OTTAWA, Ontario, Nov. 29 .- The Canadian department of justice is being flooded with protests against the extradition of Fedorenko, the GHTS ON HIS TOUR Russian revolutionist, who are on an ostensible charge of murder.

The question of his extradition is to be settled here by the minister of ustice, Mr. Aylesworth.

The Russian state officials have forwarded here records showing, it is alleged, that Fedorenko is "a most dangerous criminal."

Fedorenko's friends here know that he is not the man referred to in the records sent here by the Russian government, which shows a man of he same name to have been the leader of a band that is said to have infested a certain district in Russia Besides the accusation that he was a bandit, the Russian official papers purport to show that he killed two policemen, murdered a priest, slev several peasants and engaged in high way robberies.

Alleged confessions of Fedorenko' "fellow bandits" are also produced and every effort is being brought to bear on the department of justice to hand Fedorenko over to Russia.

Interest in the case is becoming widespread. Fedorenko's friends realzing that his plight is desperate.

Without in any way traversing the merits of the dispute be-tween the newspaper pressmen of Denver and those publishers now employing strikebreakers, we want to observe here that the "open shop" movement amongst the employers of skilled labor has proved more than once to be a two-edged sword of unexpected keenness. Establish the "open shop" as a general condition and organized labor will be driven inorganized abor will be driven in-evitably from unionism to poli-tics. That specific result of the "open shop" in the skilled crafts has not, we fear, been fully con-sidered. The tendency amongst men of allied interests and com-mon callings to organize is a hu-man tendency: it is a result of man tendency; it is a result of man tendency; it is a result of a primordial, gregarious instinct. Dissatisfied With Result.

When the conference ended and the result was announced, there was much dissatisfaction among the messengers. So, at 11 closel, they sain unit work. Nearly every boy atthered to the main office, 15th and Chestnut streets, walked out, and five minutes later there were no boys in the place to take a message. The strikers did not linger about the office. Instead, they walked down Chestnut street in groups.

At different streets they scattered, soing to the Western Union's branch offices in an effort to swell their ranks. Later a number of boys attached to branch offices went out.

When the crowd went to the office at 116 Vine street the boys there refused to quit. The widows of the place were smashed in with clubs and stones. Two mounted policemen rode up, but made no arrests as the boys had fied.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 .- Determined to end, if possible, the strike of 49,000 gar-ment workers, which for six weeks has kept the Chicago police busy, and through which 100,000 persons are said to be suffering for the necessaries of life, the city council today, through a committee, is taking a hand in the affair. Headed by Mayor Busse, the committee will make an effort to bring the strikers and their employers into a conference, with a view of "forcing" peace. Whether they will succeed in their object is admittedly doubtful. The "closed shop" issue is the striking point. On this both sides of the controversy have so far been inferrible.

SUNDAY CALL

DECEMBER 4

In spite of the extended notice given of each forthcoming Sunday Call, readers always expect more than is announced. Usually the intellectual feast is more bountiful and generous than even the most sanguine expect. Although the announcement for next Sunday shows what a really transettions mumber will be published, yet it does not tell all. But you are sure of the following articles—AND MORE.

Leonid Andriev, Russia's greatest realist, surpassed himself in this novel. Theresa Malkiel has retained its wonderful force in putting it into English. And The Sunday Call, possibly alone of all papers in the country, dares publish it.

By George Allan England. A striking, stirring social study of our Tankee "peasants." A daring, powerful story, written in a manner as big as the subject itself.

By Emanuel Julius. Here is the account of something being done NOW. This organization was launched by workingmen; it is officered by workingmen; through the article you get a hint of what workingmen can do.

It is a splendid speech this great man and great Socialist delivered at the Congress, and Hugo Kinney, who made the translation, rose to his opportunity and did a fine piece of work.

Robert Rives LaMonte is now in Europe, and he has been putting in weeks of serious research on this subject. No man is better equipped for the task, and The Sunday Call readers are to get the benefit.

Will contain a Report, by Clara Zetkin, and a Reply to Richard Barry, by Agnes Downing.

By Mary S. Oppenhelmer. A really exquisite little titerary study of three of the most interesting women that ever figured in the world of letters.

Well, rather! Humorous once, dramatic once, serious once. All kinds of good once for all kinds of intelligent readers. The Sunday Call has a high reputation in that department and will maintain it.

DIAZ AND THE PRESS.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30.

Judging from the latest press dispatches, the uprising against the dictatorship of Diaz has not yet been entirely extinguished. and the revenues of the city during Nevertheless the dictator appears to have recovered from the first rude shock. He is now in the mood to publish official statements intended to reassure foreign powers, and chiefly the foreign capi-

For it is primarily foreign capitalists, or to be more exact, international high finance, that all the worst tyrants of our time are leaning upon. The main prop of modern militarism is this international high finance, which controls the great iron and steel works and shipbuilding industries as well as the great banks, and derives profits from the sale of armaments by sea and land as well as interest and brokerage fees from the sale of bonds. It was this international high finance that furnished Bloody Nicholas with the means for crushing the widespread revolt of the Russian people. And it is this international high finance that is the mainstay of the dictatorship of

It is, therefore, extremely "distressing" that the American press, largely controlled by high finance, "should publish sensational and exaggerated news which tends to cause alarm in the money markets and to do damage to business." But in his distress the dictator may console himself with the reflection that that part of the press which is controlled by the great American "radical" and "reformer," W. R. Hearst, has carefully refrained from publishing "sensational and exaggerated news" of the uprising in Mexico. The self-restraint, the prudent moderation exercised by the Hearst newspapers in this matter is all the more noteworthy and laudable in view of the fact that "sensational and exaggerated news" is the stock in trade of these newspapers. The Hearst magazine, the Cosmopolitan, has been equally friendly to Diaz and considerate of his feelings.

The kindliness toward him of the Hearst press should prove a real consolation to the Mexican tyrant. It is not every tyrant that can boast of the support of a great "reformer" and "radical," and particularly an American one.

THE CHURCHES AND MILITARISM.

President Schurmann, of Cornell University, has commended Socialists for "protesting everywhere against this militarism." And he added: "If all the branches of the Christian Church throughout America and Europe protested against it with equal emphasis, I believe the statesmen of the great powers would either find a solution of the problem or give up thir jobs."

President Schurmann is quite mistaken. The unanimous and universal protests of all the churches, Christian and non-Christian, against militarism would not prevent the outbreak of a single war, would not reduce the strength of the standing armies and navies by a single man or instrument of destruction, and would not disturb the slumbers of a single "statesman."

In fact, the Christian churches have been preaching peace to all men these nineteen centuries past. But these preachings have not influenced the "statesmen" in the least. Whereas the protests of the Socialists against militarism have already produced marvelous effects, and these effects are destined to grow more marvelous with the spread of Socialist ideas and the increase in powr of Socialist parties

The reason for this difference is quite simple. Socialists everywhere are not content with preaching merely against militarism as such. Socialists everywhere recognize militarism and war as the products, not of the evil propensities of men, but of the private or capitalist ownership of the means of production and the consequent international rivalries and competition for the control of the world's markets. Socialists therefore know that militarism and wars will not be put an end to until capitalism itself has been put an end to, and their propaganda against militarism is only a part of their general tablishment of a modern and scienpropaganda for the overthrow of the capitalist social order. And tific system for determining the exit is the continual extension and growth in power of the international act cost of all materials, work and the city. Socialist organization that will ultimately force the "statesmen" to "give up their jobs" and give the nations themselves a chance to organize their relations with one another in an amicable, peacful

The churches, however, have always proceeded from the assump tion that it is the inherently evil nature of man which is the cause of all the evil in society-poverty and misery, exploitation and oppression, standing armies and wars. The churches have therefore addressed themselves to the reformation of the individual, whether "statesman" or beggar. With what success, it is superfluous to state Suffice it to say that in the next war that may break out in spite of all the efforts of the Socialists, the churches of each of the nations involved will still be found offering prayers to the Lord of Hosts for victory to their own national arms.

THE SLAVERY OF THE SEAS.

On land the actual slavery of the workers is continued under various disguises. On the seas, however, this slavery is flaunted bold, naked, and unashamed.

A British ship has arrived at the port of New York. The crew of that ship must have been treated with exceptional harshness and brutality, for at Gibraltar some twenty of her Lascar (East Indian) crew refused to go with her further. By hook or by crook-the shameful methods for recruiting sailors ought to be more widely known-Spaniards were induced to replace the Lascars. But these also "mutinled" on the way here, no reasons given. The officers used firearms against them, and they have been brought here in chains.

Such is the slavery sailors are forced to endure. Civilized society appears to be one huge conspiracy to hold the sailors in subjection and to deprive them of the rights accorded to men in all other occupations and walks of life. And yet it would seem to be the especial duty of organised labor in this city, and in all other cities similarly situated, to stand guard over the rights of the sailors, to secure the release of men held to forced labor, and to inflict just sunishment on the cruel captain, or the company that employes him.

In other words, whatever finan the present time are due entirely to Democratic administration under the laws has no power whatever either to mprove or change these condition until next year. And, furthermore, the city finances will continue to affect the ity for years to come, and can only gradually be corrected.

However, the present administration is taking a number of very importan steps in the determination to improve these conditions. And it is believed that this policy, if followed, will in the course of a few years put the city on an absolutely sound and scientific ists in Milwaukee insist that theirs is the only program that can finance the city efficiently.

Among the financial measures being dvanced by the Socialists, and which of the city and the laws of the state

1. Very rigid and carefully consideconomics. For example, the controller reports that during the first six months of the Socialist administration the expenditures of the city were on an average $22,000 per month less than under preceding administrations. Then again, the reorganization of the purchasing department has systematized the city buying in such a way as to have efdollars of saving. A number of unhave been dispensed with, thus saving several thousands more. Several very graft schemes have been blocked that have saved the city in one case alone over $30,000. A number of fake damage suits against the city have been beaten and thus the city saved still other thousands of The total of these savings will not be less than $100,000 per

2. But still more important, the present administration is going after the tax dodgers. It is well known that in every city thousands, and, perhaps millions of dollars' worth of property scape taxation. The administration has already at work a special commitee with tax experts, by means o which they propose to readjust the as the corporations and the rich to pay their just share of taxes. It is not a all impossible, as shown by the ex perience of other cities through the use of the Somers system, that in this way two or three hundred million brought under assessment which now revenue of the city from taxation alone would be increased by hundreds of thousands of dollars per year,

Another important financial ernment. This is called the unit sys em. All efficient business organizations are using this system. Milwaykee is the only city in America so far

THAN THE STRUGGLE FOR A LIVING.

By REV. ROLAND D. SAWYER.

We are all familiar with the frequency with which unemployed and homeles make application to be sent during the winter months to some county jail, in or der that they may have a warm place and something to eat where they would otherwise starve. Ofttimes they find it necessary to commit some petty crime to ecure this boon. But now comes John G. Convict Farr says, "No one regrets t years ago in a moment of hasty passion. I feel also that my twenty-nine years here has been a reasonable atonement at least, But I know the world outside, how little it has to offer a man like me. Why should I want again to take up the strugand jealousies innumerable." Here is man, evidently of intelligence, and a when thousands are homeless and starvsome time there will be a world in which the economic side of life will be rationally organized. #### WENDELL PHILLIPS. Editor of The Call:

Permit me to call the attention of The Call's readers to the fact that November 28 is the ninety-ninth asniversary of the birth of Wendell Philips, America's first Socialist. Wendell Phillips is best known as the great orator of the movement to abolish chattel slavery. It is not gen-erally known that in 1871 he ran for governor of Massachusetts, nominated by the labor party on a platform written by him and substantially the same as the Socialist platform of to-day. It is true that the Marxian day. It is true that the Marxian phraseology was not known in this country at that time, and it is also true that Phillips did not see the cooperative commonwealth as his goal otherwise than very vaguely.

But let us not quibble. Wendeil Phillips belongs to the Socialist movement. He belongs to the Into movement, whether consciously Socialist or not, as truly as any of its accepted heroes. Let those who care to find out more about him purchase "Wendeil Phillips" by Franklin H. Wentworth (Fearless Books—I), from the Socialist Literature Company, 15 Spruce street, Price, ten cents. It can also be had from The Call office or the Rand school.

Next year will be the centenary of Wendeil Phillips.

I write this letter in no spirit of hero-worship, but merely to call the attention of the Comrades to one who ought to be thought of as a pioneer of our movement and as a great cearer of our standard.
