NOTES AND COMMENT.

LATE issue of American Industries, the organ of D. M. Parry's Manufacturers' Association, reproduces in parallel columns the 56 words of the democratic "labor plank" and the 62 words of the republican "labor plank," and declares with great glee:

"If it is to be said that these planks mean nothing and distinctively say nothing, it is also true that they are both alike-both of them so much alike that it is impossible to say which is the most alike. It is a simple fact that while the two great parties are perfectly agreed that no appeal this time can safely be be made for the irridescent and rapidly vanishing 'labor vote,' they are not quite ready to denounce it. But that may come, or perhaps so strange a thing would not be wise at any time."

Mr. Parry also gloats over the turn lown given to labor representatives by both the old party conventions in these

"The two national conventions of the great political parties have proved conclusively, if conclusive proof were necessary, that the labor vote, so-called, is a bogy pure and simple, and signs are already plentiful that before the present national campaign for the presidency and for the re-election of a congress is over, it will prove, all over again, to be a delusion and a snare. For it is true that able and persistent committees, representing the American Federation of Labor and other organizations, lobbied and threatened to the last ditch, both at Chicago and St. Louis."

Mr. Parry's praise of the two capitalist parties ought to make the trade unionists do a little thinking in a political way. What a ridiculous spectacle it is to see organized workingmen shouting themselves hoarse over the same candidates their fiercest opponents are striving to OU union men remember Mr. Post, of "Grape-Nuts" fame. Mr. Post is one of D. M. Parry's Manufacturers' Association's high priests. At the annual meeting of that association at New Orleans last year Mr. Post read a paper in which he made a scurrillous attack on trades unions, and then he spent several what he said.

For several months the Typographical Union has been endeavoring to have Mr. Post withdraw his advertisement of 'Grape-Nuts" and "Postum Cereal" from the notorious scab Los Angeles Times. His reply is contained in a three-column harm to no one, whom these Labor Union ing, banjo playing, high kicking enterad, in the capitalist papers which get a Anarchists propose to 'ruin' and 'put out tainments, cycling races, pingpong, share of his million-dollar advertising of business' along with the company." appropriation. sirable citizens; they have small chance on their own merits to earn first-class wages, unless they can force themselves on employers by a Union card. They bring on strikes and misery for good workmen, and try to, and do, blackmail employers into settling same by paying them graft money. Some of them have been jailed for such offenses, but the great majority still hold forth. They have brought untold disgrace on the fair name of 'labor' and made the term 'the poo-er werken mon' a by-word, hissed and laughed at by the public."

"An anarchist is one opposed to law." "When police or the military are called n to preserve the peace, and protect the common people, do these men welcome and uphold them? They do not, but hasten to 'protest, and do all in their power o remove them, so they can carry out their acts of violence and law breaking."

"They favor no law but their own, and that is the true hall mark of an anarchist pure and simple."

"It is this class of union men who have placed a boycott on our products, in tryng to force us to join their lawless ranks, and ruin some publishers, and they are the ones who propose to punish Mr. Post for fearlessly telling the facts about them and their methods."

"Decent people read with horror the tales of distress, women attacked and sometimes stripped on the street (St. Louis street car strike), workmen blown to pieces with dynamite, men assaulted, mobs formed, millions of dollars' worth of property destroyed, many lives lost, and a general reign of terror, disorder sidered fair prey for the despoilers' hand. and anarchy conducted by the labor trust in trying to force the balance of mankind to obey, is without question the mandates of the leaders of the Unions."

STATE SOCIALIST NEWS.

Weekly Letter From State Secretary Strick | d.

INDIANAPOLIS, August 10, 1904. Dear Comrades-I am just personally undertaking the duties of the office of State Secretary. Comrade Perry Wyatt, State Treasurer, has had charge of the office the past month. His financial report for July makes a good showing for the month's work.

We had a full meeting of the State Executive Board July 31.

Regarding speakers, the National Committee-has offered us Comrade Charles G. Towner, National Organizer, to work in our state about two months. These dates are handled directly by the National officers, because we were not orepared to send out the first letters from the State office. Hereafter we expect to be in a position to handle all speakers in our state.

In the central and northern part of the state we are now sending out correspondence for tours for Comrades Thomas J. Hagerty, W. J. McSweeney and E. B. Lewis. We are fortunate to find all this talent available for our state, and trust that the Locals and Branches will respond quickly when invited to take speakers.

Remember that Comrade Debs begins his national campaiga at Indianapolis in Masonic Hall September 1. Prepare to attend this meeting if possible. --- Comrade Guy H. Lockwood is starting on an automobile trip through our state from southwest to northeast .-- Your State Secretary is already preparing to reach some points near Indianapolis.

Every Local is urged to get a County ticket into the field. Blanks will be furnished by me to get such local ticket on the official ballot. Apply for them when needed, or write me for any further in- Manager Barhydt of the Grand will not structions. The County Clerk of your return from his summer vacation until county will furnish you with a list of all along in September. During his absence county officers to be elected this fall. Shannon Katzenbach is acting as manager.

A new filing system has been installed, a card system to keep track of the locals and individuals has been instituted, and a set of books for State Secretaries has been purchased from the National Office to keep the records.

Dates for a number of speakers will be announced next week. Locals are respondng promptly to the offers of organizers and lecturers. Some of the comrades are now busy with their county conventions. The following was adopted by the State Executive Board of the Socialist Party of indiana, in session July 31:

To the Socialist Party of Indiana:

Greeting-Whereas, your executive committee, after careful consideration of the needs of the Socialist movement in Indiana, find one of the most important things to be undertaken is the publication of Socialist news from all parts of the state and ountry; and

Whereas, The party is not in a position to undertake the publication of a Socialist Party Paper in Judiana; and

Whereas, THE TOILER, of Terre Haute, is well known throughout the country, and has proffered its pages without charge to the comrades for news and articles of interest, publication weekly of State Headquarters news and full reports of activity in the Locals of the state and elsewhere Now, therefore, be it

EXPULSIONS FOR FUSION.

State Secretary Latham of Texas reports to the National Secretary as follows: "I have to advise that the following named persons were, on July 9, expelled from the Socialist party by Local No. 40 of Big Springs, Texas, for violation of their pledge and the anti-fusion resolutions, in having voted in the democratic primaries on that day: T. M. Curles, John Dorn, George Braune, Eugene Moors, George Crawford, J. T. Larkin, D. A. Baily, N. Gooch; Robert Mann. The said action of Local No. 40 was approved by the State Committee of Texas."

National Referendum "D," on adoption of national constitution closed at the National office August 4, and all sections of majorities. The difficulty in tabulating the votes on the various sections by states. however, renders it impossible to make a complete report this week. This announcement will be made at an early date,

WILLIAM MAILLY,
National Secretary.

WEDDINGS IN WALES.

Quaint Customs That Still Exist Among the Pensantry.

Some quaint customs still survive among the peasantry of south Walesat least in the remote villages. One of the oddest is the "bidding." When a young man and woman are engaged a circular is printed, known as a "bidding letter," and distributed at market and outside the chapels on Sunday so that all may know of the event. The form is always the same and runs as follows:

As we intend to enter the matrimonial state we are encouraged by our friends As we intend to enter the matrimonial state we are encouraged by our 'friends to make a bidding on the occasion at the young man's father's house (here follow the address and date of the entertainment), when and where the favor of your good and agreeable company is most humbly solicited, and whatever donation you may be pleased to bestow on us will be thankfully received, warmly acknowledged and cheerfully repaid whenever called for on a similar occasion by your obedient for on a similar occasion by your obedient servants, JOHN EVANS. JANE DAVIS.

All being ready on the day, a party goes to fetch the bride to the bidding. She hides and has to be sought for in all directions, but being at last found is escorted in triumph. Her procession is met by that of the bridegroom, and they all repair to the church, where the wedding ceremony takes place, after which all return to the groom's house to make merry and to count the gifts. These are generally in money and vary from a shilling up to half a sovereign.

Each item is carefully entered in a book by the "bidding clerk." together with the donor's name, so that it may be repaid when he or she marries. all the money will probably not be called in for many years-some not at all, if the givers remain single-the young couple receive a tolerable start in life. Oddly enough, the bridegroom is expected to provide the kitchen clock and table, the glass cupboard and the kitchen dresser, also the bedstead, Each of the young people is supposed to bring half a dozen chairs, the bride's especial contribution being the bedding, the crockery ware, the parlor table and a chest of drawers. Things are done methodically in that part of the world .- London Tit-Bits.

THOUGHTLESS WIT.

Wit that stings is akin to crime. To hold up another to ridicule is not witty, but vulgar.

To laugh at another or to cause another to be laughed at is common.

The merry laugh and the joke go round, but somewhere there is an ache. There is no pest like him, this man whose thoughtless wit starts the laugh. The man that makes others laugh at some one else's expense is always causing suffering. To start a laugh is the ambition of some men. The how or the where, the why or the effect is never considered.

Wit is a joy forever so long as it does not base its success upon the misfortunes, the peculiarities, the weaknesses

When a wit has to depend upon others' peculiarities for his subject matter It is time for him to close the "wit shop" and hang out the sign "To Let." -Indianapolis Sun.

Defining His Position.

Years ago there was a member of an eastern legislature named Murphy, a good politician, but hardly a statesman. Indeed his notions of parliamentary order and debate were crude. He was so frequently out of order that the speaker got in the habit of crying as soon as Mr. Murphy rose, "The gentleman is out of order!" Once, in the midst of an important and exciting debate, he leaped to his feet. The house murmured, and the speaker brushed him aside with the usual remark, "The gentleman is out of Murphy sat down, but presently he was on his feet again.

"Mr. Prisidint, I rise to a point of order. In justice I must explain that the thing I intinded to say just now when you called me to order had nothing to do with what I did not say."

In Scotland a naturalist has found a golden eagle's nest that contained a rubber ring, carried thither by the birds as an adornment. An observer in California has reported that a pair of golden eagles there decorated their nest with sacks. "When the kite builds look to lesser linen," says Shakespeare, alluding to the robberies committed by those birds from the hedges where linen was put to dry. The late Mr. Booth described a kind of bower made by some aesthetic eagles in Scotland.

His Planets.

A young gentleman was passing an examination in physics. He was ask-ed, "What planets were known to the ancients?"

"Well, sir," he responded, "there were Venus and Jupiter and"-after a pause-"I think the earth, but I am not quite certain."-London Tit-Bits.

MME. TALLIEN, WHO, IT IS ASSERTED, SNUBBED NAPOLEON.

A Woman Whose Extrancing Leveliness Dazzled Even the Women of the French Capital-The Mild and Inoffensive Young Bonaparte.

During the directoire Marie de' Medici's palace became the center of gov-ernment and Barras reigned there under the inspiration of Mme. Tallien. It was she who organized all the fetes and ceremonies which enlivened Paris after the Terror. In 1796 the beautiful Spaniard was twenty-three and had already had an eventful past. The daughter of a financier Lamed Cabarrus, she had married at the age of sixteen the Marquis de Fontenay, been divorced from him in 1793 and had remarried, a few months after, Tallien, the conventionnel.

Arrested May 22, 1794, she was imprisoned in Les Carmes, and it was from here that she wrote the stinging. epistles to her husband which induced that wavering spirit to dare all in the attempt to set her free. Armed with a dagger in case of failure and all the courage he could muster, Tallien on the famous 9th Thermidor attacked Robespierre in a debate which brought about the fall of the "sea green mon-

Food Laws In France.

Parisians who suspect adulteration in the food or drink they buy take it to the municipal laboratory and have it analyzed free of cost. The city undertakes the prosecution, if need be, of the offender, who, if the case is proved, is liable not only to fine and imprisonment, but to the exposure in his shop window of a notice of "con-viction of adulteration."

BRAIN AGAINST BRAWN.

The Disdain For Manual Toll Is Al-

There has never been any reason ex-cept superior smartness which has justified the brain worker in exacting for what he does a share of the proceeds so wholly disproportionate over the one who labors with his hands. The result of putting the premium on mental rather than manual labor has been to overcrowd these callings with many who are unfit to render the world real service, even if they are not more in number than the world requires in such fields. The economic equilibrium has always been disturbed because manual labor has been degraded. Many who might be useful in manual labor are forced to live by their wits. This phrase is on'y a euphemism for parasiteism.

The disdain for manual toll is so universal that almost no men work this way who can win a living otherwise Yet manual labor is necessary not only to the support of the race, but for the physical welfare of the individual. We should not have half so much of this so called nervous prostration if the victims had cultivated a little first hand acquaintance with mother earth in ministering to their own nearest and imperative wants with their own hands. In spite of the fact that physical labor is thought to be severer than mental, the longevity of the two offers whatever of choice there is to the la-

We all preach that intellectual culture is its own reward, and then we not only give large measure of material things to him who hath this rich mental endowment, but we listen without seeing the leconsistency to platitudes of this sort and then see the preachers and teachers of this doctrine reaching out themselves for all the emoluments they can command. "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread" is not a curse, but a blessing, and it is one not to be enjoyed vi-There is nothing about cariously. which the human race is more generally and consciously hypocritical than in this palaver over the dignity of labor. If we paid as we talk the scale of wages in the world would be upset, but it isn't a foregone conclusion that work would be any the worse done.

DEMANDS OF LABOR.

All It Asks Is a Fair Share of What It Produces.

The struggle of labor is for a fair share of what it produces and for manly independence, making the workman independent of everything save his duty to give a fair day's work for fair pay. Such are the demands of labor, and the man who does not endure these demands is a menace to both employee and employer. Wendell Phillips said, "I hail the labor unions as our only hope for democracy." Contrary to general belief, labor unions are not the creation of an hour, a year or 100 years, but are the natural growth of natural laws. Strikes are not the creation of the twentieth century conditions, neither are they the result of unions, for since historic times we have accounts of strikes; first Egypt and Persia, then Greece and Rome. Then the scene is transferred to England, where in 1381, history tells us, Wat Tyler's insurrection occurred as the result of the rich trying to force down the price of labor, but at that time laborers were not considered as men, and even Shakespeare speaks of laborers as fragments. Yet from the uniting of these same fragments has sprung a branch of one of the most benevolent associations of the world.—Freight and Baggageman.

MAN'S BIRTHRIGHT.

Is He Born Free, or Is Freedo Something to Be Wonf

Dr. Gunsaulus, head of the Armour Institute of Technology, Chicago, re-cently delivered a baccalaureate address before the graduating class, in which he said:

"Freedom is something to be won. Men are not born free. Every power into whose control a man comes is a nanered freedom. There are no equals in this universe of God's. God is no socialist." Let us take now, for example, the exact opposite of this statement, and we have the following:

"Freedom is natural to man. Men are born free. Every power into whose control a man comes is his master because he chooses to make it such. There is no inequality in the sight of God. God is, in this sense, a socialist."

Which do you think comes nearest the truth, the paragraph of the doc-tor's or its opposite? It is not a matter of surprise to us to find that wide currency is given to the unusual statement of the head of the Armour institute. and it is refreshing to note that few, if any, noted critics agree with the eminent divine in his statement.-Miners' Magazine.

LABOR NOTES.

After being on strike for several weeks to enforce the closed shop rule the striking lathers of Boston and vicinity have come to an understanding with their employers. In the future only men carrying the union card will be able to procure employment.

There will never be general peace and prosperity until all special legal privileges are abolished.

Why don't the captains of industry 'let well enough alone?" Why do they always want more?

All is grist that comes to the capital ist mill. Some capitalist somewhere makes fat out of every strike.

A convention of marine workers will be held next month in Sweden, and the ties of forming a federation of all the maritime crafts in the world will be brought up.

AN OPTICAL DELUSION.

Sailors Brooklyn Bridge Is One of the World's Wonders.

One of the world's seven wonders to the sailor is the Brooklyn bridge. Turksailors tell of it in the Black sea, and Finnish-whalemen discuss it in the Arctic ocean. It is not as a wonderful feat of engineering alone that they regard it, but as one of the greatest opti cal illusions to be met with during a seafaring career. Nor is it less wonderful in this respect to a landsman.

A ship comes in through the Narrows, a big four masted ship with lofty rigging. After all the harbor regulations have been complied with a tug takes her in tow. It is announced that she is going up the East river beyond the bridge. Then the old sailors who have been there before get out their pipes, lean over the railings and prepare for a long comfortable smoke.

Not so the strangers, especially foreigners. As they see the big structure before them, anticipating official commands, they gather up the necessary gear for lowering all the tops. One man starts aloft on each of the four

"Come down there," shouts the mate. "Get for'd, you men. Let alone that gear.'

The men go for'd, a good deal surprised. Meanwhile the ship is fast approaching the bridge. The speed continues the same and the black arch is sweeping down. The men anxiously regard the topmasts, then cast apprehensive glances toward the apparently low hanging bridge.

"What is the blame fool skipper try-ing to do?" growls an old English salt. Meanwhile the old timers are leaning against the bulwarks, smoking and chuckling. What was once keen anx-lety to them is now a huge joke.

The other sailors are getting bewildered. Apparently the bridge will strike the foremast just below the crosstrees. In alarm they hurry aft, as though to appeal to the pilot and the officers, but those men are complacently tranquil on the poop.

"Look out! Stand from under!" yells one sailor. The bridge is apparently about to sweep through the fore rigging, when suddenly it shoots upward and curves gracefully over the fore truck, fifty feet above. In a minute it is all over. The bridge drops again. It actually seems as if it had been raised especially to allow this ship to pass. To the foreign sailors it seems a miracle, and they tell of it for the re.; of their lives.—New York Press.

SPOILED A DUEL.

The Scheme Senator Lamar Worked to Prevent an Encounter.

During the course of a heated debate once in the house of representatives sharp words were exchanged between a congressman from New York and one from Mississippi. A challenge was delivered and accepted, and as both were courageous and determined a bloody meeting seemed imminent. Friends interposed, but in vain. Both men were resolute, and neither would yield to the suggestion of an amicable arrange-ment. As a last resort Senator Lamar was called in to save the situation. He realized that no ordinary methods would serve his purpose, and so resorted to strategy. The principals in the proposed duel are still living, so I will call the New Yorker Jones and the Mississippian Smith.

Senator Lamar called on the Nev Yorker, and after the usual civilities had been exchanged he said:

"Jones, I've come here to do you a friendly turn. I know that you and Smith are determined to fight and that nothing will stop you. I have not come as a mediator, but simply to mitigate if possible, the horrors of a fatal end so far as you are concerned. As to Smith, I have no fears. He is a dead shot and can take care of himself, but he is not an unfeeling man, and is in-clined to respect any partiality you may have in favor of any particular part of your anatomy. Some men entertain a mortal dread of being disfigured after death, and if the choice were left them would prefer not to be wounded in the eye or mouth or cheek bone. Now, if there is any particular spot that you would like to have Smith's bullet enter he has commis sioned me to say that your wishes wil be respected."

This extraordinary proposition staggered the New Yorker. Even his un-doubted courage did not stand so severe a test, and he paled visibly. After he recovered his composure he replied that he would confer with his second, and Mr. Lamar, after an impressive farewell, took his leave.

The tip was given to friends of the principals and new negotiations entered upon. The duel did not come off. Lamar's device had succeeded.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

TIME FOR SCOTLAND.

Ball on One Hill Drops When Cannon on Another Is Fired. "Speaking of clocks," said the traveler, "Edinburgh, Scotland, has the most interesting time marking device I ever saw. The city lies between two hills On one of these, known as Carlton hill, there is an observatory tower, in the top of which a large black ball is suspended. Across the valley, probably a mile away, is Castle hill, surmounted by the historic Edinburgh castle. One of the large guns in this fortress, pointing toward Carlton hill, is electrically connected with the ball in the tower a mile away. Every evening at 6 o'clock the gun is fired, and at the same moment the ball falls. The device sets the official time for all Scotland.

"It is interesting to stand on Carlton hill at the appointed hour to see the simultaneous flash of the gun on Castle hill and the fall of the ball close at hand, while the roar of the gun is of course some moments in crossing the valley. On the other hand, it is equally interesting to stand beside the big gun at dusk to watch the ball at Carlton hill fall just as the shot is fired. I recall once standing in the courtyard of the castle, watch in hand, waiting for the cannon just overhead to be fired. It occurred to me it would be more exciting to watch the crowds of passing people, especially since not one was apparently thinking of the shot from the cannon. When the roar took place, absolutely without warning, hardly a yard above the heads of the crowd, the scene well repaid my wait-Everybody dodged. Children screamed, and men and women jumped to the side of the wall. Of course it was all over in a second, but in that moment it seemed that an electric shock had passed through the crowd."

Malice and Superstition

In the middle ages malice and super-stition found expression in the formation of wax images of hated persons. into the bodies of which long pins were stuck. It was confidently believed that in that way deadly injury would be in that way deadly injury would be done to the person represented. This belief and practice continued down to the seventeenth century. The super-sition indeed still holds its place in the highlands of Scotland, "where," says a well informed writer, "within the last few years a clay model of an enemy was found in a stream, having been placed there in the belief that as the clay washed away so would the health of the hated one decline."

Trees and Wind.

When one travels through the parts of Belgium bordering on the sea he sees a striking example of the influence on trees of strong and constant winds. The trees are in general bent toward the interior of the country. was proved some time ago that the trunks of trees hurled in the peat bogs of Holland all lie in a southwest to northeast direction.

In southern Spain the cigarette makers form almost a class by themselves. Among them it is customary for a girl who fancies a lad to twist her powder puff into a pompon for his hat. If he wears it at the next bull fight it is northern Spain a pumpkin pie is held by the peasant girls to be the proper offering to the object of their affection. When a young man receives such a ple his eating it or not signifies his acceptance or refusal of the offerer's proposal of marriage.

Suffering

Will Not Help Your Disease, but Will Weaken Your Nerves.

Folks who think it is better to bear pain than soothe it—are wrong.
Old-fashioned doctors used to say it was better, because they had nothing with which to ease pain but dangerous, heart-paralyzing drugs.

But now, that a safe remedy has been found, Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, it is wrong to suffer, for nothing can be gained but weakened nerves.

A safe rule to remember is: When in pain, take an Anti-Pain Pill.

This will soothe your quivering nerves Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain by restoring the natural secretions, in which they differ from opium and similar narcotic drugs, which relieve pain by checking the action of the glands. They are sure and harmless, and are the latest medical treatment for the cure of Headache, Neuralgia, Backache, Rheumatism, Dizziness, Toothache, Stomachache, Menstrual (Monthly) Pains. Also nerve irritations like Sea-Car-Sickness, Sleeplessness Indigestion, etc.

Pleasant to take, quick in results.

"I have used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for sick, nervous headache, and have received the best results. I heartilly recommend their curative properties, for they are successful."—REV. RAY A. #### MONEY SLANG.

Applied to Coins and Bank Notes In England.

"We may think there is a great deal of slang in English as we commonly use it in this country," Mr. J. E. Sora-ghan observes, "but in at least one respect the colloquial tongue of England surpasses the wealth of terms we pos sess in this regard, and that is the slang relating to money. The American uses astonishingly few slang words in speaking of pieces of money, perhaps because he has a greater respect for it A five cent piece is usually referred to as a nickel, but this is practically the only slang term applied to any of our money in general use. A dime is offi cially a dime, and so is a quarter.

"But turn to the English appellations for their money and hardly a bit of it is referred to under its authorized and official designation. A shilling is seldom called such in London. They call it a 'bob,' and a 'quid,' which means a piece of tobacco in this country, is what they term a pound. Sixpence they call a 'tanner,' fourpence a 'joey' and a penny more often than not is unknown to the street gamins save as 'a 'mag.' man will not tell you a ride will cost 5 shillings, but that it will require a 'bull' to pay for it, and a half crown is 'half a bull.' These are prevailing expressions for the pieces of money widely handled, but proper terms for higher amounts are kicked aside and colloquial terms substituted for them.
"At a race track if a bettor says he has ventured a 'pony' on the probable outcome of a race he does not mean that as it would appear to us, but simply that he has wagered £25 on the result. Where money is handled in large amounts it is not an infrequent thing to hear one say of another that he has 'monkey' of money, meaning that the individual referred to is the proud possessor of £500. So you see in comparison with this plethora of riches our lone nickel is a poor crop of monetary slang indeed."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

AFGHAN FEUDS.

Towers of Refuge From Which the

In Afghanistan the people are good The blood feud exists in all haters. Afghan tribes. When a murder occurs the avenger does not limit his reprisal to the murderer, but kills any relative that comes handy. This, in turn, calls for a counter attack, and in time matters become so complicated that whole families are wiped out. When the tribe is called upon to meet a common enemy the heads of the families who have had a quarrel bury two stones side by side in the presence of the mollah as symbolic of the feud being put out of sight during the pub-lic danger. When affairs revert to their normal state the stones are solemnly disinterred and the two parties are free to go on shooting at each other

Every Afghan villager of moderate means owns a tower of refuge standing at the corner of his courtyard. These towers, made of stone and mud, are perfectly solid for the lower twenty feet or so, the top being surrounded by a loophole wall and covered over to make it habitable. The base is protected by a gallery, and the only means of ascent is by a rope and a hole just large enough for one man to crawl through. Whenever a man has made things too hot for himself he takes refuge in his tower, and by the unwritten law of the country he can never be starved out so long as food and water are brought to him by a woman.

A traveler in Afghanistan tells of seeing one tower of refuge whose occupant had not stirred outside for ten years. His only amusement was taking shots at the occupant of another tower, which were duly returned. In the meantime their wives visited each other and gossiped and were on terms of perfect amity.

refugees the author describes them as santry of the lowest type-dull witted and of poor physique, corrupt, degraded and semisavage.

"The gratitude of Macedonian women can occasionally be more alarming than their indignation," says the author. "They embrace me in a hug of dirty rags, and they kiss me on both cheeks. # WILL YOU BE MY PARTNER?

My magazine is now on a paying basis. That is, I am taking in as much money as I am paying out, a condition that has not existed since I established Wilshire's Magazine. It took $100,000 in cold cash to put it there, but it's there. The comrades who know me know I have no desire to make money, but that I only wish to make Socialist

What is the best way to do this?

I have given it a great deal of thought and have decided that the best way is to take into partnership with me 5,000 Socialists who are as earnest as I am. With their active assistance I can do many times more than I can now.

But, few Socialists have any money to invest! Very weil, if I can get the men I want I'll give them the stock free-but on one condition.

If you want to know what the condition is, write me now and I'll tell you how you can get a $10 share of my stock, with voting privilege, on which I will guarantee a 5 per cent. annual dividend. Don't delay—this offer is limited.
