in the past The DAILY WORKER has energetically champloned the interests of the packing house workers.

The DAILY WORKER has fought resolutely for the steel

The interests of the coal miners have been voiced fearlessly by The DAILY WORKER-despite severe opposition from the operators and the reactionary Lewis administration.

Ask the railway workers if any paper other than The DAILY WORKER has fought against the strike-breaking Watson-Parker law and and the union-wrecking schemes which have been foisted on many of our railroad labor organizations. Ask the Wall

The overwhelming masses of militant miners will tell you how vigorously The DAILY WORKER is helping them keep their union-build a more powerful organization-save the United

But that's all good and well.

Let's tell you a few words about the future. We mean the immediate future. We mean "the right-now of The DAILY WORKER."

We will be unable to KEEP THE DAILY WORKER on the job without more and better support from you in a hurry. The $50,000 campaign must be brought to a successful close as soon as possible. The sooner we get the full sum, the better off will you and The DAILY WORKER be. The sooner The DAILY WORKER gets the $50,000, the quicker will there be a more effective DAILY WORKER.

The Lithuanian National Fraction Bureau of the Workers (Communist) Party has just set a splendid example for all of us. The Lithuanian National Fraction Bureau has just sent us a check for $200 to KEEP THE DAILY WORKER.

Don't say you can't do the same. Don't say you are broke. There is nothing like trying and doing-GIVING. The Lithuanian commades have only the other day launched a new Lithuanian Communist daily. The Vilnis. Yet, they have come across. Why don't you do the same?

The DAILY WORKER cannot live on the past alone.

The DAILY WORKER cannot continue unless you say: YES. We need more than words now. We need some very immediate and concrete deeds. We need some money and mighty

The appeal for the additional respite to Madeiros shows the defense is fighting hard for Sacco and Vanzetti and that it places some hope that in carrying the case to the supreme court Madeiros' confession will carry more weight with the higher body than it did with the trial judge, Thayer. It is significant too that Attorney General Benton supported the appeal for the respite. He said that in doing so he sought "orderly administration of justice."

power of the president to remove a federal officer without the consent of the senate was sustained by the supreme court today, thus ending a dispute as to constitutional rights that has waged between the legislative and executive branches of the government for half a century.

The decision was handed down in the case of Frank S. Myers, now deceased, former postmaster at Portland, Ore. Myers was appointed by President Wilson in 1917, and removed from office three years later, without the consent of the senate. Because his appointment had to be confirmed by the senate his heirs conhis removal without the senate's consent-was not constitutional.

Back to 1789.

Chief Justice Taft found that congress in 1789 discussed the principles involved in the case and held that the president should have broad powers of appointment and removal, not only is the president's power of removal upheld by legislation but also by the very nature of the office, the court

The check given by the senate in the requirement that the president must submit some appointments for confirmation does not imply a similar right of a check upon removal.

In its opinion the court held unconstitutional the Tenure of Office Act of 1867 in which restrictions were imposed upon the president.

Of Basic Importance. The decision is considered by legal authorities as among the most important ever decided by the supreme court. Solicitor general James M. Beck, in arguing the right of the president to remove, declared "the principle involved is of the very foundation of our government," "If the president cannot remove officials, however unfit and unworthy they may be," he said, "then he has neither the independence nor the power than has been attributed to the office."

The Myers case has been before the courts for several years. When Myers originally sued for $8,838 back pay, the government merely set up the defense that delay in bringing the suit was fatal to recovery of damages. The court of claims sustained the government, and did not pass upon the legality of the removal.

Justice McReyolds, Holmes and Brandeis dissented.

Justice McReyolds, who wrote the dissenting opinion, called the court's decision revolutionary in character.

Exploiters' Rule Trods Pathway Bloodstained By Martyrs of Labor

By J. LOUIS ENGDAHL.

 $E_{\rm the\ land\ printed\ something}^{\rm VERY\ capitalist\ newspaper\ in}$ about the decision of Judge Webster Thayer denying a new trial to Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti. Tens of millions of workers, therefore, are fully aware of the certain death that threatens their comrades, in the shadow of the electric chair, in Massachusetts.

The fact that a great wave of protest does not roll up over the land may be accounted for, in part, by the attitude of masses of workers stated in these few words, "They won't put them to death. They don't dare. Something will happen to stop the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti." . . .

This is, of course, a criminal attitude. The worker who takes that attitude shows that he has been effectively doped by the ruling class under which he suffers. Somehow, this type of worker has come to the suicidal conclusion that the capitalist exploiter today doesn't kill his prey.

Attorney William G. Thompson, counsel for Sacco and Vanzetti, not a member of the workingclass, not even a radical, or even a liberal, fought this viewpoint all thru his energetic participation in the five day's of argument for the new trial. that has just been rejected by Judge Thayer. Thompson held up the electric chair as offering an immediate danger, waiting at the courtroom door, as it were, with a powerful electric current turned full on, hungry for its victims. Attori nev Thompson said:

"If these men are executed, the cry is going around the world that if a man doesn't believe in private property in America, he can be

Labor must not wait until after Sacco and Vanzetti have been done to death, to learn whether it can be done, or will be done. It will then be too late to turn back and undo the crime that has been committed. The time to make the fight is now, with the full realization that American capitalism, now as ever, worries little about the blood of the workers upon its hands, as long as its dominant position is secure.

Doubting workers, who question the brutality of American greed, need but to scan thru the November issue of the Labor Defender, the monthly publication of the International Labor Defense, to trace the blood-stained path trod down thru the years by the capitalist overlords in their ruthless pursuit of profits.

In 1887 the gallows in Chicago

just as guiltless as Sacco and Vanzetti. Joe Hill, the poet of the Industrial Workers of the World. was shot to death by a firing squad in the Utah state penitentiary, Nov. 19, 1915. The next year, at Everett, Wash., the lumber trust didn't wait for arrests, trials, convictions and executions. Thru its hired assassins under the direction of Sheriff McRae, it launched a veritable massacre against the free speech fighters of the I. W. W., at this Puget Sound port, taking a toll of 11 workers dead and 32 severely wounded. This list does not include the killing, by hanging, of Frank Little, by an employing class mob near Butte, Mont., during the war. It does attempt to review the bloody record of the owning class in every strike that has taken place.

There are workers who ask, "Will the American ruling class kill?" Here the workers have their an swer. The bosses will kill.

None of these victims immediately threatened the existence of the capitalist state. The Haymarket victims had merely declared for the eight-hour workday, launching the campaign for the shorter day of toil. Joe Hill was the poet of the migratory, unskilled workers, putting into song the trials of itinerant labor. The Everett slaughter grew out of an attempt of labor to enjoy the right of free speech in the drive to organize the lumber workers in this western section of Washington. Little had voiced his views against the war. For this they all died.

In writing about the Haymarket affair, Lucy E. Parsons, widow of one of the victims, says that seven years after the wholesale hanging, Governor John P. Altgeld, of Illinois, reviewed the whole case, and proved from the testimony that the workers hanged were absolutely innocent.

It is a poor time, seven years after workers have been murdered, to learn that they were innocent of the crime charged against them. That happened in the Haymarket

This must not happen in the Sacco-Vanzetti case. A great mass of evidence has already been presented, that proves beyond doubt, except in the minds of the New England frame-up gang itself, that Sacco and Vanzetti are guiltless.

The New York World, Sunday, October 24, in reviewing the contents of the decision of Judge Thayer, denying the new trial, said:

"He (Judge Thayer) also rejects the testimony of Lawrence G. Letherman, for 38 years a member of the secret service forces of the United States, and Albert J. Weyand, also a former secret service man, that attaches of the Boston office of the department of justice had conspired with state officials to convict the two radicals of a murder they did not believe them guilty of as 'one way of disposing of them'."

What did the prosecution do to wipe out the effect of these affidavits? What did it say in reply to them? Nothing! Asolutely nothing! In the words of the New York World, same issue, we find the following:

"These affidavits (of Letherman and Weyand) the state did not answer. Dudley P. Ranney, the assistant district attorney now in charge of the case, contenting himself with denouncing Letherman and Weyand for revealing secrets of the department of justice."

Sacco and Vanzetti are innocent! Everyone at all familiar with the case knows it.

But the executioners of the capitalist class are determined to put them to death. What is the workingclass going to do about it?

The least that every reader of The DAILY WORKER can do right now is to order a bundle of the November issue of the Labor Defender, 23 S. Lincoln Street, Chicago, and get it distributed among workers who have a wrong viewpoint toward the Sacco-Vanzetti

CHINESE MASSES HAIL CANTONESE AS LIBERATORS

Strength Runs Beyond Number of Soldiers

PEKING, Oct. 26 .- In the present orthern expedition of the Cantonese armies the Canton troops have maintained an exemplary conduct quite in contrast to the murderous, plundering yranny of the reactionary militarists. These militarists were and are enouraged by the foreign imperialist powers, who used them as tools to keep the Chinese masses terrorized and divided. Even the comparatively wealthy Chinese, robbed by the marauding militarists, have welcomed the Canton troops as liberators.

Masses Welcome Cantonese.

How much more welcome have the Cantonese been to the farmers, whose crops and livestock have been stolen and destroyed by the reactionaries, and the coolie workers, who have been conscripted to both military and labor without pay, or slaughtered without pity, may be seen by the wild enthusiasm with which they greet the victorious Canton armies.

This is the strength of the Canton troops, with goes far beyond the number of their rifles and equipment. This sort of "propaganda" takes quick effect on the masses, and no northern general is sure what will happen to nim and his army if he dares open an offensive against the Cantonese, or even resist their advance.

Militarists' Power Crumbles.

It is very doubtful if the northern generals will be able to hold out against the Cantonese advance. Their ower crumbles into dust before the skillful maneuvers of the Cantonese commander, Chiang Kai-shih, as can be seen by the fact that altho the Canton armies are still some 300 or 400 miles from Shanghai their sympathizers have acted and cut off that city from rail communication in all directions.

If the Cantonese win all China they vill surely carry out their demand for the abrogation of all unequal treaties and special privilege granted foreign imperialists. So the imperialists continue to support the reactionary militarists and thereby seal their own fate by antagonizing the masses.

Instead of removing the disturber, the police proceeded to arrest the speaker in spite of the fact that the meeting was held with a local Wagon Called.

Without further ado Miller was rushed off in a patrol wagon to a dark cell in the police station and he was given no opportunity to call up an attorney or a bondsman.

At the trial the police could only produce as witnesses storekeepers who felt that the meeting had interfered with their business. The dea fendant, however, was able to produce workers from the audience who came in spontaneous protest to the unjust actions of the police officers. In order to protect the police the judge proposed that the defendant enter a plea of nolo or willingness not to prosecute further, and thereupon the case was filed. This is but one more case added to the long list of violations of the constitutional right of freedom of speech and assembly of which Massachusetts can boast.

WAGE POLICY OF A. F. L. EXPOSED BY RUTHENBERG

Party to Fight Until Victory, He Pledges

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 26.-Making his only public address in the New York district for the election campaign, C. E. Ruthenberg, general secretary of the Workers (Communist) Party, spoke at the Amalgamated Temple, Brooklyn, Tuesday night where an enthusiastic meeting was held.

A clear analysis of the American Federation of Labor's new wage poli- $2.98 scale the miners got before the cy was made by Ruthenberg to the delight of his hearers.

"The officials of the A. F. of L. are not living up to their own policy," start a real struggle for more money, they would find that arrayed against them would be the whole machinery of the capitalist system.

"The A. F. of L. policy," said Ruthenberg, "is that the workers should share in the greater wealth as the productivity of labor increases by speed-up systems and by the introduction of improved machinery. But as compel them to deny advances to soon as the A. F. of L. attempts to union operators. seize its share of the increased wealth it will find itself faced with the same problem as enunciated by the Workers Party-the mass opposition of the employers backed up by the whole government apparatus."

Party Takes Lead.

Ruthenberg made a clear analysis of the nature of the class struggle with special reference to America. He pointed out that the Workers Party was the leader of the American labor movement toward the devolopment of a more militant struggle against the exploiters. He pledged the party to continue the struggle until the American trade unions had been made militant, until the basic industries had been organized, until the workingclass had developed a mass political party of its own and received experiences mecessary to ensure success in its fight to destroy the capitalist system, to establish a workers' and farmers' government and found a new social

Wolfe pointed out that the entire machinery of the government, the 2,000,000 more balos. is used against the workers. When he made an appeal to the audience to join in the fight against this governmental attack nine workers joined the Workers Par-

Benjamin Gitlow, Workers Party candidate for governor, denounced Governor Smith's claims as a representative of the people. He detailed the governor's record pointing to injunctions against strikers, his arbitration program always satisfactory to the employers and a blow to the workers, the brutality of the New York police, traceable to the governor as the highest state authority. Gitlow showed that both the republican and democratic parties were controlled by big business and urged the workers to build their own party.

Pascal Cosgrove, former organizer of the Shoe Workers' Protective Union, also spoke. Sam. Nesin, Workers Party candidate in the 14th assembly district, was chairman.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 26.-Credit capital, ultimate authority in America's ndustrial life, has decreed that the Miners' Union must go. Speaking thru George de Camp, chairman of the board of the Cleveland federal reserve bank, the Wall Street interests in control of the federal reserve have ordered the miners to sacrifice the gains of long years of struggle by going back to work underground for approximately the same wage that the unskilled city street laborer gets-$5 a day.

WORKERS SENATE CANDIDATE HITS WALSH'S RECORD

among railroad workers as indicated by the following statement made by him in the U.S. senate on December 18. 1918: "Strikes among certain classes of employes are indeed never justifiable, and among these classes are undeniably our transportation employes." The reason for his opposition to strikes among railroad workers is undoubtedly linked up with Walsh's close connections with the railroad interests of the state, connections which became so evident and scandalous that Mr. Martin Lomasney, democratic leader, was forced to remark in the Massachusetts house of representatives on June 4, 1915: "He (Walsh) was a railroad man in 1900 and 1901, when he was in the house, and he has not changed." A commission was created and an anpropriation passed to investigate all labor bills introduced. It is generally admitted that this was done solely so the legislature could dodge consideration of needed amendments to the state labor law and workers' compensation law. In this way the charge of violating state party platform pledges was sidestepped. The resolution, besides being an attempt to wipe out what small benefits have already been gained, also serves to throw a monkey wrench into the coming legislature and stall off action on pending bills The obvious intention of the Knight resolution is to give labor a setback.

whole infamous scheme to reduce the living standards of the cloakmakers and bring back the hideousness of sweatshop labor. In this scheme the governor's commission played the role of aids to the employers. This commission gave moral support to the posses in their attempt to break the union by rejecting the fundamental demands of the workers and trying to befog the real issues.

GOVERNOR SMITH is the boss of Tammany Hall. He was responsible for the selection of the present mayor strike, have caused wholesale arrests on the merest technical pretexts in order to bleed the treasury of the union, to intimidate the workers and break the strike thru terror.

He wants the support of the country that he is a man after their own hearts, who can be depended upon to break strikes, suppress union organization, impose fake arbitration conditions, extend company unions nakers, issued by the administration and keep workers in subjection to industrial tyranny. Governor Smith knows that Coolidge rode into the White House on the record of his strike-breaking activities in Boston and he seeks to establish his claim to be considered a rival for the presidency by equalling the strikebreaking record of Coolidge.

THE democratic party, like the re publican party, is a friend of capital and an enemy of labor. Both par ties are responsible for injunctions. suppression of free speech, denial of the right to picket, state constabulary terror and all other devices used against labor.

Election Campaign Literature Leads to Jail

By J. O. BENTALL.

(Special to The Daily Worker) PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 26. Bernard Morgenstern, member of the Young Workers League, was arrested on a charge of "Distribution of Red Literature." and held in $1.000 bail by the police magistrate, who went into a rage using language that would do credit to a gang of hoodlums in the underworld. So this is Democra

The "Red Literature" consists of a very innocent announcement of the big election campaign meeting scheduled for tonight, at which the speakers are C. E. Ruthenberg, general secretary of the Workers Party: A. J. Carey. Workers Party candidate for U. S. senate, and J. O. Bentall, organizer District 3.

The reddest part of the announce ment is still a riddle unless it is the headline, which reads: "What Price Senator Vare?" subheaded, "$3,000,000 Political Pot to Boil the Workers of Pennsylvania."

The police magistrate in question s a Vare fan, and he is sore at any reflection made against the chief election thief of this commonwealth.

The language of the magistrate to committing Morgenstern to bail is no printable, so the readers must draw upon their imagination and whatever memory they may have of any pro fane conversation among crapshoot ers and horsetraders, whose vocabulary of the obscene, however, is naturally more limited than that of the dignified individual designated as poice judge.

"Free Country"-?

Only an hour after this episode in the police court the government discovered that Benjamin Siegel was selling Daily Worker certificates. He was promptly arrested, but up to the time of sending this message no charge has been preferred against this DAILY WORKER hustler, so he simply decorates the jail till the cops and the Vare crew invent one of their unholy pretexts on which a man in a 'free" country may be deprived of his liberty without any given reason

But in all my reading I could find only one daily in the entire United States that was presenting any significant information to the workers and farmers of America and any real aid in their struggle for the solution of their most immediate problems or for final emancipation; and that daily was The DAILY WORKER. Deduces Formula.

I could almost reduce it to a mathematical formula: The strength of the labor movement varies directly as the circulation of The DAILY WORKER. Wherever the circulation of The DAILY WORKER is big, there the labor movement is militant; there it system in the wrold gle, of understanding and of forward movement. Wherever, on the other hand, the circulation of The DAILY WORKER is small and the workers son press, there the labor movement is weak, befuddled, bewildered, pas sive, in retreat or disintegrating. least if I wanted to know more than the results of the Dempsey-Tunney fight, the world series and the kind of pie that Queen Marie had eaten for her dinner, I had to find copies of The DAILY WORKER on my trip. Back issues soon began to mean as much to me as current numbers, and when I saw the appeals to "Keep the DAILY WORKER." I suddenly thou what an arid desert the American labor movement would become if this one oasis of thought activity and struggle were to suddenly be dried up

The United States without The DAILY WORKER! The American labor movement in this year of retreat and defeat and class collaboration and betrayal without The DAILY WORKER! No daily, no struggle; no daily, no information from the work ers' point of view: no daily, no genuine labor movement! Such were the inevitable conclusions from an attempt to imagine the United States at the present time, when all other progressive forces are so weak and timid and beaten and afraid. "Keep The DAILY WORKER."

And so I said to the comrades every where, "Keep The DAILY WORKER." It is our only weapon! Build The DAILY WORKER. It is the only hope of the American labor movement! Circulate The DAILY WORKER. It is the only antidote to the poisons being poured into the air from press and pulpit and into the minds and hearts of men by the great daily reptile press. Does it take sacrifices It is worth any sacrifice. All struggle requires sacrifice. The labor move ment requires sacrifice. Without The DAILY WORKER there will be nothing left worth sacrificing for.

They were on an old familiar trail now, and Bunny knew the landscape by heart.

"It's all very well for a feller to go off in his study and figure out how the world ought to be; but that don't make it that way There has got to be oil, and we fellers that know how to get it out of the ground are the ones that are doing it. You listen to these Socialists and Bolshevikis, but my God. imagine if the government was to start buying oillands and developing them -there'd be more graft than all the wealth of America could pay for. I'm on the inside, where I can watch it, and I know that when you turn over anything to the government, you might jist as good bury it ten thousand miles deep in the earth. You talk about laws, but there's economic laws, too, and government can't stand against them, no more than anybody else. When government does fool things, then people find a way to get round it, and business men that do it are no more to blame than any other kind of men. This is an oil age, and when you to try to shut oil off from production, it's jist like you tried to dam Niagara Falls."

It was a critical moment in their lives. In after years Bunny would look back upon it, and think, oh why had he not put his foot down? He could have broken his father, if he had been determined enough! If he had said, "Dad, I will not stand for buying the presidency; and if you go in with Mr. Roscoe on that deal, you've got to know that I renounce my inheritance, I will not touch a cent of your money from this day on. I'll go out and get myself a job, and you can leave your money to Bertie if you want to." Yes, if he had said that, Dad would have given way; he would have been mortally hurt, and Mr. Roscoe would have been hurt, but Dad would not have helped to nominate Senator Harding.

Why didn't Bunny do it? It wasn't cowardice-he didn't know enough about life as yet to be afraid of it. He had never earned a dollar in his life, yet he had the serene conviction that he could go out and "get a job," and provide for himself those comforts and luxuries that were a matter of course to him. But the trouble was, he couldn't bear to hurt people. It was what Paul meant when he said that Bunny was "soft." He entered too easily into other people's point of view. He saw too clearly why Dad and Mr. Roscoe wanted to buy the Republican convention; and then, a few hours later, he would go over to the Rascum cabin, and sit down with Paul and "Bud" Stoner and "Jick" Duggan and the rest of the "Bolshevik bunch," and see too cleary why they wanted the oil workers to organize and educate themselves, and take over the oil wells from Dad and Mr. Roscoe.

Bunny went back to Southern Pacific and just as he was finishing his year's work, the convention of the Republican party met in Chicago, a thousand delegates and as many alternates, and as many newspaper correspondents and special writers, to tell the world about this mighty historic event. The convention listened to impressive "key-note" speeches and smoked enormous quantities of tobacco and drank enormous quantities of pootleg liquor; and meantime, in a room in the Blackstone Hotel, the half-dozen bosses who controlled the votes sat down to make their deals. In the millions of words that went out over the wires concerning the convention the name of Vernon Roscoe was never adv mentioned; but he had his suite adjoining that hotel room, and he made exactly the right offers, and paid his certified checks to exactly the right men, after a long deadlock and the taking of eight ballots, amid wild excitement on the convention floor, the support of General Leonard Wood began suddenly to crumble, and on the ninth ballot Warren Gamaliel Harding of Ohio became he Republican party's standard-bearer.

College was over; and Gregor Nikolaieff went up to San Francisco to ship on one of the vessels of the "canning fleet," which went up to Alaska to catch and pack salmon. Rachel Menzies and her brother joined three other Jewish students who had equipped themselves with a battered Ford car, to follow the fruit-picking; moving from place to place, sleeping under the stars, and gathering apricots, peaches, prunes and grapes for the canners and driers. Bunny was the only one of the little group of 'reds" who did not have to work all summer; and he was the only one who didn't know what to do with himself.

In the old days, when he and Dad were drilling one well at time, Bunny would pitch in and help at anything there was to do; he was only a "kid" then, and the men liked it. But now he was of age, and supposed to be dignified; the company was of age, too, a huge machine in which every cog had its place, and must not be interfered with. Bunny could not even cultivate the plants at home without trespassing on the job of the gardener! He had resolved to study some of Paul's books; but he had never neard of anyone studying eight hours a day, and he couldn't take Paul's job for part of the time, because he wasn't a good enough

It was a world in which some people worked all the time. and others played all the time. To work all the time was a bore, and no one would do it unless he had to; but to play all the time was equally a bore, and the people who did it never had anything to talk about that Bunny wanted to listen to. They talked about their play, just as solemnly as if it had been work; tennis tournaments, golf tournaments, polo matches—all sorts of complicated ways of hitting a little ball about a field! Now, it was all right, when you needed exercise and recreation, to go out and hit a little ball; but to make life work of it, to give all your time and thought to it, to practice it religiously, read and write books about it, discuss it for hours on end—Bunny looked at these fully grown men and women, with their elaborate outfits of "sport clothes," and it seemed to him they must be exercising a kind of hypnosis upon themselves, to make themselves believe that they were really enjoying their lives.

OPEN SHOP MINE GIVES INCREASE PAY TO WORKERS

Miners Are Puzzled by 'Philanthropy'

By ROMA,

Worker Correspondent.

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Oct. 26.-When the coal operators of a nonunion mine voluntarily and suddenly increase the wage scale of their employes it certainly gives the poor, underpaid miners food for thought and causes them to arrive at the conclusion that "something must be in the Raise Wages a Third.

Yet that is exactly what occurred in Moundsville at the Panama mine, employing 250 men, owned by the Ben Franklin Coal Co., when notices were posted on the morning of October 29 posted on the morning of October 22 that the company will adopt the Jacksonville wage agreement, or union contract, on November 1, 1926. The mine will continue to operate on an open-shop basis, but will increase its wage scale 33 1-3 per cent.

According to the company officials, an improvement in the bituminous market conditions has justified the in-

Miners Wage Fight.

The Panama miners are only one of the local mines which last year waged a valiant but vain struggle against a reduction in the wage scale. During the bituminous coal strike in Wednesday, October 13, at 224 South April, 1926, this region, which has Spring street. Twenty-one organizabeen a typical West Virginia scab tions with 42 delegates, responded to hole for some time, joined the ranks the call. Besides the needle trades of the union miners and struck when unions, delegates were present from an attempt was made to reduce the the carpenters, painters, bakers, wages to the 1917 scale. However, after several months, weak support parties (working class) and educafrom President Lewis and strong opposition from the courts and the coal operators, together with the coming winter, had their effect, and the miners were forced to return to work arrange a big mass meeting and tag under non-union conditions at the day to raise funds.

Other Mines Scab.

There are several mines in this locality, all operated on the non-union basis. However, they do not maintain a uniform wage scale. The Panama mine paid 58 cents per ton for loading, while the rest pay 63 cents per ton. It has not been ascertained as yet whether the remaining mines will proceed to increase their wage scale in line with the Panama mine. Action Is Puzzler,

It is certainly puzzling to many what caused the coal company to increase the wage scale at the Panama mine. It was not mere philanthropy. Of course, their reason that market conditions justify it are true enoughalways were, in fact. If that were the only reason the wage scale could be increased to a much greater extent. Perhaps the recent call that was issued for another strike in Morgantown may have had some influence. We are with you in this struggle." Perhaps the fact that another bituminous coal strike is anticipated next War Invention Used April had some effect, and the wage scale was raised in anticipation of the future to keep their slaves scabbing during that period and then cut

At any rate the mine is still left operating on a non-union basis, which means that with no union contract to "arson trust" is said to exist in this enables Gus to use only one cook protect the wage scale the wages may city. District Attorney Asa Keyes arbe reduced as suddenly as they were increased.

Rubber Workers Told of Necessity to Form Strong United Front

(By a Workers Correspondent.)

AKRON, O. Oct. 26.-At one of the largest mass meetings held this year by the Hungarian Workers Sick and Benefit society, an organizer of the Rubber Workers union gave a talk on he necessity of organization of rub ber workers. He spoke for about 15 minutes on the greed of the rubber baroons, and stressed the rawhide sys tem and wage cuts.

He pointed out that now is the time for all workers, regardless of race, creed or color to drop their prejudices and to organize into one union, showing the bosses a solid front. He finished up by stressing the point that thru organization, and organization only, can the workers ever expect to get shorter hours and higher wages

Prizes for Worker Correspondents!

The DAILY WORKER today is giving prizes to the three worker correspondents who have produced what are considered the best articles for this page this week. Every week, from now on, three prizes will be given to worker correspondents whose contributions during the week are considered "prize winners."

Every worker is urged to write up his or her experience in the shop, the factory, the mine and send them to the Worker Correspondents' Department of The DAILY WORKER. Write what happens that will be of general interest so that all of our readers can know what is happening in your industry.

"Write as you fight!" must be the slogan of every worker. Today's prize winners are:

First prize, "Romance of New Russia," by Magdalein Marx-"Roma," Moundsville, W. Va.

Second prize, "Awakening of China," by James H. Dolsen-Gray Stone, Los Angeles, California. Third prize, "My Flight from Siberia," by Leon Trotsky-Rufus P.

NEXT WEEK

The following are the prizes that are offered to the worker correspondents who send in the best stories between today and Nov. 3: First, "The Peasant War in Germany," by Friedrich Engels. A new book just off the press.

Second, "Red Cartoons." A book of over seventy cartoons by eighteen leading proletarian artists.

MANUFACTURERS OF MUSKEGON TO BAR EDDY TALK

Bring Pressure on "Y" Secretary

By a Worker Correspondent

MUSKEGON, Mich., Oct. 26.-Conerted efforts are being made here by the Muskegon Employers association, not as an official body but more insidiously, to prevent the visit to this ity of G. Sherwood Eddy under the suspices of the local Y. M. C. A. on Nov. 2 and 3.

Activities of Mr Eddy, international secretary for Asia of the Young Men's Christian Association, since his return from a recent visit to Soviet Russia and his admitted favoring of the recognition of Russia by the United States government are caus ng the opposition on the part of the ocal manufacturers altho they are too crafty to take any official action as a body.

Attempt Crops Out.

Opposition to Mr. Eddy's visit to Muskegon cropped out Friday in a noon luncheon meeting of local busitempted to get the organization to express their disapproval of the visit of the friend of Russia in a resoluion to be sent to the Y. M. C. A.

Secretary Leland S. Westerman, nead of the local Y. M. C. A. organzation who, with the president, Archie E. McCrea and the members of the board of directors, has approved of Eddy's coming and aranged a full schedule of seven pubic meetings for Nov. 2 and 3, was called yesterday to the office of Wa!er Poole, secretary of the Muskegon Employers' association.

WORKER WRITERS! JOIN CLASS IN WORKER CORRESPONDENCE, FRIDAY

INTENSIVE activity to develop and strengthen the worker correspondence movement in the Chicago district will be launched at the first meeting of the class in worker correspondence to be held Friday night, October 29, in the editorial rooms of The DAILY WORKER, third floor, 1113 W. Washington Blvd., Chicago, Illinois.

The class will meet weekly on Friday nights. The success of this class last year indicates that an excellent response can be expected during the fall, winter and spring terms that lie ahead. All phases of worker correspondence will be developed. The class will not only write for, but help edit The American Worker Correspondent, the publication of the worker writers of The DAILY WORKER.

The class will be under the general direction of J. Louis Engdahl, editor of The DAILY WORKER, assisted by Harry Kletzky, who supervises the Worker Correspondence Section of The DAILY WORKER.

Special lectures will be given from time to time, on the various phases of worker correpondence and on problems confronting the labor movement by the members of The DAILY WORKER editorial staff, including William F. Dunne, Thomas J. O'Flaherty, Harrison George and Thurber Lewis. Talks will also be given on such subjects as shop papers, wall papers, living newspapers as well as lessons in English by Jav Lovestone, M. A. Stolar and Nancy Markoff.

L. A. Capmakers Hold Strength in Sixth Week of Struggle

(By Worker Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Oct. 26 .-This is the sixth week since the Capnakers in one of the largest clothing shops in Los Angeles went out for recognition of their union. The Chicago Cap Manufacturing Company, 239 South Los Angeles St., is known as one of the bitterest enemies of the needle trades unions. The above place is the only shop that pays girls as low as nine dolairs a week, whereas the union scale provides sixteen dollars the first week and an increase every week till it reaches the minimum of twenty-five dollars. This wage is for lining makers and stitchers

The strike is being led by a strike committee which reports very enthusiastic response of the union, 95 per cent of the strikers having joined the union. There has been mass picketing every morning and evening.

The Red Squad has been on guard ever since the strike began and has made seven arrests, tho the charges have never been pressed. The industry is organized 85 per cent and there is every sign that the strikers will win their demands. The union members. who number over 100, have taxed themselves to help their striking brothers. The International has endorsed the strike.

PORT NEWARK, N. J .- (FP) -One hundred workers employed at the construction of Wyerhauser Timber Co. plant are striking with the support of the New Jersey state federation of labor because the contractor is not paying the prevailing union scale of wages throughout.

In this view struggle against President Chamorro, ship, that one can scarcely understand how, in this period of world reaction, any sane labor officialdom The liberals were deep ly resentful could seriously propose such a policy.

THE statement, after mentioning the gigantic combinations, embracing powerful capitalists of various nations, that are being formed with dizzy speed, says:

Even if these giant rings should temporarily affect the stabilization of wages in some industries, this would not mean the rational organization of the whole of production. bringing with it the general improvement of wages and working conditions which labor demands and is advocating in its program for the World Economic Conference, In this program the labor group demands that industrial rings SHALL BE CONTROLLED BY THE COM-BINED ACTION OF GOVERN-MENTS, CONSUMERS' AND LA-BOR ORGANIZATIONS. THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS AND THE INTERNATIONAL LABOR OF-FICE. (Emphasis mine.)

WHAT the I. F. T. U. leadership proposes is simply an appeal from Peter drunk to Peter sober or vice Capitalist governments compose the eague of nations, it is in addition in the hands of the most powerful national capitalist groups, and is their instrument. The International Labor Office is a creature of the league of nations. All the I. F. T. U. leaders are asking is an opportunity to be present when their masters make decisions. In other words they want to give some labor color to a obber's scheme and further confuse the European masses.

ANOTHER feature of the statement is its complete failure to point out that the "Pan-Europa" which they claim to see developing has as its major objective the organization of capitalist Europe for another offensive against the Soviet Union. The capitalists of Europe are faced y four dangers; One, the constantly increasing competition of the highly organized and nealthy American industry.

Two, the economic and political of nations which threatens the very ring, NOT to the magnificient soli- italists brings this issue home to us.

"The United States of Europe," or Pan-Europa" as Amsterdam puts it, is a purely capitalist slogan. That the Amsterdam International can put forward such a slogan without even mentioning the need for world trade unity -to say nothing of urging an immediate conference for the purpose of bringing it about—is proof of the suspicions long entertained by classconscious workers that the I. F. T. U leadership is nothing but an organized agency of capitalism in the ranks of the labor movement.

THE statement of the I. F. T. U. on L the British coal strike in connection with the rest of its statement on 'Pan-Europa" affords the strongest possible corroboration of the "business unionism" in co-operation with capitalists and capitalist governments which composes so large a part of the stock-in-trade of Amsterdam officialdom. I quote:

International labor would not wish to see Britain shut out of a United States of Europe, but the British employers in the present coal struggle are showing very plainly how far they are from grasping even the elementary principles which underlie the idea of a Pan-Europa. In the British coal industry, at least, THE WORKERS HAVE PROVED THAT THEY ARE WILLING AND EAGER TO DO THEIR PART IN MAKING EUROPE AN EFFECTIVE UNIT FROM THE POINT OF VIEW OF WORLD COMPETITION, WHILE THE EMPLOYERS PREFER TO RUIN THEIR COUNTRY AND WEAKEN EUROPE IN THE COAL MARKETS OF THE WORLD rather than give up their primitive ways of doing business and their fixed idea of breaking trade union resistance.
