THE ASPECT OF POLITICS.

THE ASPECT OF POLITICS. The events of each physing day, make it more and more inpurent, that the two great po-litical parties are defund. The former issues between the Whig and Democratic parties, it not now forgotten or laid saids, will be soon. Ferry Sineer Mu political heavens, points to the formation of two great pirtues, which will be known as the Northern, of Libberty Party, and the Southern, or Stavelolding Party. The ques-fion of extension or non-extension of slavery into new States and territories, will be the grand pixet now which both parties will ture. The fase of the pixitarchal institution, is now to be consider. Zirbert is in the shut nue confioned pivet none vehicle both parties will turn. The fact of the "pixtischell institution," is now to be decided, "Either it is to be shut up, confined within the hell of its own, "iscent communica-ting of the second second second second second pixtische second second second second second pixtische second second second second second all hard's fait and divince on earch." Of course then, here must follow, it such an issue, a breaking in "givess" of all priviles and attach-ments. It is utify! impossible to conjecture with any dences of accuracy into which offset the ments. It is utterly impossible to conjecture with any degree of accuracy into what order, the various elements by these former parties, will crystalize themselves as constituents of the new parties. There will be withessed, strange con-junctions as well as disjunctions.

One thing is pretty clear, which is, that when One thing is pretty clear; which is, glut when, the declarations are at first fully 'insteined, beither the North nor the South will be fully united each with i.isedf. Numérois quesileas beside that of the non-extension of abaver?, châm, the "attention of no inconsiderable number of north-ern minds. These is will be necessary to bring to a unity of action. That can only be done by organizing a party sufficiently liberal and com-prehensive to include them all netively?, not by ignoring them, or alternating to compromise a course of action which will render the party mestive, inrelation to these dpenetions, unit alter recomes of action which will render the party passive introduction which will render the party passive introduction to those duesifons, until after this one of alwayer shall have been disposed of And the Korth will not be able to trivinght with-out hie-anited suppet of every one who is op-posed Vo slavery. Three are thousands and thousands of northern peepid, who condulty hate slavery, and who are laboring for its aboli-tion's but who, nevertheless, would not vote with a party which was only "right upon that one sub-fect. Besides there will be butomada of dough-faces, who, though they level in latitude 54 40, would "go the event Southern Stude, an anju-There is in peeven Southern Stude, an anju-
