President of The Workingmen's Co-operative Publishing Association

The rapid progress of the Fund last week reassured our creditors and employes that their claims would be fully satisfied if only we were given time in which to realize upon it. Even the PROS-PECT of success has helped.

But the slow progress this week is causing reaction. Creditors are again becoming uneasy. The help is unpaid and restless. The last one hundred dollars is coming aggravatingly and discourageingly slow. IT LOOKS AS THOUGH WE SHALL NOT BE ABLE TO REAP THE ADVANTAGE OF THE $500 AL-READY PLEDGED ($26,000 for the year, less such reduction as may come from the reduction of the deficit) BECAUSE OF THE LACK OF THE REMAINING $100. CERTAINLY THE PLEDGE COMMITTEE WILL NOT CALL FOR A SINGLE PENNY UNTIL WE HAVE AT LEAST $600 PLEDGED, WHICH MEANS, TO BE PERFECTLY CANDID, THAT THE CALL IS IN DANGER OF BEING STRANGLED AT ANY MOMENT BY SOME IMPATIENT CREDITOR.

With this Fund pledged, there will be a new atmosphere, surcharged with new determination to see The Call as firmly established as the basaltic base of the everlasting rocks; a new enthusi-

CODINGTON CONVICTED

Somerset County Lawyer Guilty of Appropriating Moners of Warren

SOMERVILLE, N. J., March 10.—
Charged with illegally obtaining money from the treasury of Warren township while counsel and clerk of that municipality. Horace Codington, a well-known lawyer of Somerset county, was convicted in the Somerset Court here today. He will be sentenced tomorrow.
Codington's conviction is the result of the unusual activities of an odd organization of mountaineers known as "The Circle on the Square." Horace Codington and his brother, Joel Codington, who was treasurer of Warren township, conspired to appropriate the funds of that municipality to their use and the township became bankrupt as the result of their pull on the treasury.

"The Circle on the Square" organiza-tion got busy and twenty-five of its members succeeded in bringing about the inquiry.

Here is a conversation, verbatim, that took place over The Call telephone at 1 o'clock last night: "Hello! Is this The Call?

"Yes." This is the New York Herald."

"All right."
"We have a report here that The Call has suspended publication. Is that true?" "Not a damu bit of it. We're go-ing to buy the Herald out next week."

"Going to buy the Herald?"

"Well, we are debating whether to buy the Herald or the World."

"Ha, ha, ha. That's a good one."

"Well, it's grue. You cable to Jim Bennett that if he wants to sell the Herald to take the matter up with me personally. The Call isn't wants to sell the sellonger of the sellon going to suspend tomorrow or any other day. This is going to be the biggest paper in New York in six more months. You keep your eye on The Call and watch it grow."

"All right, Call. Good luck to you. Good night."

Commissioner Tompkins Says That the Refuses to Be Drawn Into Dispute Staten Island Ferry Can Be Run at a Profit.

Political circles were upset yesterday then it was learned that Con of the Docks and Ferries Calvin Tomp kins was determined to make furthe reductions in the number of employer working on the Staten Island ferries of the municipal service. Sixty-one em ployes, men and women, had been dis charged the day before in an attemp of the commissioner to reduce the de ficit under which the ferry is being operated. Last year this deficit amount ed to over a million dollars, and the discharge of these employes will re duce this deficit over $60,900 a year.

"The only reason that the sixty-on employes of the Staten Island munici pal ferry who were discharged yester day by commissioner Tompkins were not forced to resign before, is on ac H. T. Between Street Railway Company and Its Employes.

TRENTON, N. J., March 16 .- After trying with indifferent success to operate its cars in the face of the strike which began last night, the Trenton Street Railway abandoned its efforts at five o'clock this afternoon and recalled the few cars then running. Although the day passed off quietly enough the company was apparently fearful of violence from the start. No attempt was made to run cars until 7 o'clock in the morning, when most of the factory hands had started for work and the company would take no chances of violence when the hands were discharged in the evening. trying with indifferent success to oper

General Manager Peter E. Hurley asked Mayor Madden during the afternoon whether it would be advisable to try and run the cars at night. The mayor replied shortly that he supposed that was what they were for. He declined to assume any responsibility for suspending the service, holding that the police were fully capable of prescripts order.

mayor replied shortly that he supposed that was what they were for. He declined to assume any responsibility for suspending the service, holding that the police were fully capable of preserving order.

The company did not attempt to cover the entire route, running the cars for only a distance of about a mile from the city hall and then switching them back. All the police of the city were put on duty, though Chief Miner said he had found no disposition on the part of the strikers to resort to violence and did not anticipate any serious trouble. The public generally took the strike good naturedly, notwithstanding that the cab service was entirely inadequate to meet the demands made upon it, and many were compelled to walk to and from their work.

A number of the strikers went to an attached in the strike within the next fifteen days unless a settlement is fifteen days unless for prelimination in the strike in Philadelphia. The committee of nine appointed cards with the inscription: "I walk; union forever."

The company started thirteen cars in the morning. By noon seven of the crews had quit and joined the union. By 4 o'clock in the afternoon the number of cars in service, was down to two and the company then abandoned the service.

One of the motormen who had struck when the others struck halted his car at State and Broad streets and, in the presence of a large crowd, stepped off it and tramped to the union headquarters. He was loudly cheered and an inspector took the car to the barn. Two cars were left by their crews, one in South Broad street and the other in Perry streef. The men joined the union and the cars were taken back to the barn.

The company has been paying 184.

The company has been paying 1816 cents an hour. When the men demanded a raise the company offered 26 cents, but the men ask 23 cents. They are willing to submit all the points in dis-

Electric Railway Workers, arrived at noon and have taken charge of the strike.

Mayor Madden sent a letter to the general manager of the trolley company tonight calling attention to a city ordinance of 1804 requiring the trolley company to run its cars according to a fixed schedule, under a penalty of $50 for each violation. The mayor declared that if the company did not make a bonn fide effort to comply with the terms of the claims had the power to give out positions.

"Of course, the private corporations have been active in denouncing the reduction of the working force on the ferries. That is only to be expected, and I think that I may have some trouble from that source in the way of their spreading propaganda against any form of municipal ownership."

Yesterday afternon two of the mast trois who were discharged by the commissioner called on Mayor Gaynor at the city hall and protested against being laid off for the sake of economy.

"If it would be impossible to keep order among the crowds during the summer time. Commissioner Tongkins will find out that he has made a great mistake in trying to save a little money at the expense of the passengers."

VIENNA. March 10 .- Dr. Carl Lueger, the anti-Semite leader and Burgo. master of Vienna, died this morning.

Lueger was a graduate of the Vienna university and practiced law up to the time of his election as mayor of Vienna in 1895. In 1895 he was elected to the lower Austrian house as a representative of his party. When he was elected mayor of Vienna confirmation of the result was opposed by the administration, and it was only after a long contest that he was legally declared elected. Lueger was much hated by the Social Democratic party in Austria, which considered him its greatest enemy.

He made a number of rabid ad-

At Fotterall Square the people, somewhat weakened by Taylor's tactics, paused to wreck more cars. Licutenant Kenny, at the head of a squad of Brownies, sailed into the car smashers. The negro policemen showed a yellow streak. They held back when Kenny rushed. He turned and damned them for cowardice. They showed their white teeth in grins. Kenny sprang at two of them and bumped their heads together. The rest decided that it would be safer.

Some of these were badly battered and bruised, but they stuck stubbornly to the march. Taylor had drawn an imaginary line across Broad street at that point, and the instructions to the police were to let nobody pass it. Here was the last of the encounters. It was also the worst.

The Last Battle of the Day.

Details from stations nearby were rushed to the scene on horse and in automobiles. Fifty mounted cops galloped up Broad street from the city hall. And right in front of the Cen-tral High School the final movement of the police which was successful in destroying the integrity of the crowd destroying the integrity of the crowd took place. It was simply an on-slaught. There was no attempt by the men and women to fight back. High school pupils watched the ugly sight from the windows of their buildings.

LEAVES $5,000 TO

HAVERHILL. Mass., March 10.—
Through the death of Elizabeth C. Bradley, which occurred on February 10, the cause of Socialism will receive about $5,000.

According to her will, filed in the Probate Court, it appears that after leaving $1,000 to the Plaistow, N. H., public library for the purchase of liberal literature, and $4,000 divided among nine heirs, the residue of the estate is given to Rev. George E. Littlefield, of Westwood, and Ralph E. Gardner, of this city, to be used by them "to help the cause of what is now called Socialism, either in the publication of a progressive literature or in works that will tend toward the same end."

Glavis' Counsel Introduces Evidence Tending to Connect Secretary with Cunningham Coal Claiments

WASHINGTON, March 10 .- The Ballinger-Pinchot investigation turned again today to the alleged activity of Ballinger in behalf of the Cunningham coal claimants.

When the committee adjourned for the day Louis Brandeis, counsel for Glavis, had introduced evidence in-tended inferentially to connect Ballinger with the several steps taken by claimants to get their claims cleared-listed.

One of the Cunningham affidavits when spread upon the record alongside the testimony given recently by representatives of the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate before the Senat-Committee on Territories, drew from Representative Madison the statement that if the affidavit did not constitute violation of the laws of the United States it was a high time a new per-states it was a night time a new per-jury statute was enacted.

Former Secretary Garrield of the Interior Department was on the stand for a greater part of the day. Reviewing the connection between the Cunningham claims and the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate, Brandeis showed that the Cunninghams first gave an option on their coal claim the syndicate on July 20, 1907 that the option was exercised on December 7, 1907; that the coal claims were clear-listed on Dec. 26, 1907, although the clear-listing, was suspended in January following upon re ceipt of a telegram of protest from Glavis; that an affidavit was prepared Glavis; that an affidavit was prepared by the Cunninghams on Sept. 4, 1908. SIX BAKERS' STRIKE and that this affidavit was presented to Secretary Garfield upon Sept. 17 of the same year.

This affidavit was one that had been amended by Ballinger to overcome objections to a previous affidavit which had been taken by Glavis. A portion of the first affidavit read:

We have an understanding that when the patents had been secured we would form a company for the development of the coal fields, but none of the claims was taken up for the benefit of a corporation, but merely with the idea that when titles were secured we we own claims and work the coal fields

A portion of the amended affidavit as presented to Secretary Garfield

"That no combination or joint in terest by way of corporate interests or otherwise was contemplated which would result either directly or indirectly in parting with title or any interest in any of said entries."

Glavis's lawyer then introduced inmony taken recently before the Sen-ate Committee on Territories. That testimony was to the effect that at the time the second affidavit was the Cunninghams and accepted by Daniel Guggenheim on behalf of the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate.

Charge of Turning Over Wagon with Scab Bread Believed by Magistrate O'Conner

Magistrate O'Connor in Harlem Court resterday fined Max Greenberg, David Eichner, Morris Feigenbaum, Isadore Schipatin, Max Schapiro and Hymar Rubin $5 each on the charge of taking part in a fight between strike sympathisers and strikebreakers in the employ of Elias Gottfried, 175 East 2d street and turning over a wagon with bread being delivered by strikebreakers.

Max Kazimirsky, organizer of the bakers union, last night denied the statement printed in the capitalist papers that the strike sympathizers, after the bakers after the bakers after the bakers. turning the wagon over, threw kero zene on the bread and rolls. All these reports were untrue. He said:

"Early this morning while Abraham Goldbloom, secretary of Local 305, was going with a committee of the union to visit grocery stores and request them not to buy Gottfried's bread, they were Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate.

"When Cunningham swore that there was no option on these claims, that was a false statement, was it not?" asked Representative James.

"I think so," replied Garfield.

"If that is not perjury under our statutes," remarked Mr. Madison, "then we ought to have statutes which make it perjury."

The amended affidavit, according to Garfield, was presented to him at his arrested.

At the time the fire broke out, there were twenty horses, about a dozen warding vans on the ground floor. All of these were taken out.

On the ground floor was J. P. Heath, J. P. Heath, Jr., and Howard Heath, members of the firm which occupies the building. At the first alarm they, with the assistance of neighbors, got out the horses and automobiles.

Adjoining the structure is a six-story apartment house which faces Park average of the firm which occupies the building. At the chants were ordered out by the police and firemen and four streams of water were played from the roofs and windows. On the other side of the building, 116-118 East 63d street, is a four-story building, and the tenants were ordered out.

retary of State John Hay will be slammed in our faces. In mis opinion it is a banker's war that blackens the diplomatic horizon, and the citizens at large have mighty little interest in the outcome of the wrangle.

"It looks as though China, Russia and Japan had all got together," said Harrison today commenting on the latest developments in the Oriental situation, "and as they are all Mongolians, Russia as well as the other two, it is not to be wondered at that they have done so. If we were in England's shoes we might go to war over the shoes we might go to war over the thing, for England fights for her trade. The stake is not worth while for us to do so. POLICE "PROTECTION"

Atlantic City, Washington, St. Louis and New York Have the Greatest Amount of It.

WASHINGTON, March 10 .- Inter sting facts concerning the police in the 158 largest cities in the United States, each having a population of over 30,000 in 1937, are comprehensively assembled in the U. S. Cen sus Bureau's special annual report or the statistics of American cities for that year which is now in press.

The police protection afforded the inhabitants of different cities is indicated by showing the number of police per 10,000 inhabitants, per 1,000 acres of land area, and per 100 miles of improved streets.

It is stated that the number of police to each unit increases with the size of the city. In cities of over 300,000 population, the number of police per 10,000 inhabitants was 19.4 as compared with only 10.5 in cities of from 30,000 to 50,000 population. The cities with the greatest protection according to this unit of measure were Atlantic City (25.1), Washington (23.4), St. Louis (23.2) and New York (21.5).

The compensation of patrolmer was much larger in the cities of over 300,000 population than in the smaller cities. The average annual pay of patrolmen, in cities of over York ($1,228), and lowest in New Or-leans ($780) and Buffalo ($900); in cities of from 100,000 to 300,300 pop ulation it was highest in Portland, Oregon ($1,200), and Newark ($1,176), and lowest in Grand Rap-Newark classes ids, Mich. ($796), and St. Paul Committee ($858); in cities of from 50,000 to amendment. 100,000 population it was highest in Oakland, Cal. ($1,200) and Houston, SWITCHMEN NEED THE MONEY.

ALBANY, March 10.—That provoking question which so ruffled Richard Croker that he shook the dus of Amer-Croker that he shook the dus of America from his feet and expatriated himself to Ireland—"Where did you get it?",—is troubling Senator John P. Allds just now. Attorney Osborne, who is doing the probing on the part of Senator Ben Conger, who says he paid Alids a bribe to look after bridge legislation for him, is delving into the Allds bank account.

to look after bridge legislation for him, is delving into the Allds bank account. Allds is bearing up nobly under the irritating crossfire. He wipes a little cold perspiration from his face occasionally, érosses his legs and recrosses them, shifts around in the witness chair, looks at his attorney, looks around the senate chamber, looks at Osborne, takes a peep once in awhile at Ben Cohger and is altogether as comfortable as a lobster in hot water.

Osborne had some data to show that

Osborne had some data to show that Allds, in May, 1991, made large deposits with his brokers in New York city, which could not be readily traced to their source. Allds, however, explains that about that time he sold some securities belonging to his mother and sister and used this money. The coincidence is that it was about April 23 he is alleged to have received the bribe. I was May 2 that be deposited $4,000 with Colgate & Co., his New York bankers. Half of this came from withdrawals from Allds' several bank accounts. The other $2,000 Allds was utterly unable to account for

to account for.

"Where did you get that $2.000 in cash within ten days after the adjournment of the legislature?" asked Osborne.

Allds was not sure that it was all cash. Anyway, he could not remember Numerous other deposits within the past ten years his memory had slipped on altogether. But since the adjournment Wednesday he had gathered some information on the purchase of that New York Transportation stock. It had been bought for him by Frank J. Price and he paid for it in two installments, $500 in April and $730.70 in July. Allds denied knowing anything about the bill of that year which would increase the value of this technical control of the control of this stock and that he voted for the of this stock and that he voted for the bill at a time that he owned some of the stock. Despite the fact that Osborne showed him copies of newspapers de-nouncing the bill, he maintained his de-mial of having any knowledge of it. having any knowledge of it at the time he bought the stock and voted for the bill.

Allds also explained that he got the moneys he deposited in such large $2,000, $4,000, etc., from clients. But he never kept any books as a lawyer, only a record of money paid out on be-half of clients.

After the recess, Littleton, by agreement with Osborne, called Cashier Gale, of the First National Bank of Grooten Gale admitted that Hiram G. Moe, pre vious to his resignation from the bank to become private secretary to the Congers, was overdrawn in his account to the amount of $1,900. Littleton wished this to go on the record to show that Moe was under great obligation to the Congers at the time of the alleged bribery, and he will attempt to show that this overdraft was responsible for Moe leaving the bank.

John J. Hanlon, a clerk in the auditing division of the Department of Finance, who lives in Flushing and was appointed to the office on March 9, 1908, was removed from office yesterday by order of Controller Pren dergast.

TICKETS FOR BIG FIGHT COME HIGH

According to the plans of the pro-moters the prices for the Jeffries-Johnson fight tickets will range from $10 to $100. So many application for seats at any old prices have been received by Tex Rickard and Jack Gleason that by the first of next month it will be decided to provide a seating capacity on the Emeryville racetrack for more than 30,000 persons. Even this estimate of the p able attendance may be increased as the time for the fight approaches but it is hard for conservative figh promoters to believe that more than 5.000 individuals will see the mill.

While, plans for the huge have not yet been drawn, it is probable that there will be at least 15,000 seats at $10, located around the edge of the enclosure. It is also though that 10,000 seats, nearer the ring, will be sold at a $25 tariff, with many more reserved chairs, exclusive of private boxes, at $50 each. Box seats, it is reported, will bring $100 each, the holder being within a few feet of the ropes.

Optimists who feel sure that this high scale of prices will not keep people away are willing to estimate the gross receipts at $500,000. But experienced fight managers, in many instances, say such prices will no be paid by the sporting public and as a result, the crowd will not come up to expectations; also that if the romoters cover expenses, which wil amount to more than $175,000, including the purse, they will be exremely fortunate. Promoters who believe in popular prices say Rickard and Gleason fixed a sliding scale from $5 to $25, and provided 35,000 seats they would stand a ter chance for making big money, for excessive.

FRIDAY, MARCH 11,

LABOR AROUSED.

Whatever the final outcome of the great struggle of our brothers in Philadelphia against the vicious and corrupt combination of corporate capital and city government, one great result has already been achieved.

Labor throughout the country is being stirred as it has not been stirred in many a year.

The enchanted giant is being aroused from his long sleep. One after another the hosts of labor are being marshalled against the common enemy. To the aid of the sorely pressed carmen comes the entire force of labor in the city. And not only organized labor but the unorganized also. The men of the Midvale Steel Works, of the Baldwin Locomotive Works-mighty fortresses of capitalistic absolutism-are joining their brothers battling for the right to organize and restrain capitalistic exploitation.

The convention of the Pennsylvania State Federation has pledged the active aid of organized labor throughout the great state even to the limit of a state-wide general strike.

The battle has already extended beyond the borders of the Keystone State. In Camden and Trenton and other points in New Jersey the workers are battling for themselves as well as for their brothers in Philadelphia.

Even in the streets of this city there are visible signs of the great brotherhood of the working people. Hundreds and thousands on their way home from work, as they pass the organ with the carmen's sign, contribute of their poverty for the benefit of their fighting comrades.

This fight, whatever its immediate outcome, cannot be lost.

It is contributing mightily toward the spread of organization among those who have been hitherto unorganized. It serves to rouse and implant in the breasts of thousands the idea of working class solidarity throughout the nation. And it may yet come to signify the beginning of a great political movement of the working class having for its object nothing less than the overthrow of capitalist power in state and nation.

LABOR'S UNREST.

The Philadelphia carmen's strike has apparently produced results altogether out of proportion to the cause.

There have been as many carmen's strikes as there are cities in this country. Several of them have been attended by disturbances of greater or less extent and duration. Many of them have ended with the crushing of the men's unions and the establishment of capital's absolute sway over the men.

Yet none of those strikes had more than a local or temporary effect. The men fought in isolation. They won or, as was more frequently the case, lost in isolation. And whether they won or lost, the labor movement as a whole apparently remained unaffected by the outcome

Undoubtedly the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company-the financial wire-pullers as well as their political puppets-are surprised at the general strike. That factor did not at all enter into their calculations when they deliberately forced the strike upon the carmen. But neither did it enter into the calculations of the car-

How, then, shall we account for this entirely unexpected development-this rushing of the great mass of Philadelphia's workers to the aid of the carmen, and the readiness of thousands throughout the state of Pennsylvania, and even beyond its borders, to join in the fray?

There is but one answer. Labor was chafing for a fight. It was growing restless under the timid and vacillating leadership that led to disaster after disaster, a leadership that shrank from battle like a beaten cur, a leadership that achieved victories only at the loaded banquet tables of the Civic Federation.

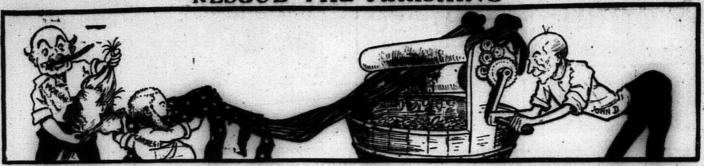

Labor was chafing for a fight. It was eager to match its strength and endurance against the strength and endurance of its oppressors. It was tired of injunctions and anti-labor decisions, of seeing one weapon after another of offense and defense taken out of its hands. of seeing itself reduced to political and economic helplessness, of witnessing the annual decimation of its ranks by countless massacres in mines, factories, and railways, of submitting without resistance to wage reductions, of lowering its standard of living in obedience to the dictates of the food monopolists. The burden was growing ever more intolerable. Labor's patience was near its end. Hence this most unexpected and truly marvellous exhibition of a resolute and united working class come to the assistance of a few thousand carmen

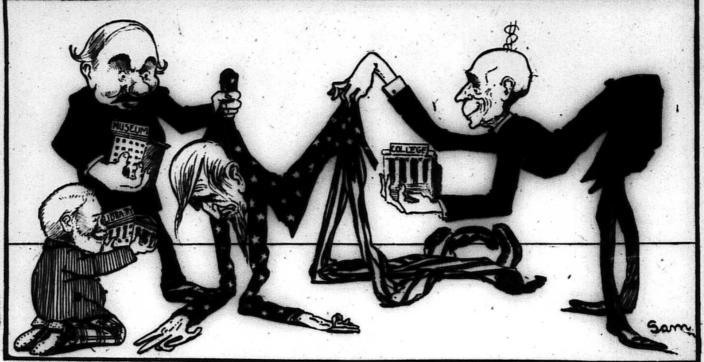

It is to be hoped that the official and accredited leaders of labor will take this lesson to heart. Otherwise they are sure to be displaced and left in the rear of the masses pushing forward to do battle for economic and political freedom, for a brighter life for themselves, and a glorious future for their children.

The workers of Philadelphia were not permitted to hold a meeting even on private grounds. Mr. Gompers. President of the American Federation of Labor! Is the right of assemblage one of those political rights that, according to you, are absolutely secure in this country?

The lovers of freedom and progress throughout the world rejoice at the acquittal of Nicholas Tchaikovsky. Their hatred of the Russian autocracy is intensified by the conviction and sentence to exile of Mme. Breshkovsky, that noble fighter for Russian freedom, who had tasted in her early youth the bitterness of exile in Siberia.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A VOICE OF WARNING. Editor of The Call:

In 1900 the vote of the Socialist party vas 87,814. (World Almanac.) In the Presidential election of 1904 it rose to 402,283. This is an increase of over 350 per cent. The debilitating effects produced upon the Comrades was soon apparent. They proceeded to indulge in the wildest speculations. The final goal was now within measurable distance. While the election returns were coming in, one Comrade of long standing in the party wrote on the large blackboard: "I predict the Co-operative Commonwealth for 1912." He signed his name with all the air of authority as if he had receive the information direct from the Almighty and it was accepted with that reverence and it was accepted with that reverence which attaches to all superstitions. It resolved itself into a simple problem in arithmetic. Keep up the ratio for another four years and you get so many. Multiply again and you have the Co-operative Commonwealth. It was a question of per cent which any schoolboy could abolished will have a controlled to the cont

Alas for the sequel! With its coming all these delusions were swept away. Many of the Comrades recoiled from the blow as badly as any of the victims of 500 per cent Miller. After chanting the praises of some beautiful Utopia, they refused to sing any more and hung their harps on a willow tree. By the rivers of Babylon they sat and wept.

An increase of this size is too rapid to be healthy. If it were not that the Socialist party stands on the basis of an

So the best I can do is fight.

There you have it—my knowledge of my own condition and the condition of millions of my fellow workingmen is what holds me to the Socialist party and resolves me not only to continue fighting.
