PP Ranks Torn Eisenhower Seeks to Exploit By Bitter Dispute By Bitter Dispute Over Stevenson Bitterness Over Korean War

By Art Preis

The politics of the "lesser evil" has risen to haunt the Progressive Progressive Party. A furious dispute is raging in and around the PP and Stalinist circles over supporting Stevenson, the Democratic candidate party system instead of building for President.

officials felt obliged to take up Stone's arguments.

A full-blown debate was arranged in the Compass (Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 and 2) between Stone and former congressman Vito Marcantonio, spokesman for the American Labor Party, New York affiliate of the PP. The Stalinist Daily Worker joined the fray against Stone with three special articles.

Whether Stevenson or Hallinan represents the true and genuine lesser evil" as compard to Eisenhower seems to us to be splitting hairs. None of these candidates represents the American workers. All support the capitalist system. We are for a class party of labor, opposed to capitalism which breeds imperialist wars. We are for socialism that alone can guarantee enduring peace. We are against the pernicious "lesser evil" theory that is used to lure the American workers into upholding the old capitalist two-gressive Party will give backhanded support to the Democratic opponent of the Socialist Workers Party candidate for Congress from the 2nd District, according to the Sept. 28 issue of the Illinois Worker.

The Worker states, "Leaders of the Progressive Party are reported to favor direct participation in the Congressional campaigns of the 2nd and 9th districts. In the second district the witch-hunting Richard B. Vail is seeking reelection to Congress on the Republican ticket against Barrett O'Hara, Democrat whom he defeated in 1950."

The article continues with further attack on the reactionary Vail but contains not one more word about O'Hara. The implication is obvious: The only alternative to Vail is O'Hara and O' Hara is "the lesser evil."

SUPPRESSES FACTS

In order to support Barrett OHara, the Worker was forced to suppress the following facts: (1) O'Hara, with a vicious red-baiting harangue before the Board of Election Commissioner, was instrumental in having the Socialist anti-war candidate, Irving Beinin, ruled, off the ballot.

ing Beinin, ruled, off the ballot. (2) In spite of the efforts of the war parties the SWP is conducting a vigorous write-in campaign for Irving Beinin. His Widespread bitterness and popular opposition to the Korean War, on which I commented last week, have forced a crack in the bi-partisan agreement of the Democrats and Republicans to keep the war issue out of the election campaign.

Republicans agree with Democrats, of course, on the basic war program of U.S. im-O perialism. But the GOP is trying to pick up votes by exploiting the feelings of the American people against drafting and sending their sons to die in Korea. Public opinion polls show that Korea is the top issue in the minds of many voters who have not yet made up their minds about the candidates. Eisenhower is making a play for this anti-war sentiment, although in a most cautious manner.

In his Oct. 3 speech in Illinois, which enraged the Democrats because they feel so vulnerable on the Korean war issue, Eisenhower said:

"We must avoid . . . the kind of bungling that led us into Korea and could lead us into others. The young farm boys must stay on their farms; the students must stay in school, . . What we must

What strikes me about these stories is the contrast they highlight between Big Business campaigning and campaigning for socialism in USA 1952. Just about everything our candidates do and get in the line of audiences, news-

Theirs is a constant battle to crack an opening in the wall of silence with which the capitalist public information monopoly, surrounds the genuine socialist program and candidates, while the Republocrats fill the air waves and the press with phoney attacks against

He made it clear by endorsing Truman's witch hunt point by point. He backed the Smith Act and the jailing of people under it. He even went so far as to praise J. Edgar Hoover and his FBI for "providing the evidence that sent the thirty-one (Communist Party) leaders to prison." Everyone knows that all the evidence that was "provided" by the FBI could have been provided by any one taking the trouble to read the Daily Worker since all those who have been jailed under the Smith Act have been punished for their opinions only. Nevertheless, Stevenson endorses this gag law and pledges to continue it.

Stevenson backed every aspect of the Truman witch hunt and promises more of the same, "strengthened" if possible. One praiseworthy point about his speech, the only one, is that he has made his stand unmistakably clear.

What will his "liberal" supporters do now? What will the CIO and AFL, both of which have condemned Truman's witch hunt, say about this promise of more of the same to come if Stevenson should be elected?

What will the liberals of the Americans for Democratic Action, the liberal organization which is both opposed to the witch hunt and in favor of Stevenson, have to say about this plainly-phrased speech?

Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., who is a member of the executive committee of the ADA, is also the chief "researcher" for Stevenson's campaign committee. Will he now resign in protest? Or perhaps he has so cast-iron a digestion that he himself did the "research" for Stevenson's witch hunt speech.

Stevenson has been very slippery on many matters in the course of this campaign. He has been elusive about the Taft-Hartley Act and other such issues. But on the witch hunt his position is now so clear that there can PP Ranks Torn Over Stevenson be no mistake. No liberal, no unionist, no supporter of civil liberties will be able to say, if Stevenson should be elected, that he didn't know what he was getting.

THE REAL WORLD

In contrast to Stalin's "analysis," what are some of the real facts in the existing world situation? General Eisenhower, speaking in Peoria, Ill. last Thursday made some very important observations about FALSE ANALOGY American capitalism over the last 20 years. The facts he cited, although demagogically intended, bear repetition.

He said: "I propose to show you tonight that whatever economic gains have been made since 1932 have been due... to war or the threat of war."

Eisenhower went on: "If we look closely at the last twenty... years we find a startling thing. Nineteen twenty-nine was the last year in which we enjoyed prosperity | tionary party guided in a certain in a time of peace. From then until 1939, when World War II began, our economy showed no growth whatever in real output per person.

"The New Deal never actually solved the unemployment problem. In 1939, after seven years of New Deal war that crushed the doctoring, 91/2 million Americans were still out of work. . Then came World War II. . . World War II did what the at any suggestion that Stevenson New Deal was unable to do. . . "

The Republican candidate then went on to the postwar period, of which he said: "In spite of the illusion of that he is destined to be the leader improvement created by larger dollar signs on payrolls of a civil war against the capi-with the key question of foreign implement the agreed by-partisan city bosses and the Southern peace through collaboration of and restaurant workers threaten and prices, there has been since the war no economic talist system and class. Yet, any policy - between the two major growth and no rise in living standards." Following this, the war came to the rescue again: "Just as. . . the economy face. was beginning to weaken, along came Korea. Defense production again propped up the economy."

From these facts Eisenhower drew this conclusion: "There is no future for America in economic policies that depend upon the stimulus of war and threat of war to create and maintain prosperity."

Eisenhower's picture of U.S. trends is fairly, although not completely accurate. But his interpretation is fantastic. He wants us to believe that this deep-seated trend of the German Social - Democratic American capitalism towards war or depression can be party gave Hindenburg as the the China Lobby has swallowed how he intended to negotiate and gram of the Progressive Party corrected merely by placing the Republican Party in office instead of the Democratic Party.

The Tax on Child Care

By Joyce Cowley

When the boss takes a customer to dinner, he writes off the Scotch and sirloin as "entertainment." It's a legitimate deduction from his income tax. But when a working mother pays $15 a week for the care of her child, that's not a business expense!

Recently nationwide publicity was given to the bill introduced by Congresswoman Edna Kelly of New York providing tax relief on the cost of child care, but it was limited to working widows and widowers. Three other bills have been introduced, the most liberal that of Congressman Keating of New York which provides for the deduction of all necessary expenses paid for nursery care or a housekeeper's wages.

I'm sure every working mother bitterly resents paying taxes on the money that has to go to a nursery or child-care center. But if she doesn't have a child-care center, that's even worse.

A year ago Spencer Crookes, Executive Director of the Child Welfare League of America, admitted that even in "normal" times few cities have enough facilities to care for the children of working mothers. The present emergency (which looks kind of permanent) has resulted in "growing hardship. . . caused by the severe shortage." The number of working mothers has continued to increase this last year, but the House Appropriations Committee recently excluded any funds for child care, stating that Federal assistance was not justified.

There are Federal laws to furnish support for state and community day-care programs, but Congress doesn't appropriate any money to make them effective. During the war there were more than 3,000 centers throughout the country subsidized mainly by Lanham Act funds. When the war ended, the government dropped the child-care program. Today there are less than 2,000 centers and many cost $13 to $18 a week for each child.

The program was dropped because working mothers were supposed to go back home "where they belong." But rising prices have forced more and more mothers to take jobs. Over 70% of the women in the labor force today are married, widowed or divorced and at least 41/2 million have children.

When a married woman goes to work, it may VOLUME XVI solve the problem of that 15% rent increase and buying hamburger. But it creates a lot of prob-plant in the morning and bring them home clean at night — I can't help seeing a dozen or more women struggling into a crowded bus or subway with heavy bags of laundry! A militant and practical program to answer the problems of working wives and mothers should include tax deductions on money spent for child care. It should include Federally financed nurseries, hot lunches, after-school care and summer camps for the children of working mothers, maternity leave before and after childbirth with cash benefits while on leave and the right to return to your job, expansion of restaurant, laundry and shopping facilities in housing projects and plants.

It's not just a dream. Cooperatives in Sweden have achieved all these things and a lot more non-profit restaurants, hot food service delivered to your apartment, nurseries that are open day and night - weekends, too. England has made nursery schools a part of public education. In many countries maternity leave with cash benefits is included in the Social Security laws. The International Labor Conference held in Geneva in June set standards of 12 weeks maternity leave with disability insurance, provision for medical care and the right to return to your job.

Not too many people outside of the CIO United Automobile Workers Union are acquainted with Art Johnstone. However, in the General Motors department of the UAW, which he directed the last several years under the watchful eyes of his close friend and associate Walter P. Reuther, he is only too well known.

His friendship with Reuther dates back to the early days of the union. Through the years he shared Reuther's ups and downs until a few weeks ago Reuther abruptly fired him from his post.

In the GM ranks this event was universally hailed. They didn't know the exact reasons nor did they particularly care. The unanimous judgment was that the action should have been taken years ago.

, Johnstone was not an elected officer. It is doubtful that he ever held an elected post in his long career in the union. He was strictly an appointed pork-chopper with the usual high pay and expense account.

Search high and low and you couldn't find a more perfect symbol of the Reuther machine man. Johnstone seemed to idolize Walter Reuther. If he crawled before his master, he more than made up for it by lording it over the GM work-

At GM union conferences opposition delegates were bowled over by this ruthless, undemocratic while he was in office. Recall those fired militants, Hill, Rockwell, Butler, Fitzgerald, Tucker? Johnstone was the man who negotiated the five-year contract. He defended this evil contract countless times and carried it out to the letter of the law no matter how it benefited the corporation.

After only two years, he stood alone in its defense. Nowhere in the GM set-up can you find a worker, committee man, or local officer who has merciless masters of this kingdom | true role." a good word for the contract. of misery and poverty ride by in

At a special meeting in Flint not so long ago, after the Ford pension plan was adopted, Chevrolet workers and others had a chance to even a few scores with Johnstone. They never gave him a chance to sell his miserable pension package. They greeted him with deafening, continuous people will gladly or docilely unrelenting boos until he got off the floor.
