

An important victory — comparable to the Supreme Court's original decision against school segregation — has been won in Little Rock. A reluctant President has been Vol. XXI - No. 39 compelled by an outraged public here and abroad to enforce the Negro people's constitutional rights.

How complete a reversal on school desegregation is the use of federal troops may be appreciated by a glance at the record of the political parties on the issue. During the 1956 Presidential campaign, Republican candidate Eisenhower vowed he would never use troops or any kind of coercion under any circumstances to enforce the high court's school ruling. Democratic candidate Stevenson loudly echoed the promise. Only Socialist Workers Party candidate Farrell Dobbs declared for full and speedy federal enforcement of school integration including use of federal troops.

Since then Eisenhower has repeatedly stated he would never use federal troops. Only a few months ago, in response to the question, he angrily cried, "Over my dead body!" In the recent civil rights struggle in Congress, as an act of appeasement to the Dixiecrats, one of the several laws authorizing such use of federal troops was repealed. Every capitalist politician in Congress — from North, South, East and West, from reactionary to liberal - then and there recorded his opposition to using federal troops if necessary to enforce the Negro people's rights in the South. The Senate vote was 90 to 0.

The nine courageous Negro children and the steadfast NAACP branch led by Mrs. L. C. Bates in Little Rock have thus accomplished far more than opening that city's high school. They have erased from the Supreme Court Pickets Hit decision the scrawl, "Not to be seriously enforced," put there by a conspiracy embracing the President, Congress, Democrats, Republicans, reactionaries, moderates and lib erals.

A Valuable Precedent

For the use of federal troops in Little Rock constitutes a precedent for the Negro people that the capitalist politicians — much as they will squirm and try to weasel out of - will never be able to get away from. At each crucial stage in the fight for the enforcement of the rights they now possess on paper, the Negro people will be in a position to demand federal intervention if they need it to override the illegal and violent opposition of Deep South state officials and their racist mobs. This demand will receive support from white workers and sections of the middle class nationally. The resulting political pressure for effective federal action against the inhuman and unconstitutional structure of Jim Crow, can blow the Republican-Democrat political monopoly sky high. The use of federal troops in Little Rock is also a damaging blow to the whole philosophy of gradualism in school desegregation. This is the policy now in effect. It has resulted in more token than real integration, and a lessening of that.

This gradualism has been palmed off on the public in New York public schools. The as the way to avoid violent racist opposition. As has been pickets, a majority of them moththat integration can be beaten. It was precisely this

SEPT. 26 — An outraged world public opinion finally compelled President Eisenhower to send federal troops to escort the nine Negro school children into the Little Rock High School. He had repeatedly proclaimed before that he wouldn't ever dream of using federal troops to enforce school integration.

The pressure compelling Eisenhower's about face was both national and international. In this country the Negro people were aroused to an anger surpassing even that caused by the lynching of 14-year-old Emmett Till two years ago. Backing this up was the mass indignation over the mistreatment of the Negro school children which swept most of the white work ers and middle class in all sections of the country save the Deep South. This tremendous public opinion mounted as week after week of federal inaction ensued.

It is the stress on the need for independent politics in the Guardian editorial that we find so welcome. With the editorial's point of departure - that the need arises out of the demise of the Progressive Party we are in disagreement. In our opinion the PP was a liberal capitalist party, built on sand, and destined to its sad fate even if it had not been so viciously persecuted by the witch hunters.

But the fact that from the PP experience many workers, students, Negroes and others learned so well the reactionary futility of supporting either the Democrats or Republicans is a positive gain. It enables them to see through the phoney arguments with which the Daily Worker and Communist Party try to beguile them back into coalition with the Democrats, locally and nationally. This clarity on the need for independent politics will be an important factor in the building, locally and nationally, of the political task forces that will become America's Labor Party.

Democracy in the CP?

Has the Communist Party of the U.S. changed its spots or is all the talk about a new birth of democracy within that organization a deception? At its 16th national convention last February the party members and radical public were given to understand that the old days of thought-control, arbitrary expulsions and suspensions, etc., were over. The newly adopted party constitution supposedly legalized free discussion within the party and protected members against arbitrary penalties. Among the safeguards were that an accused member could not be punished without first having had formal charges preferred against him, that at the trial he had the right to present witnesses in his defense, that an appeal from the verdict of the trial in his club to a higher body must be acted upon within 60 days. These were fine words, and they corresponded to the demands of the party rank and file. The fine words are still being heard. For example, Sid Stein, CP National Organization Secretary, in his report to the National Committee on

Fight New York Jim Crow!

Picket N.Y. City Hall

(The following is the text of a statement, "For a Labor Administration to End Segregation in New York Schools," issued by New York Socialist Workers Party candidates Joyce Cowley for Mayor, Lillian Kiezel for President of the City Council, Morris Zuckoff for Comptroller and Alvin Berman for Borough President of Brooklyn. It was distributed at the Sept. 19 Negro and Puerto-Rican parents' picket line before City Hall. - Ed.)

Negro and Puerto Rican parents have fought for three and a half years to provide their children with better education than they are now receiving in the over-crowded, run-down and understaffed schools of Bedford-Stuyvesant and Harlem. After a two-year investigation the Board of Education has finally substantiated all the charges made by the parents. After months of delay, the program to integrate New York schools was adopted last February.

These recommendations which included broad changes in zoning and teacher assignment, were to go into effect by September 1957. When the schools opened there was still no indication that any steps had been taken to carry out the program adopted in February. Close to 250 out of 800 schools under the jurisdiction of the Board of Education remain segregated.

On August 20th, after the Commission on Integration charged Supt. of Schools Jansen with "deliberately confusing, delaying, distorting and sidetracking" reports of the Commission, the Mayor's office announced that the city would not.

interfere in the controversy. Deputy VOLUME XXI Mayor John J. Theobald said that such matters would be left to the educational authorities.

The United States Supreme Court decided that school segregation is illegal, but as the Negro students facing guns and bayonets in Little Rock have learned, getting a legal decision is not sufficient, The "liberal" politicians don't intend to enforce it. In New York City, official indifference is used instead of guns. The effect is the same. Negro and Puerto Rican children continue to receive inferior education in segregated schools. Why does Mayor Wagner refuse to tell us where he stands and what he is planning to do to assure that school integration is carried out in New York?

To assure integrated schools and adequate educational facilities the Socialist Workers Party demands:

(1) The city administration must re- attorney, was unanimously voted store the $52,000,000 which it just slashed chairman of New York City's to the school budget.

(2) Mayor Wagner must guarantee full and adequate representation of Negro and Puerto Rican parents on the Board of Education.
