NOTES AND COMMENTS.

ANDREW CARNEGIE is out in an interview on the negro "problem" which is characteristic of the hero of Homestead. He is quoted in part as follows:

"What would Britain give for nine million men as placable, as lovable, as I contend the negro is? The negroes give us 11,000,000 bales of cotton every year and by their labor in the South give us a monopoly in this staple that makes us powerful all over the world."

If there is anything that promotes the security of profits and gives "placable" wage slaves to produce them and it escapes the vigilance or the profit mon-diplomatic masters, who, while stating tocrats, but of "good citizens" to cut out ger, we would like to know what it is. We doubt whether there exists another example of such profound observance of "religious" scruples as that displayed by this local skinner. The religion of the profit and interest mongers has its source in common with their "patriotism," that is, in their pocket-book. CHORUS-Home, home, sweet, sweet home: Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home.

How each man had his home, in those sweet days of yore, We ne'er shall forget, though we tramp evermore: The rich man has gathered the fruits of our hands, And holdern the titles to all our broad lands.

Is he blind, or are his eyes bandaged? And how did it happen that Mr. Parry did not start his "show" long ago?

So long as pure and simple labor unionism prevailed Mr. Parry was as silent and obscure as a cricket at noontide. Not a chirrup broke the stillness. But when unionism began to spell Socialism, Parry loomed up, and the greatest "show" on earth was organized.

Parry's "show" is, of course, a blindwith decoy "citizens" as Cleveland uses

It is necessary to say that but supplied the foundation upon which

The capitalist class exploit the workimminent danger of Socialism," and we ter selling labor power for wages which Hoile and Company, Limited) have a represent but a part, and, generally, but working class are obliged to hand over the lion's share to their capitalist masters simply because the latter own the productive machinery and the natural resources. To secure possession of these in their own interest, that they may get the full product of their labor, is the task of the exploited workers. The capitalist class must be conquered and suppressed by the working class. This, of course, involves a struggle. And this struggle is a class struggle. It can be nothing In the recent meeting of capitalists at else and be at all. It is that or nothing.

> Upon this vital point Liebknecht says: "On the ground of the class struggle we are invincible; if we leave it we are lost, because we are no longer Socialists. The strength and power of Socialism rests in the fact that we are leading a class struggle; that the laboring class is exploited and oppressed by the capitalist class, and that within capitalist society effectual reforms, which will put an end to class government and class exploitation, are impossible.'

Here we have the case fairly stated by one eminently qualified to define the nature of the struggle and emphasize its great importance. The phrase may become hackneyed from ceaseless repetition, but the class struggle expresses precisely the fact as no other words in English can, and as this fact is of the supremest importance to the working class, we must teach and preach the class struggle until the rank and file are permeated with it and embrace its emancipating philosophy.

The workingman who lacks consciousness of his class interests is all that stands between himself and freedom. His eyes must be opened. He must be made to see the class struggle, and, when he does, he becomes a class-conscious Socialist, and he can never be anything else until the world has been fought and

All the workers against all the capitalists! That is the battle-cry.

The Socialist party is lining up the workers on the basis of the class struggle, and, while others are not excluded, and are in fact welcome, it is on that basis that they cast their lot with the workers in the fight for the overthrow of capitalism and the inauguration of the Socialist commonwealth.

This means, as Engels puts it : "The ascent of man Expens 1. Dil from the kingdom of necessity to the kingdom of freedom."

(hristmas (n (rusoe's Isle

NE Christmas morning not many years ago I found myself up a tree in rusoe's island. was hunting Christmas dinner shortly after daybreak that morning, and as the most abundant sunply was promised by the peccaries, or wild hogs, that ranged the island, I had left camp and started out after them. It was great fun for awhile, for I fell in with a herd of about a dozen and had secured two of the "varmints" when the survivors, seeming to think that "turn about is fair play," began hunting me. Then the situation assumed a different aspect entirely, for the peccary when aroused is one of the most bloodthirsty of creatures and as revergeful as an Indian. Fortunately for me, a great gum tree stood conveniently near, and by means of the lianas that swung from its branches I was soon safe from harm and looking calmly down upon the little black beasts as they raged around the trunk. But a peccary, as is well known, can entertain only one idea at a time, and the idea that possessed the shallow brains of my friends below was how to effect my destruction. After rooting around awhile they all sat down in an attitude of expectation and patiently waited for me to descend. And they would sit there, I felt sure, knowing peccary na-ture as I did, until they starved me to death rather than allow me to escape. I had only a few rounds of ammunition suited to their needs, but I killed three more before it was exhausted and peppered the hides of several others so that if they ever had entertained the idea of leaving they abandoned it entirely. I had not a morsel of food about me. The limbs I sat astride of were not so soft as they might have been if they had been made to order, and I was getting uncomfortable when I noticed a commotion in the herd. The leader of the band, a grisly old tusker with recurved fangs like Turkish scimiters, suddenly stood up and sniffed the air; then he uttered a "whoof" of rage and despair, struck a 2:10 gait and disappeared in the jungle, followed by all the survivors. I was saved by a black man and a dog.

It may or may not be true that the peccary has as intense a dislike for the black men as he has for a dog, but anyway the combination proved effective in this instance. The man who appeared at this juncture was the Pappy Ned set to work dressing (or. to be exact, undressing) the peccarles, being careful not to taint the flesh with the contents of the peculiar musk gland which the species carries on its back, and while he is thus engaged seems a good opportunity for me to make my explanation as to the exact location of was distant but Crusoe's island.

It is not, as ninety-nine persons in a hundred think, the island of Juan Fer- after with my nandez, on the southwest coast of gun. As Tobago is a tropical island the South America, but it is a good many miles nearer the coast of our own United States, in the southeastern part of the Caribbean sea. I will not waste any time, either the reader's or my own, in argument, but respectfully refer the earnest inquirer to old Crusoe himself. Robinson Crusoc, Esq., mar-mer, of Bristol, England, whose adventures were first written out and published by Daniel De Foe in 1719, was somewhere in latitude 11 degrees north of the equator when he was wrecked-was an entity called "Crusoe" in the flesh. But, whether he ever existed or not, that is where De Foe placed his hero when he had him wrecked on the coast of his island. To quote the words of Crusoe himself, just before it happened, "The master made an observation as well as he could and found that he was in about 11 degrees of north latitude, so that we were gotten beyond the coast of Guiana and beyond the river Amazones, toward the Orinoco, commonly called the Great river."

Now, that would be evidence suffi-cient for any sailor, but let Crusoe further explain, as he does well along in his narrative, when he first circumnavigates his island kingdom: "The land which I perceived to the west and southwest was the great island of Trinidad, on the north point of the mouth of the river Orinoco

Trinidad, as everybody knows, is off the north coast of South America and

So he set the table out of doors and lost no time in getting at the cooking, which was done over an open fire. Pappy Ned was as adept at preparing exquisite dishes from next to nothing as any Parisian chef that ever lived. We had a garden filled with such plants as the manioc, tania, sweet potato, arrowroot, vam. etc., not to mention corn and mountain rice. From a wild grove of coffee trees I obtained the fragrant berry for my morning beverage; also cacao, or choco-late, from another copse on the border of the forest, while the cocoa palms above and around my hut held a delicious cool drink in their unripe nuts. Pappy Ned dried and grated the cassava tubers, making "farine," from which he cooked great cakes more than a foot across. The juice of the cassava is poisonous in its crude state, but it is converted into a palatable substance by heat and forms the basis of the noted 'cassareep," or pepper pot. We always had a pepper pot on hand as a standby, into which we threw the odd pieces of meat left over after ordinary repasts, and a goodly amount of the peccary flesh was thus disposed of, the cassareep acting as a preservative as well as condiment. But pepper pot was a poor man's makeshift, Pappy Ned always declared, and the day before he had walked the beach for sea turtle eggs, several score of which he had brought back to camp, together with a fine fish he had caught on the

"I was a perfectly healthy young man up to February 1865. When my regiment was in Camp Randall I was taken sick with the measles and I did not enjoy good health up to the time I used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Tonic in 1866. Doctors have told me it came from inactivity of the liver. I cannot say how many physicians did treat me but have had all kinds. Dieting has never helped me. Billousness, attacks of headache, rheumatism, nasal catarh, hay fever, asthma, and chronic diarrhees, have all taken their turn with me. Thanks to the Nervine and Tonic I am completely restored to health. I have also used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Fills with good results and I think that the Dr. Miles Remedies are perfect."—Rev. Hiram Bender, Sparta, Wis.

"I want to say a few good words for Dr. Miles Restorative Nervine. I have been troubled very much with insomain since I made the change to the new paper and on account of this have tried various remedies without relief. I was finally induced by a wholesale druggist, a personal friend of mine, to try Nervine. I can assure you it has done me a lot of good. I do not find it necessary to use it regularly now but occasionally when I find that I am excessively nervous and restless I again take it up as I always keep a supply on hand. It has never failed to give me the desired relief."—A. Huegin, Publisher "Daily Free-Press" Milwantee, Wis.

A New Book by Isadore Ladoff. Charles H. Kerr & Company of Chicago have just arranged for the publication of one of the most important contributions yet made to the literature of the American Socialist Movement. It is a work by Isador Laydoff, a well known socialist writer, and the author of "The Passing of Capitalism," entitled "American Pauper ism and the Abolition of Poverty." The opening portion of the work consists of the most exhaustive compilation of facts concerning social conditions in the United States that has ever been gathered together and presented from the socialist point of view. The mass of statistics concerning the condition of the working class constitutes one of the most powerful indictments of capitalism ever penned. It will prove just the storehouse of facts that ocialist agitators, speakers, writers and orkers generally have been needing for ists, who will oppose such injustice with any years. These facts are then exained and interpreted in connection with exposition of the socialist philosophy, which makes the work as a whole a spien-did piece of propagands. The book will be published in cloth binding in the standard Socialist Series, uniform with the eight numbers already issued, and will be sold for 50 cents. Copies can be ordered through this office.

Literary Announcement.

Because of numerous requests for the November and December numbers of the International Socialist Review, we are requested to state that no more of these imbers can be supplied.

The January number will, we believe e better than even these two issues. It will contain an article by Eugene V. Debs eplying to an anonymous critic of his position on the Negro Question. This article hows Comrade Debs at his best, as it is filled with the fire of combat and the strength which comes from pleading the cause of the oppressed. The resolution of the International Socialist Bureau on the same question, together with an article by Oscar Edgar appears in this number. Other articles of interest are one on the Canadian Socialist Movement by G. Wreson Wrigley, and the "Present State of Corporation Law" by Marcus Hitch, and an article in a lighter vein entitled "Looking backward," a Letter from the Strange Land Capitalla," by Isador Ladoff. This number will also contain the first install. ment of "The Trade Union Movement in Germany," by Albert Thomas, translated by A. M. Simons, which will run through three numbers.

With the completion of these, A. M. and May Wood Simons will begin a series of articles on "Concentration of Industry in America," continuing for several months. The only way of being sure to receive a copy is to subscribe. $1.00 a year; 25c for three months.

The Under Dog.

The action of society in industry reminds me of a dog fight, with the inhuman, brutish spectacle of everybody kicking the under dog. Place the poor and unfortunate upon the toboggan slide, give them a shove, with everybody kicking them as they descend.

The trouble is the slide has no end except in eternity. The more one thinks of the question, the more we see the awful FRAUD of eapitalism. It sets up conditions which makes business industry depend upon irresponsible individuals, and, as Carroll D, Wright says, capitalists are not always "generous or great-minded." It leaves thousands of people with never enough to eat, while it dumps tons of food into the ocean, where it is not lost to nature, but lost energy to the laborer.

In every community there are people who might be considered capitalists. We know that were they to come into direct competition with the REAL THING they would be wiped off the earth without eaving a grease spot. That we have absolutely no chance against organized capital must be evident to any man who thinks, and yet respectable (?) society in every community blames the poor man for being poor.

Capitalism has no politics, and it ought to be evident to every one that exercises a grain of horse sense that the capitalist press is belittling the importance of politics and encouraging a sentiment which "Oh, politics don't amount to any thing; I don't want to study it!" The people look for great leaders that own them in conventions and nominate candidates and resolve a platform which leads them away from the real question, and they go to the polls and vote blindly, shouting at sight of the stars and stripes and boasting of their right to vote. All because they are blinded by the glamor of capitalism.

There will soon come a reaction from this false sentiment, as there will be from that other sentiment which puffs the laborer up to think that everybody is a capitalist. Then the man who toils will become conscious of his class interest, and there will be something doing at the polls. G. W. S.

THE WORKERS ABROAD.

Bird's Eye View of the Struggle in Other Lands By Agnes Wakefield.

GERMANY.

The Berlin Vorwaerts of November 6th gives accounts of the following Socialist victories in municipal elections:--In Luckenwald's city council elections in the third class, 955 Socialists and 88 opposing votes were cast, so the Socialists won all the seats of that class. In Giebichenstein Comrade Gering with 1,706 votes defeated Director Brandes, who had only 402 votes. In Hornberg, Baden, for the first time, a Socialist was elected to the common council. A Socialist has been re-elected in Arnstadt; there are two Socialists in the city council.

In Baden Minister Schenkel has formed a plan for limiting suffrage; if it becomes a law only men who pay direct govern-ment taxes and who have lived at least a year in Baden will be allowed to vote. A man must have an income of at least $216 a year to pay a direct government tax in Baden. Many laborers move frequently from place to place in search of work The new law would disfranchise at least a third of the working class of voters. The Mannheimer Volksstimme says that the minister, fearing the anger of the people, tried to keep his project a secret until af-ter the legislative elections which were held October 30th, but at the last hour it was made known and created great indignation among the workers and Social-

Comrade Franz Hofner, M. P., Socialist deputy from the 22nd district of Saxony, died at his home in Chemnitz, November 4th, aged 51. He was a cigar maker by trade. He had been a member of the Socialist Party for many years, and was a favorite lecturer. In the last elections he was re-elected to the German parliament with 19,100 votes against 12,900. An impressive case of "How the Sins of Children Are Visited upon the Father," in Germany is related by Berlin Vor-waerts, of November 6th, two young carpenters from Petriben, in East Prussis, have joined the Socialist Party and are distributing socialist leaflets and calander. The conservative father, who was president of the town council did not know of his son's action until the state council found out about it and discharged him (the guilty father!) from practice. They say that the indignant father, of a sudden, became deeply impressed with the importance of Socialism and will now help ais sons distribute Socialist leaflets.

Two editions of the Report of the Dresden Convention of the German Socialist Party have been sold, and a third edition has now been published by the Vorwaerts press, 69 Lindstrasse, Berlin. A single copy unbound costs 75 pf (10 cents) and bound 1 Mark (24 cents;) the postage is 5

For publishing an account of a plan to build a castle of refuge, for the German emperor and his family, on the Island of Pichelswerder, near Berlin, the Socialist daily journal Vorwaerts of Ber'in has been prosecuted for leze-majesty. One of the editors, Comrade Leid, has been sen-tenced to nine months' imprisonment, and a second editor, Comrade Kaliski, to four months.

The Berlin Fifth District Socialist Club received 47 new members in its last meet-

ITALY.

The Socialist daily journal of Rome, Avanti, edited by Prof. Enrico Ferri, M. has severly criticised several members of the new ministry. The foreign minis-ter, Tittoni, and the minister of finance Rosano, were accused of complicity in bank scandals. Avanti said that the new Premier Siolitte made Rosano minister because in 1892 Rosano as under secretary of state rendered him useful service i covering up the Roman Bank affair. Soon after these attacks Minister Rosano sommitted suicide. Shame at the revela tions made regarding his conduct is as signed as the reason for the tragic deed.

The Socialist Club of Mantua recently passed a resolution advising that the So cialist Party convention of November 8th, should effect a division of the party. The easons given were that the two tenden cies existing in the party cause conflicts which hinder energetic organization and agitation, and that the Reformists deviate more and more from Socialist principles, one part following the Republican party while the other adopts anarchist methods.

AUSTRIA

At the close of a universal suffrage meeting of 16,000 workers in Brunn the police interfered and wounded 20 persons, ncluding a child of 6 years.

FRANCE. A bill to abolish private employment officers has been passed by the French parliament, with the large majority of 500 against 16 votes. The Socialist deputy Coutant, a Guesdist, advocated the imme diate abolition of the private employment offices, without reimbursement. But the majority adopted the Labor Committee's plan to buy out the offices for a certain price, within five years. The bill mpowers municipalities to immediately abolish private employment bureaus.

The shop employes are particularly eager for the abolishment of the private employment offices, as they are largely dependent on them for finding places, and have to pay fees which are exorbitant in comparison with the lew wages they receive. They held a crowded meeting in the Labor Exchange, November 5th, with other organized workers, to agitate for the bill. Some excitable persons made a disturbance and Prefect Lepine came with many policemen who broke up the meet-There was a dreadful conflict in which 70 workers and over 50 policemen were wounded. The workers and the radical press were very indignant. The matter was discussed in parliament the next day, and the Socialist deputy Valliant ac cused the Prefect of barbarous cruelty. The prime minister severely condemne the Prefect and promised an investigation.

Te complete report of the French Socialst Party's convention held in Rheins in September, has been published in octave pamphlet form and is sold by Comrade Lucien Roland, 7 Rue Rodier, Paris. A single copy costs five cents, and two cents additional for postage.

SWITZERLAND

The Geneva Cantonal Great Council has ananimously voted to admit women to the practice of law. Only the Socialists voted for the complete freedom of admisvoted for the complete freedom of admission to the bar.

SPAIN.

The general strike in Bilbao has ended with the agreements that after January first wages shall be paid weekly and that the workers shall no longer be obliged to bay at the mine owners' shops nor to live in their dwelling houses. These agreements, recommended by the government, were accepted immediately by the workers, but the employers opposed them as long as they could.

How Are You 7 Going to Vote

We elect a president next November. Are you going to vote with the Democrats, the party of the little capitalists, and try to put things back where they used to be?

Or are you going to vote with the Republicans, the party of the big capitalists, and help keep things as they are? Or will you vote with the Socialist Party, the party of the workers, and help change things so that those who do the work will you work they read as work will own what they produce?

But possibly you do not know about the Socialist Party. Then send four cents in stamps, and re-ceive by return mail three books, Easy Lessons in Socialism, The Socialist Party, and What to Read on Socialism. Address

The damage suit of Martha Hagerman against the Terre Haute Street Railway Company for $10,000 damages was dis ed in the superior court, Monday The attorneys for the railway filed a de murrer, which was sustained and judgment given the defendant. The damage suit was the result of the shooting of Wm. Hagerman, a miner at Seeleyville, during the street car strike.

The Toiler goes to press one day earlier than usual, this week, on account of Chritsmas coming on Friday.

Captain D. G. Coy, formerly of the Salvation Army, has opened a "workingman's hotel" in the old Tribune building, once occupied in part by The Toiler. Meals, lodging, baths, etc., are provided for a moderate price. The "best" people will continue their patronage of the Filbeck and Terre Haute hotels.

State Mine Inspector Epperson states that the fire in the Citizens' Coal Company's shaft near Sullivan, Sunday, was much exaggerated. No men were burned, and those who fought the fire were familiar with the mine.

A call has been issued for a district convention of the Mine Workers to meet in Miners' Hall, at Brazil, on January 2, to consider the questions that will come before the national convention.

The Boilermakers' Ball of last week proved to be a big success. Over three hundred couples danced to the music furnished by the Ringgold orchestra.

The quarterly report of J. H. Kennedy of the Mine Workers shows nearly 145 locals in good standing, being an increase of 15 locals over last year. Several recently organized locals, which have not paid their per capita tax, are not included in the report.

George Purcell of the National Executive Board has been sick for some time, but expects to return to the work of organization in Tennessee soon. He expresses satisfaction with the progress of the strike in the west.

Broom Makers Elect.

At a regular meeting of Broom Makers' Local Union, No. 76, held Dec. 15, 1903, the following officers were elected President-N. H. Price: Vice-President-W, M. Dudley; Treasurer - J. F. Shepard ; Secretary -C. E. Abel; Guide-George Meissel; Guard-W. M. Dudley:

Trustees-George Meissel, '18 months; Charles Abel, 6 months.

The broom trade is generously good; all the shops in Terre Haute are organized and using the union label, and all of our members are working. A great many of the small shops are forced out of business on account of the high price of broomcorn. Poor little fellows! Isn't it too bad? We can't all be big fellows!

It sometimes occurs to me that there is sndugh Bradaced in this grand country for all of us to have plenty. Queer ideas some of us wage-slaves get into our heads, but I notice a great many of the small business men coming down into the ranks of the wage slaves. The next thing they know they will be one of the wage slaves. and perhaps then will realize, like many thers, that there is something wrong Let us hope that they will not forget who they are on that one special day when every wage slave is a gentleman for one whole day. Let us hope there is something in store for us besides a full dinner pail. Perhaps we don't know what be longs to us. Let us open our eyes and look around. Perhaps we can strike where we are sure to win, even if we haven't got a dollar in the treasury of our union, we have got the ballot-box one day out of every four years. Try the co-operative com-CHAS. E. ABEL. monwealth to win.

Bartenders Elect Officers.

The Bartenders have elected officers as follows: William Herron, formerly business agent, chosen vice-president; J. P. Friss, re-elected treasurer, and John Kolsem elected recording secretary in the place of T. P. Conaulty who retired. The meeting was well attended, and S. B. Layman, William Meyer, John Freaza and Fred Russell were admitted to memberbership, and two new applications were received. The other officers chosen were: Chaplain, Ed Brown; inspector, William Pritchard; guardian, Edward Taylor.

The Terre Haute local is in better shape now than it has ever been. Its membership is rapidly increasing, and it promise soon to be the largest local in the state outside of Indianapolis.

Maine, announce a cut in wages to take effect Nov. 30. About 1,300 employes are affected. Many of the delegates who voted for the socialist resolution at the New Orleans convention of the Federation of Labor a year ago voted against it at Boston.

The strike of the bridgemen on the Grand Island river bridge near Kansas City was settled, and thirty Chicago bridgemen were sent to the work the other day.

The Pittsburg Steel Works, employing 2,000 men, has resumed operations. The American Tin Plate Company will also resume, and the Port Vue tin plate plant close for repairs. The auditing committee's report at the A. F. of L. convention showed that the receipts last year were $282,-028.69; expenses, $196.015.51, leaving a balance in the treasury of $86,-013.12.

Fifteen hundred of the 3,000 employes of the Passaic Steel company have voted to strike if the company makes a cut of 10 per cent in wages. as it has announced its intention of

The cotton mills owned by M. C. D. Borden of New York will follow the other Fall River mills in the reduction of wages. Notices of the cut down of 10 per cent have been posted. Nearly 10,000 operatives will be affected.

The Central Foundry company, which operates one of the largest plants in Indianapolis, has closed its doors as the result of the recent labor troubles. The closing down of the plant has thrown about 200 men out of employment.

For the first time since the disastrous strike of thirteen years ago, when the Coke Miners' union was completely wiped out in Pennsylvania, efforts are now being made to organize the 18,000 coke miners in the Connellsville region.

Venor & Montgomery, shoe manufacturers or recenster, yoluntarily reduced the hours of labor in their factory from ten to nine last week. The employes responded by sending a letter of thanks for the "spirit of fairness" shown by their employers.

John B. Lemmon, general secretary of the Journeymen Tailors' Union of America and treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, is a pioneer of the labor movement and has the reputation of being one of the most upright workers in laber's cause.

The new benefit will be $100 to members who have been six months in good standing and $200 for those five years or more steadily on the union's books.

With the approval of the unions especially interested, a day and evening school has been started at 5 Wil loughby street, Brooklyn, for technical instruction of stationary engineers, firemen, oilers and water-tenders. New York newspaper reporter a few days ago, "and I'll tell you what I discovered. The mine owners and all their friends, men who have invested millions in gold and silver and copper mines, have decided that they will smash the labor unions. If they don't smash them the unions will smash the owners and their friends."

William D. Mahon, who is in control of the union forces now on strike against the Chicago City Railway company, is reported to be one of the most successful organizers of labor in the United States. Shrewd, cautious and conservative, he has so managed strikes—especially in Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Milwaukee—that success crowned his efforts. Mr. Mahon was elected president of the American Association of Railway Employes in 1892 and since that time has organized unions of this branch of labor in 321 cities. He is about 46 years of age and his home is at Detroit, Mich. He is voracious reader of literature affecting the labor question.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen is up in arms against the recent order issued by Postmaster General Payne, which, it is claimed, will have the effect of making every train in the United States a mail train. The trainmen say further that the order will place every train under the protection of the United States government. The order is to have train baggagemen handle full packages of pa per mail, for which they will be paid 'something" in addition to their regular wages as trainmen. Before the order can become effective it will require an appropriation from Congress and the trainmen are urged by their officers to fight such appropriation.

What would happen in Montana if a tax were placed on copper ore lands in accordance with the selling value of those lands? The litigants would stop some of their court fighting and go to digging and refining copper. such a tax were made very heavy the great absorbing Amalgamated Copper Company would stop acquiring copper lands merely to shut them up and prevent others from getting copper from them. On the contrary, that corporation would let others use them, or it would engage more miners and operate these lands itself. If the tax were heavy enough no one would find any profit in holding copper-bearing lands idle. The tax would act like a heavy fine upon idleness.—Henry George, Jr.

Miss Agnes Scheskel is recording secretary of the Chicago Women Can Workers' union, local No. 10,870, of the American Federation of Labor, and Miss Martha Lautrup is trustee of the same organization. The union was organized last February by John J. Fitzpatrtick, organizer of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and has about seventy-five members. There are three unions of women can work ers in the district, one on the North Side, one in the stock yards district and one in Maywood. The Amalga mated Sheet Metal Workers' International association has jurisdiction over this class of work, but its constitution prohibits the admission of women. When the girls in Chicago were organized it was found there was no international union with which they could affiliate, and they were granted local charters direct from the A. F. of L. until the constitution of the Sheet Metal Workers' union is amended to allow their admission.

George J. Thompson, label secretary of the Cigarmakers' union, has been sent to Washington to enter a protest before Congress, on behalf of the or ganized ciga-makers, against the enactment of that portion of the Cuban treaty which makes a reduction of 20 per cent from the Dingley tariff rates on imported Cuban clgars. The cl-garmakers allege that the effect of this provision of the treaty would place the skilled workmen who make high-grade cigars at the mercy of the American Tobacco company, comme ly known as the tobacco trust. trust controls 80 per cent of the cigar output of Cuba. It controls about 90 per cent of the Cuban tobacco crop. If the tariff is removed, Mr. Thompson says, it will mean that the trust will increase the output in the Cuban lactories and place the product in the markets of New York and Chicago, driving independent manufacturers out of business and throwing over 6,000 skilled workers out of employ

Judge W. C. Hall of Salt Lake has rendered a decision of interest to labor unions. The case was that of R. B. Harper, a plumber, who de-serted the union, returned to work on a job which had been declared on strike, and barred to union men, and was fined $500 for his act by the Plumbers' Union in Butte, Mont. Har per left Butte after being fined and went to Salt Lake, but the officers of the union in that city were notified. Before being allowed to work in Salt Lake Harper paid $200 of the fine and agreed to pay the rest later. He changed his mind, however, and refused to pay. When the hullding trades struck on buildings on which he was employed Harper sued the union for damages and his $200. Judge Hall decided that the Plumbers' union in Salt Lake City was justified in the stand it took and that Harper had no cause for action. In this decision the

There was a good attendance at the regular meeting of the Central Labor Union, Tuesday night. Byroni Martin of the Ci-Jervis Lodge were seated as delegates Bills to the amount of [$5:65 were allowed The various committees made reports which were concurred in.

The secretary's quarterly business report was accepted, and recommendations were referred to committees for investigation, which will meet, Sunday morning, at 7:30 o'clock.

The organizers reported progress being made with the organization of two crafts in the city. Messrs. O'Connell, Terrill and Markle were chosen as delegates to the Building Trades Council, which meets Friday night.

The body adjourned to meet, January 7. The annual reports of the different officers will be read the first Thursday night in February. Nominations for officers in the Central Labor Union will be made the first two meeting nights in January. They will be elected the first Thursday night in February.
