action. They must demand that sufficient suitable hotels and other appropriate duced and paid for during the war. Labor should call for the turning over of all such ized against their war rulers in the very midst of the war. We held out the hand of international fraternity to the Japanese workers in the struggle against all the capitalist imperialists.

How deeply the feeling of international solidarity imbues the Japanese masses, despite their long years of terrible repression and the present domination by the American imperialist armed forces, was demonstrated on May Day by the very songs of the hungry marchers. One of these was the "Red Flag," sung to the tune of "Maryland, My Maryland"-a song traditional in the American socialist movement.

Demands raised by the May Day marchers in Japan disclosed the fundamental identity of interests between the exploited Japanese workers and the workers of America. These demands included: "A Minimum Wage Regulated By Living Costs" and "Peoples' Foodstuffs Committees." How closely these demands correspond to key slogans of The Militant and Socialist Workers Party!

The most advanced militants of the American labor movement are today raising similar demands in struggle against the Big Business profiteers, the common enemy of both the American and Japanese workers.

That is why American labor is duty-bound to help the Japanese workers in their struggle for emancipation. The greatest service we can render them is to insist that the Wall Street government-guardian of the Emperor and the Japanese capitalists -- withdraw at once all its armed forces from Japanese soil.

Aid 'The Militant'!

We take justifiable pride in reporting in this issue the results to date of our $15,000 Militant Sustaining Fund Campaign.

At the mid-point of the campaign, The Militant has received well over the amount set as the quota for the first half of our drive.

This generous response of our readers to our financial appeal speaks volumes for the genuine regard which thousands of the most classconscious and advanced American workers hold for The Militant.

The Militant has earned this support by its uncompromising adherence to the truth, its fighting exposures of the crimes of Big Business, its unyielding struggle on behalf of the workers and its undeviating devotion to the principles of international socialism.

The Militant, as scores of thousands of workers on the picket lines have learned in the past year, is the foremost defender of labor's interests. Time and again our paper has spoken out and revealed facts which the kept capitalist press has sought to bury and suppress.

A Perfidious Slogan

On June 6 the Stalinists in New York will rally in Madison Square Garden to celebrate the first anniversary of "D-Day." An advertisement in the April 29 Daily Worker announced that this celebration will be held under the auspices of the Council of African Affairs of which Paul Robeson, well-known spokesman for the Stalinists, is chairman.

The advertisement listed the central slogan of this Stalinist-dominated celebration as "Big Three Unity for Colonial Freedom."

It would be difficult to select a slogan from the arsenal of imperialist war propaganda that expresses a greater lie than this one. Not a single colony has been granted freedom as a result of the war and "Big Three Unity." On the contrary, the Big Three are doing their utmost to maintain the despotic and oppressive regimes still shackling the colonial peoples.

In Java, for instance, the western imperialist powers have ruthlessly employed mass murder to put down the aspirations of the Javanese people for freedom.

The same brutal means have likewise been employed by the imperialist powers in Indo-China and in the Arab world in response to the growing movement for colonial freedom.

The irrepressible struggle of India's teeming millions for liberty from Britain's despotic grip has been met with machine guns. And throughout Latin America and the Philippines, Wall Street has tightened the economic, political and military noose strangling these lands.

This picture is not different in the areas dominated by the Stalinist bureaucracy. In Eastern Europe the heel of Stalinist totalitarian rule presses down on the aspirations of the masses there to determine their own fate.

"Big Three Unity" in the colonial world means unity against the aspirations for freedom of the colonial and colored peoples. It means continued famine and mass murder.

The only hope for the colonial peoples Hes in joining the struggle of the working class to break the stranglehold of the Big Three and set out on the road to socialism. Colonial freedom can be won only through the most heroic struggle against the imperialist ruling class and the perfidious Stalinist bureaucracy.

Thus the slogan of the Stalinist celebration over the first anniversary of "D-Day" is not designed to help win the freedom of the colonial world. Quite the reverse. It is part and parcel of a treacherous policy calculated to bolster the regimes of the imperialist colonial rulers on the one hand and the reactionary power politics of the Kremlin despots on the attier.

Congress is a happy hunting ground for assorted wolves in sheep's clothing. Here labor's enemies not infrequently masquerade as its "friends" and warmongers romp in the habiliments of "peace-lovers." About one-third of this country's families are unable to find homes or to move, according to a survey reported by Fortune magazine in April. Nearly half of those who want to buy a home can afford only $6,000 or less. Three-quarters of the prospective renters can afford less than $50 a month rent. The vast extent of this housing crisis is revealed by the fact that 60.2 per cent of the nation's families are forced to double up or share their already crowded living space. Returned servicemen and their families are hardest hit.

New York City furnishes a typical example of the official runaround on housing given the homeless veterans and non-veterans. According to a series of articles last week in PM, these distressed families "can look forward to at least another five years of house-hunting, doubling-up and living in uncomfortable and unsuitable quarters."

In the past 10 years the number of dwellings in New York City has increased by only 188,935, while the number of families has increased by 431,000. The result is a net shortage of 342,065 housing units. The deterioration of dwellings now occupied by poor families is augmented by still further deterioration every year.

In 1910 New York had 636,138 old-law tenements (built before 1901 when modern health and safety regulations were made law.) Last year there were still 457,000 of these vermin-infested fire traps still standing and occupied. *

Shockingly Inadequate

The do-nothing official housing plans guarantee that the millions of New York City's slum-dweller can look forward to "another ten or twenty years" of living in these slums, reports P.M. "The Mayor's Emergency Committee on Housing . . . recommended not one single plan or suggestion which was not already on the books." And the program now "of the books" is shockingly inadequate.

The program of the New York City Housing Authority for 23,000 low-rent, subsidized housing projects was held up when "postwar construction costs were found to be 70 per cent higher than was eas culated when plans were made. Now instead of lowcost houses, the homeless are getting bureaucrats red tape and buck-passing.

A trickle of privately built houses may be built but only under the regulations of the Civilian Pro duction Administration, which places a minimum rent of $82 for three rooms on this type of construm tion. Half of New York's population of homeless and ill-housed can afford no more than $25 a month reni Another third can pay no more than $40.

Combat Veteran Contributes $500 To The 'Militant' Fund

Dear Editor:

I am sending you $500 for the Militant fund. To tell you why would really require an autobiography. I have just returned from three years overseas. In this period, I "visit-England, Africa, Italy, France, Germany and Austria.

Leaving aside the horrors of the war itself, the shellings, bombings, and killings that make one insensate with fear, and psychopathic in mind, I saw the great "benefits" of capitalism.

I saw the emaciated common people of England, almost all of them are afflicted with decayed teeth because their food was never sufficient. And I saw the wealthy who live in luxury, and buy whatever they can choose.

In Africa I witnessed the great "benefits" of "democracy," where the Arabs have the privilege of living in huts made of cow dung and straw. They are also fortunate in their wearing apparel — a sack cloth.

Then I saw Italy. "Sunny Italy"-where mothers are out looking for soldier customers for their daughters. The squalor and misery cannot be described. Again, landlords and respectable business people were well provided with vino, and such.

Then France — "la belle France" — where prostitution and black markets flourish-amidst terrible scarcity of food-which the wealthy can easily procure.

And in Germany, MPs would tell me how Nazis were released by the Military Government to continue their rich lives and their economic domination over the common people. Again there, too, terrible destruction and poverty.

Only touching Austria, I cannot speak too much of this everrun country, but I don't think it requires great imagination to say that it would be little different.

And in the wake of the Allied advance came ruination of crops and factories on the one hand, and great demands by the "liberating" soldiers on the other. This resulted in tremendous inflation and black market activities. Freedom from want? For the rich, yes. Not for the working peoplenot for the poor!!

And now why did I send a contribution? Anybody who saw all this, and can understand it, would be a spineless coward if he didn't do everything he could to change the economic system capable of wreaking such havoc.

Legalized Lynching in Lumberton

Although unbelievable injustices and atrocities against Southern Negroes are an every day occurrence, only once in a while do the "white supremacists" come up with such a glaring frame-up that it gains widespread attention. Southern "justice" for the black man was typified in the mass arrests of Negroes in Columbia, Tennessee, after the state police terror in that city. Another such case has now broken through the wall of silence erected by the Big Business press. It concerns four men sentenced to die in North Carolina's gas chamber on July 26 for the "rape" of a white prostitute in the town of Lumberton. From facts brought out at the trial, it appears that on March 17, Dorothy Frye, 29, had been out drinking with Frank Straughn, white, whose driver's license had been revoked for drunken driving. When they ran out of whiskey, they went out on Lovett Road to the house of Granger Thompson, 21, a Negro Mrs. Frye had known closely and from whom she had bought drinks for over a year. The car stalled and Straughn went into town for help. Mrs. Frye, having no money, tried to buy drinks "on the cuff" and was turned down by Thompson. According to Thompson's testimony, she then agreed to sexual intercourse' with him for $2.50 to get money for whiskey. They went to an unfinished house across the road and the bargain was transacted. Mrs. Frye then asked if any of the boys in the neighborhood had any money. Soon she had also done business with Stacy Powell, 23; Calvin Covington, 18; and Cliff Inman, 36. Covington, however, left without paying, and Powell came up $2 be taken when the CIO embarks short. The four Negroes agreed the threat: "I'll get even with which ended April 20 reveal even the "defending" attorneys, J. S. Bowman and L. P. Harris, had a good hand in ladling out this. specimen of Dixie justice. They waived by default the systematic and illegal exclusion of Negroes from the jury. Furthermore, they did not even call as defense witnesses Dr. E. L. Bowman and Dr. S. M. Wrenn, who had examined the woman immediately after the alleged attack and declared she showed none of the signs one would expect after the type of brutally-enforced relationship that she insisted had occurred.

RADE MM

But what is the word of four Negroes and the weight of all other evidence compared to the accusation of one white woman in Dixie? The jury answered that with rapid conviction.

And what is the value of life for four young colored men as compared with the "honor" of one WHITE prostitute in the land of magnolias and moonshine? Judge Clawson L. Williams answered, when he pronounced the sentence: "Death by asphyxiation.'

The lives of these four men must be saved. For them to die for such a "crime" would be an atrocity. They must be freed. It is partly through such vicious practices of "white supremacy" that the wealthy landowning class in the deep South is still able to keep poor whites and poor Negroes hating each other and divided, and thus unable to fight against poverty and squalor.

Diary Of A Steelworker By T. Kovalesky

In every man is the longing of the earth in the springtime. When the dark winds of winter lose their knife points and become soft, when the ore-stained, smokedarkened snows broaden into pools of dirty water and taper into brown litstreams trickling tle down the gutters, gurgling into the drains, when the miserable trees of the steel towns spring lightly into bud, like a poor woman decking her toil-worn body with a little hard-earned brightness; then a man feels the longing of the earth in his blood.

In the springtime, they say, bears come out of their caves, and water creatures rise from the cold-stiffened mud of the river bottoms. Birds return to the trees and mountains of the north. And man is no different from other living creatures.

But there is the beginning and the end. The fields and forests lie green beneath the sun. The massive rocks rise from the rivers, the breezes beckon, and the longing of the earth is in the blood, but the worker is chained to the factory and bound to the shacks of the steel towns, the tenements of the cities.

Jimmy and I sat side by side on a log, the warm rays of the sun boring into our backs. Jimmy said, "Seems like every time we go fishing it's harder to go back to work next day.' "Don't worry," I answered, "we don't go often enough to make us good and lazy." 'Yeah. Then there's that man pushing you might back into that big gate!" I smiled. I didn't have to ask Jimmy who "that man" was. That was an old joke. "That man" was hunger. He was rent and worn-out clothing. He was hungry little mouths at home that had to have food. So "that man" pushed you right inside the factory gate to sweat for the money he demanded.

Jimmy took a big breath of the clear air that blew from the lake up the little stream where we sat with our fishing poles.

"We're gonna go fishing more often this year," he promised.

"Sure," I said.

Each year Jimmy said that, and I agreed with him. But each year it was seldom that we man-

"You know," Jimmy mused as he let out the utch, "a lot of fellows don't ever get out like "Peace" Parley clutch, "a lot of fellows don't ever get out like this, just stay on the job or in town all the time." "We wouldn't get out either if you didn't have is limousine." I said, shifting my weight away this limousine," I said, shifting my weight away from the broken spring in the seat.

"And it's falling apart. It won't be long before it goes to the junk yard."

We drove silently through the early evening back toward town, toward the Jim Crow section where Jimmy lived and the other part where Mary and I have our place. It had been so brief, our little fishing trip, one day yanked out of the sweat of the steel plant and the grime of the steel town.

It was spring, and the longing of the earth was in our blood, and for one little day we had felt the sun and the wind and smelled the green things growing . . . one day, a few hours, and then once again the job, heavy and sickeningly hot, and the worries of trying to make ends meet. .

But, for most, the longing and the surge of springtime in the blood is a beginning and an ending all at once. Spring isn't spring to the GROWING CONFLICT millions of piled-up human beings in the tenements and shacks of captalist America. Springtime is stillborn.

The longing of the earth quickens the pulses of the gray millions, then it is dead, even before liet Union, covering one-sixth of it is born, crushed down into the rut of time- the earth's surface, is closed to clock and lunch-hour existence. Spring is spring | capitalist exploitation and its only to those who can afford it.

The beasts of the field and the birds of the sky, even the frogs and snakes, stir with renewed the system prevailing in the caplife, as the green things rise up out of the ground.

But for the workers there is no spring, no summer, no day, no night. There is only the time-clock, the first, second, or third shift, the landlord, and the grocer. There are the worn streets with dirt and broken glass in the gutters, the pools of ore-brown water, the poor relaxation of the bar and the sick fatigue of the job.

At present Washington is able to keep the other capitalist countries of the world in line by the weight of its economic and military might, plus the fact that all the capitalist countries share its hostility toward the Soviet Union.

The growing conflict between the Soviet Union and the capitalist world is the most immediate and pressing issue. The Sovsystem of nationalized economy is in diametrical opposition to italist world-this is the underlying source of mortal antagonism between the USSR and the Anglo-American imperialists.

At the same time the extension of the Kremlin's domination in Eastern Europe and Asia prevents stabilization of capitalist relations and power. It impedes Anglo-American imperialism in its efforts to secure a foothold in these areas.

Can Exchange Value Be Measured? By V. Grey

Exchange value, unlike usefulness, can be measured quite exactly. The fact that things are always exchanged recommended "a test for gas committee because the deeper in definite proportions is a proof of this. Prices prove this in a special way. Commodities are exchanged for fifty cents in money-fifty-one cents-fifty-five, etc. If one commodity sells for fifty cents, and another for a dollar, we say that the second is twice the value of the first and will exchange for two of the first.

But some people think that all the grocers and storekeepers get together and cook up their price-lists every so often and foist them on an unwary public. No doubt, the storekeeper tries his best to get a high price out of us. But half-hour before the explosion ing Laws-and this goes for eve- what is a "high" price?-higher than what?--"Why higher than the real value," you will say.

> There we are again-back to value itself. How can we asure this real value? If we tried to

The Militant has appeared on the waterfront of the principal American ports for a long time. From the very beginning of the resurgent seamen's movement in 1934 the paper has made the great cause of the seamen's struggle its own. Its columns were always open to news and articles that in any way could help clarify the critical problems facing union seamen in their struggles against John Shipowner and his stooges, both big and small.

But The Militant goes further. The Militant links the battle of the seamen against John Shipowner with the battle of the working stiffs everywhere against the bosses. In the pages of this paper the seamen receives class education. In it he will find the arguments and the facts to counter the vicious employer propaganda that seeks him out everywhere-even at sea thousands of miles from port.

But a little diamond only an ounce or so in weight Bill Johnson, who barely es- any reform of the State Laws. would exchange very readily for the car.

But what is the measuring meter on this scale of value? It isn't pounds or ounces. It isn't yards or inches. Is it dollars and cents?—But a dollar is only a certain amount of gold-today 35 to the ounce. If a diamond and a car are both worth 560 dollars, then they both have the value of a pound of gold.

"Well, gold has value because it is rare," people will say. "It's hard to get." But how rare is it and how hard. to get is it? What determines that? Automobiles aren't so miners' union local, had made a ous strike are safety, health and rare. How come they exchange with diamonds, gold, boats, number of suggestions for mak- welfare. The union is correctly tractors and so on? There must be something in them all that is common to each.

What Gives Commodities Their Value?

Perhaps it would be easier to discover this common thing which determines value if we looked at the simple exchange of commodity for commodity before gold and money were in universal use. Take a couple of farmers of an earlier century who were craftsmen on the side. One made plowshares and the other made axes. When the first one wanted an ax, he would offer the second a plowshare and expect, say, two axes in return. Suppose the second would give him only one ax?

Right then and there number one would balk. And why? Because only a few years before he had been making axes himself, and he knew that two could be made in the same time he made one plowshare. He would go back to making his own axes again. Or if a third farmer made axes he would take his business there.

Even if number one had never made axes before, he could soon find out that it took less labor to make axes than plowshares, and he wouldn't dream of exchanging the product of two days' labor for the product of one day's labor. If he should do this, then the more days he labored and exchanged the poorer he would get.

Without seeing gold, dollars, dimes or cents from one year's end to the next, he would know quite well when he was getting gypped. He would have an excellent scale on which to weigh the value of the article he traded. He would measure the value by the amount of labor-time it took to make it—and the other trader would do the same.

It takes a great deal of labor, on the average throughout the world, to find, mine and refine gold. It takes as much labor for an ounce of gold as for a half ton of cast iron. And whether you call the ounce of gold 20 doltinuing their fight they will win lars or 35 dollars, that's what the half ton of iron will exchange for-one ounce of gold. It's the amount of labor in a thing that determines its value.

> The rarity of a thing is only incidental. Commodities are not rare moths or butterflies that you catch only once in thirty years or so. They are made in mass production. Automobiles are much more plentiful on the streets than rare butterflies. But they are also more expensive. The number of autos could even be doubled under certain conditions, and the value of each car would still be the same.

It isn't how pretty or ugly, how big or how little, how rare or how plentiful a thing is that determines its value. It's how much labor under average conditions is necessary to produce it. A commodity, as Marx said, is nothing but ervstallized labor so far as its value is concerned.

where great political strikes and mutinies foreshadow the putbreak of nation-wide insurrections with the object of overthrowing all imperialist rule. The effect in China, and later in Japan, is certain to make itself felt. In the Near East as well, the persistent mass demonstrations and strikes of the Egyptian masses are the prelude to the revolutionary uprising of the masses in all the Arab lands.

The world situation thus shows all the earmarks of fulfilling the first three conditions for a victory of the proletarian revolution, which were posed in the Manifesto of 1940. What about the fourth-is there a "clear program and a firm leadership of the proletarian vanguard?"

Posed differently, the question is: In a situation which is undoubtedly more favorable for revolution than ever before, both because of its profound crisis character as well as its universal extent, does the party exist which is necessary to lead the revolution successfully? Shall we, in other words, succeed in transforming the present revolutionary minority into mass parties of the working class? Or will the old parties, the reformists and Stalinists, once again be able to betray the revolution?

To answer this question, we must put it in its proper setting. The present situation is not one of a conjunctural crisis. It is not a question of a single uprising in a given country. It is a question of a whole revolutionary period taking place on a world-wide scale. The capitalist world has no other way out except its prolonged death agony. In such a period the programs of the old parties - the Socialists and the Stalinists-cannot have the slightest validity among the masses. That is why they are bound to clash with them. On the other hand, our program is built precisely for this epoch. In the turbulent developments occurring before us, our program has already found and will continue to find growing response.

Only a few short years ago, skeptics and dilettantes ridiculed the Transitional Program of the Fourth International. Today its main slogans - "For a Sliding Scale of Wages and Hours," "For Nationalization Without Compensation," "Open the Books of the Big Corporations to Inspection by Workers Committees," "For Workers' Militias," "For p. Workers' and Peasants' Government"-are beginning to echo from the lips of millions in all parts of the world. The program is clear. The growing response it receives shows the great possibilities that open up for the building of mass parties of the Fourth International.

The building of mass parties, however, even in the most favorable situations, is a process that entails great difficulties. A whole complex of organizational problems Mexico. It was a monstrous blow. Our enemies thought requires mastery. Confidence must be established in the relationship between the leadership and the party, between the party and the masses. Not everywhere is the process even. Undoubtedly there will be situations still where the failure of a mass party, of a revolutionary leadership to develop in time, will cause a partial defeat. But it is precisely because a whole epoch is involved that such defeats are partial, that the task of rapidly building mass parties is constantly posed before us anew, that the oppor- national were submitted to the murderous terror of Hit- of production. Soldiers, filled with hatred for their imper- socialist revolution and the establishment of free workers' tunities increase. That is the perspective on which the ler's Gestapo. young parties of the Fourth International base themselves.

A firm revolutionary leadership is developed, in the first place, in defense of the program. If the program of fell victims to Nazi and Fascist bestiality. the Fourth International is today beginning to penetrate millions, if it is beginning to be verified in the test of action, that is due first and foremost to the ability of the young cadre parties of the International to withstand all assaults on its foundations and to survive against all the obstacles placed in their path.

Fourth International Has Survived

LEON

The war has been a terrible trial for the Fourth International. Aligned against it were all the powers of present-day society, from imperialism and its war machines to the Stalinist bureaucracy and its GPU.

In the very first year of the war, in August 1940, the Fourth International was bereft of its founder and organizer, of the great revolutionary genius of our time. Leon Trotsky was foully assassinated by an agent of the GPU in that it was fatal for the young International. But Trotsky had built better than they knew. Trotsky was dead, but the International he built took the dastardly blow as a challenge. The Fourth International honored the memory ever before.

In France, in Belgium, in Holland, in Greece, on the Right in the midst of the Nazi domination of Europe, French and German Trotskyists together organized fraternization between soldiers and workers. They published and spread within Hitler's Wehrmacht the remarkable newsof proletarian internationalism even as the storm of chauvinism was still raging. Their memory will be cherished by all workers when the Fourth International triumphs.

Conference was marked by clashes between the representatives of American and British imperialism on the one hand, and of the Stalinist bureaucracy on the other. Hypocritical concern International calls upon the workers to combat the deover the fate of small nations served to cover up the clash. pression plans of the capitalists through the slogans: The "Laborite" Bevin bemoans the fate of Iran, Rumania, and Bulgaria at the hands of the Kremlin while continuing in full the arch-imperialist Churchill's policy in the Reduction in Pay! British Empire and in Greece. The representative of the Stalinist bureaucracy, Vyshinsky, bemoans the fate of Greece and Indonesia at the hands of Britain while the Kremlin violates the conscience of the workers of the world by its shameful actions in Eastern Europe and in Asia. Two bureaucrats, raised on the backs of the workers to power, play the game as "world rulers" according to the prescriptions laid down by rotten imperialist diplomacy. The UNO even elects the "Socialist" Spaak of Belgium as its chairman and the "Laborite" Lie of Norway as its general secretary.

But none of this "leftist" camouflage can hide the fact that the UNO is merely a new edition of that imperialist League of Nations which Lenin dubbed the "thieves' kitchen." Not a single act in this assembly aroused the slightest enthusiasm among the masses of the world. Its debates were watched with fear and apprehension, or at best apathy, by the world's peoples. No one expressed any hope that it would solve any of the problems facing humanity. It was simply accepted as a new arena of combat among the warring powers, completely belying its name. The "Peace" Conference in Paris is not regarded with any greater optimism.

But even while the diplomats are heckling each other in London or in Paris, the revolutionary storm is brewing and calls on the workers to demand: in India, in Egypt. Developing events there follow the pattern set forth by the program not of the aborted UNO or of any of its participants-but by the program of the Fourth International. That is why we can say with assurance that the deliberations of our Conference are of infinitely greater importance than those of the bourgeois "in- plunging humanity deeper into the death-agony of capilabor-camouflage lent to it by the treacherous reformists and Stalinists.

This Conference of the Fourth International calls upon all workers, all the exploited and oppressed, not to zations: despair at the handiwork of their masters, but to take up the struggle against them. Not merely to disdain their misleaders, but to impose upon them their own will. The present masters of the world dangle the threat of the horrendous atomic bomb to cow mankind. But they forget

In Great Britain, in France, in the other Western European countries, the leftward swing of the masses has put the monopoly capitalists and their trusts on the defensive. To the rising demand for the socialization of industry, the Labor government and the coalitions of social reformists and Stalinists with the bourgeois parties are replying with "nationalizations" which leave the profits of the capitalists untouched. Thus the monopolists are in a position to utilize the cover of such "nationalizations" to increase their strangle hold over the economy. The Fourth International warns against these fake measures

The Test Of War And Reaction

The cadres of the Fourth International were gathered in the bitter struggle against the stream, in the years of reaction that followed the decline of the revolutionary wave after the First World War. The slogan of Trotsky, the founder of the Fourth International, was from the beginning of its development in 1923: "Back to Lenin!" Opposition against Stalin and the whole clique that then over the European continent. began its counter-revolutionary course by revising the internationalist, class-struggle theory of Lenin and Marx. That was the battle-cry which in the years that followed ing class parties, into the jail of Roosevelt and Churchill. signified the devotion of the Trotskyists to the program and concept of the Bolshevik party, the first and only party in history which showed how the proletarian revolution can be successfully achieved.

At the outbreak of the Second World War, the Fourth International once again had occasion to fight other attempts to revise the foundations of the revolutionary program. This time in its own ranks. It was in that struggle that the Fourth International armed itself from within against the trying test of the war years that ensued. "Back to Lenin," back to proletarian internationalism, to fraternization between the warring peoples, to the revolutionary defense of the USSR, to the continuation of the class struggle, to the preparation for the coming revolutionary tasks--that was the battle-cry of the Fourth International march of the Fourth International is a token for the fuin the dark years under the Nazi terror and amidst "Allied" persecution.

The Second International disappeared without a trace and the Social Democratic parties within it became to swim against the stream with the program of the Fourth transformed into miserable propaganda agencies of Anglo-American imperialism. The collapse repeated in more grotesque form its performance of 1914-18.

The Third International, after being corroded by years of betrayal, was merely traded out of existence by Stalin in exchange for Wall Street's Lend-Lease.

All the centrist organizations, like the London Bureau, simply broke up into their component parts.

Only the Fourth International held high the banner of proletarian internationalism, of the revolutionary stuggle against war. Only the Fourth International withstood the test of war. Only the Fourth International remained true to the program of Marxism, to the traditions of the October Revolution. "Back to Lenin" remains our battle-cry, for that is the battle-cry of proletarian victory.

But they could not kill the world party of the socialist revolution. In spite of the frightful and debilitating losses. That was the original battle-cry of the Trotskyist Left the sections of the Fourth International have grown all

In England and America, the "democratic" bourgeoise clamped the Trotskyist leaders, alone among all the work-They sought to decapitate the parties. But the British and American Trotskyists, no less than their European brothers, took the persecution as a challenge and redoubled their energies.

Even more vicious were the persecutions and jailings meted out to our comrades in India and China, in the colonies. But there, too, the fighters of the Fourth International proved equal to the challenge of the rulers.

In the very midst of the war, with terror and persecution at their fiercest, new sections of the Fourth International arose in India, in Egypt, in Italy, and in South America.

The fact that neither Stalin, nor Hitler, nor the "democratic" imperialists, were able to suppress the onward ture. It shows the workers that the surest way to overcome the treachery of Stalinism and reformism lies in rallying to the new parties, to the parties which learned International.

The test of the war has shown that the Fourth International is not only a living reality but possesses such vitality that not even the most adverse conditions can impede its growth. This Conference, calling the roll of proudly say to the workers of the world:

Your International lives! The Fourth International war! The parties of the Fourth International are everywhere in a process of growth and maturing!

More than that, this Conference can report to the direct communications during the war, the parties of the Fourth International find themselves in greater programmatic solidarity than ever! The strength of the Fourth International, its own experiences have shown, lies in its unshakeable Marxist program. The survival and growth of the Fourth International in the struggle against reaction and war augurs well for the development of its sections into the mass revolutionary parties which are needed to transform the present favorable revolutionary situations the next steps toward the establishment of the world federation of socialist states which alone can prevent the annihilation of another war and solve the crisis of humanitybeen prepared by its whole past.

It aimed to solidify the forces of revolutionary socialism and to arm the oppressed with a scientific program of action which can guide them to victory in the decisive struggle of our epoch - the emancipating is the cement which has bound the world battle against world capitalism.

Concurrently, in New York City, the conquering capitalist powers, their satellites and Stalinist accomplices met in the first formal sessions of the United Nations.

Through that conference the Big Powers are continuing the evil deceptions they practiced throughout World War II. While repeating catch-phrases about "democracy" and "freedom," they are buttressing the most reactionary and oppressive forces. Instead of indicating the road to peace, they are engaged in paving the way for World War III.

The International Conference of the Fourth International, the World Party of Bocialist Revolution, represented the leading forces which stand in irreconcilable opposition to the capitalist bandits and imperialist war-makers.

It showed the indestructible power of the ideas, traditions and program of living Marxism. The Militant, which expresses the views of the Socialist Workers Party of the United States, is in complete solidarity with the views of the Fourth International's manifesto and aims to educate the American workers in these ideas. Some of them had played a leading part in the inspiring anti-fascist work among the German troops in France and Belgium long before the invasion of June, 1944—long before the capitalist - dominated "resistance" movements were more than a name and a few top committees. For this work numerous Trotskyists had been arrested by the Gestapo and either executed or sent to the terrible camps for political prisoners. Even in the horror camps, the survivors had continued their revolutionary work among the other prisoners.

The International Conference of the Fourth International which was held in Belgium early last month was the first international gathering of the Trotskyists since the end of World War II. Convoked under difficult and trying conditions, it was nevertheless a genuinely representative conference, with @ participation from as many sections as at the Founding Conference in 1938, and speaking for a far greater membership and number of sections.

Among the European delegations present were the French, British, Dutch, Belgian, German, Spanish, Irish and Swiss sections; in addition, there were representatives from the Western Hemisphere and the colonial sections.

The task of organizing the Conference had been entrusted to the European Executive Committee by the International Secretariat. The European Executive Committee fulfilled this responsibility and proposed the following aims for the Conference:

a. On the political plane. to define a preliminary general pol-Greek Trotskyist Martyr itical orientation of the International.

b. On the organizational plane, to elect a new representative of the revolutionists in Europe leadership of the International which would have the task, among others, of carrying on a discussion in the International on all questions where agreement might prove to be impossible or difficult at the time of the conference and of preparing, when conditions permitted, a World Congress of the Interna-

In addition to its organizational report, the European Secretariat presented a criticism of its theses of February 1944. After discussion, the Conference adopted the report, with two votes opposed, and characterized the mistakes in the 1944 theses "as errors in estimating tempo, Among the first motions adopt- not as errors in fundamental as possible a document expounding completely and clearly the self-criticism of our past policy."

POLITICAL DISCUSSION

The main question on the agenda of the Conference, and the one which naturally received the greatest attention and debate. was the political discussion. Among the important questions on which differences appeared were the Soviet Union and perspective in Europe. A number of amendments were introduced. The conference conducted its historic work almost simultaneously with the Munich crisis which opened the period of final preparation for World War II and signalled the complete collapse of the Stalinist People's Front.

30 delegates directly representing 11 countries—the United States, France, Great Britain (England and Scotland), Germany, the Soviet Union, Italy, Latin America, Poland, Belgium, Holland and Greece - gathered to discuss and adopt a program of struggle for world socialism.

Twenty sections and groups were unable to send delegates but pledged themselves to the program of the Fourth International. Thus, at its founding conference, the World Party of Socialist Revolution had the assurance that parties or groups in 30 countries, virtually every major country in the world, would fight for its ideas.
