Europe's War Is Warning To This Nation, Says Hillquit, Entering Race For Congress

Hope of having two representatives in congress is spurring the New York Socialists on to great efforts in this campaign. The struggle to re-elect Meyer London from the twelfth district is gaining new strength daily. No less an effort, however, is being made to elect Morris Hillquit, member of the party national executive committee, from the twentieth congressional district. Tammany Hall, at its wits' end, withdrew its original candidates, as being unfit, and put up candidates of the "goo-goo' stripe in the hope of deceiving the workers into voting for them. In the accompanying statement accepting the nomination for congress, Hillquit shows why every right-minded citizen in the district should vote the straight Socialist ticket.

To The Socialist Party Of The 20th Congressional District.

COMRADES:—A Socialist nomination for public office is not a political reward nor a personal preferment. It is a call to service.

With a full realization of this fact I accept your nomination for member of the House of Representatives from the 20th Congressional District, and pledge myself to give the best that is in me in the struggle to wrest the District from the unwholesome grip of the bossridden and boss-owned old political parties and to reclaim it for the workers, who constitute the vast majority of

There is every reason why the citizens of this District should vote the Socialist ticket; there is not a single reason why they should throw away their franchise upon the candidates of the other parties.

SOCIALISM stands first and foremost for the full human rights of the working people. The United States is blessed with immense natural wealth, and with a large, enterprising and industrious population. If the country were owned by the people and its vast resources were utilized for their benefit, every willing worker would be enabled to live in comfort and to enjoy his legitimate share of the pleasures of life. But our country is not owned by the people. Our land and forests, our mines and highways, our railroads and factories, our machinery and raw material, in short all the things we need to work and to live, are monopolized by a small group of capitalists, while the large masses of the people pay tribute for the permission to make more wealth for the wealthy, and are contented to pass their lives in ceaseless toil and

The Socialists propose to take from the capitalists the means and instruments of work and to place them into the hands of the whole people, so that wealth may be produced for the use and enjoyment of all.

IF ELECTED to Congress I shall consider myself the servant and spokesman of the workers. I shall introduce and support legislation which will secure for the toilers of the country a better living, more leisure, larger freedom, greater justice—greater happiness. As a Socialist I am pledged to this course of action, just as my Democratic, Republican and Progressive rivals for office. as the representatives of their parties, are bound to uphold the present system of class privilege and class

If any human being still doubts the need of a plete and immediate change of the existing social and economic institutions, the heavy tragedy of blood-stained Europe should effectively dispel his doubts. For whatever might have been the immediate pretexts for the ghastly world-war, its ultimate and determining cause must be sought in the commercial rivalry of the capitalists of the different countries, their struggles for new markets, colonies, ports and spheres of commercial in-

The international capitalist competition reared the insane institution of militarism, and eventually precipitated the savage orgy of blood and fire, death and destruction. The millions of Europe's workers are paying with their lives for the greed of their masters.

THE TRAGIC fate of the nations of Europe should be a warning and a lesson to the workers of this country. For already the magnates of American capital are busy at work cultivating the deadly germs of strife and bloodshed. Thru their powerful international trading corporations they are reaching out their greedy hands for the wealth of foreign countries, and the government of the United States will be called upon to back up their selfish adventures with huge armies and navies; with the wealth of the country and the blood of the people, as it has in our recent crisis with Mexico. This is the explanation of the sudden and violent access of capitalistic 'patriotism''.

Under the deceitful slogan of "National Preparedness" the Democratic, Republican and Progressive politicians have joined in a conspiracy to build up in this country a system of militarism as stupendous and crushing as those of the most militaristic European monarchies. Hundreds of millions of the people's hardearned dollars have been added by the last Congress to the military and naval budget, while the crying needs of the workers for social betterment have received scant attention.

THE EVIL fruits of this spirit of militarism are rapidly maturing—in the most abominable of all forms race hatred and national prejudice. In this melting pot of nations and races, in this country, which is made up entirely of immigrants and descendants of immigrants and which in its more glorious days was glad to serve as an asylum for the persecuted of all countries and proud of its broad spirit of tolerance, the leading political parties and their candidates vie with each other in their insults to foreign-born citizens, whom they contemptuously brand as "hyphens".

Socialism alone stands for justice to the workers, peace among nations and the brotherhood of all men of all races, creeds and nationalities. Its cause is exalted, its fight is noble, its methods are pure. That is why I accept your nomination with gratitude and pride, and that is why every worker and every just and rightminded citizen in this District should vote the straight Socialist ticket in the coming election.

MORRIS HILLQUIT.

By CHRISTIAN M. MADSEN Socialist Member Illinois State Legislature.

During a presidential campaign, when so many questions of national and international scope occupy the at-tention of the people, the importance of our state legislature is apt to be lost sight of.

One of the reasons why so little attention is paid to state legislators is perhaps that the salary attached to this job is comparatively small. At a meeting of the Illinois Manufacturduring the last session of the general assembly, one of the speakers vehemently expressed his ineignation at "a lot of $1,000 men presuming to tell the $10,000 men in the Illinois Manufacturers' Association how to and expected to do their bidding. run their business".
