18 REACTIONARY DELEGATES DEFY ENTIRE I.S.U. MEMBERSHIP; SUP REPRESENTATIVES EJECTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10.-After a successful fight in Federal Court, the Sailors' Union of the Pacific will seek to effect the final release of their union funds, which have been tied up by a second restraining order granted to the reactionary I.S.U. executive board, by the State Superior Court.

The Sailors won the first battle when Federal Judge Roche dissolved an injunction which had been issued by the United States RECENT STEAM-

Anticipating this defeat, Attorney Hutton representing the charter-jerking I.S.U. officials, succeeded in having the union's funds tied up through the Superior Court.

The hearing is set for Friday, Feb. 14th, at Judge Robinson's Court. Aaron Sapiro, who is handling the Sailors' fight to regain their funds and charter, will return from the East to conduct the defense.

MODOC COUNTY SHERIFF BRANDS ACT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PLOT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9 .- The vicious aim of Police Chief Davis' drive against "vagrants" by sending scores of armed policemen to the borders of California, was discovered here late last week when he gave out orders to the remaining "peace officers" to institute a local campaign against "vagrants."

"Question all suspicious persons and hold for further investigation all who can not give good accounting of themselves," ordered Chief Davis, at the same time asking house-wives to report all "bums" panhandling at kitchen doors.

Rehind the blind of "saving" rical local jobs for local workers. Davis thus exposed himself as the direct agent of the most reactionary capitalists and financiers of California, who are seeking to smash all workers' organi-

All America pays tribute to the name and the ideals of Lincoln. And yet, before our very eyes, those ideals are betrayed, dragged in the mud, turned into empty lip-service. Seventy-three years after the Civil War, we are able to photograph scenes like the one below; a young Negro boy tied to a stake and tortured in the hot sun of Georgia. Not only are the Negro people far from freedom today, but the white workers along with them are bound by chains of economic slavery.

Lincoln despised the forces of capitalism which today prate his name and distort his life to suit their propaganda purposes. He warned against these men and urged the American people to preserve their revolutionary right to change their government or the social system whenever these institutions failed to answer their needs.

Abraham Lincoln

HIS IDEALS BETRAYED BY MODERN AMERICA

The name of Abraham Lincoln is cherished in the American mind as a poor boy who lived to become President of the United States. Born in a rude log cabin, he split rails to fence in newly cultivated fields; he educated himself by the light of the hearth and rose to the highest position in the land.

He guided America through a crucial period of civil war and achieved the emancipation of the Negro people from the chains of slavery. Lastly, he died a martyr, shot down by an erratic assassin at the peak of his career.

THE LEGEND

The American schools have held him up as a symbol of the equal opportunities for all which are embodied in the ideals of Americanism. His rise from obscurity to fame is impressed upon every small boy as identical to his own possibilities in life. The abolition of slavery is commemorated as the triumph of democratic civilization over every barbarism of the past.

The essential facts of this story are as true as the morals they are used to illustrate are false. THE TRUTH

Lincoln was great. But his greatness was deeper and more practical than the illusions of perfection and justice which his life story has been distorted to convey. And by his own words he never shared the hypocritical sentimentalism which has been heaped on his tomb. He looked upon life with realistic sincerity, (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Mary Weistein, age 17, suffering from infantile paralysis, died on January 26th from starvation primarily and lack of medical attention.

Joe Palacio, Mexican worker of 144 West 14th street, his wife and a family of 11 children, ranging from 14 months to 19 years, were slowly starving to death on the "security" wages of $55 per month provided by the benevolent Roosevelt administration.

Sick and unable to work, Palacio was forced to allow his oldest son, 19, to support the family, on a WPA work order.

For transportation the boy paid $8; for rent, $10; gas, $3.50; lights, $3.50; water, $2; two quarts of milk each day for the younger children, $5.60 monthly-totalling $32.60.

MAKE LINCOLN'S PRINCIPLES REALITY, INSTEAD OF MYTHS

The small boy of America, impressed and inspired by the public school version of Lincoln, encountered material for thought as he grew up in the world. He besteved in the ideals of Lincoln and cherished the Americanism for which they stood.

FACING REALITY But all about him, in homes, restaurants, parks, wherever people talked, he heard:

"Of course, you can't believe what you read in the newspapers. They're controlled by the rich."

"You can't get a job there unless you've got a pull'." "Why didn't he slip the judge a twenty dollar bill and get the case dismissed?"

"Oh, they wouldn't do nothin' to him. He's got too much dough."

"You got to pull strings in this world to get along brother."

"You gotta know the right people."

"The government? Don't make me laugh. Why it's a lotta graft. The big boys in Wall Street have got it right in the palm of their hand."

"Business is business. If you don't take the suckers, the next guy will."

A NATION IN DECAY And the small boy's heart went cold with anger within him. He saw that there were men in jail who were innocent, and everybody knew it. Yet in jail they stayed. Tom Mooney!

He saw that there were crooked men abroad in the world. Yet no one jailed them. Too much dough. Too much drag. He saw Jim-Crow street cars and restaurants in the South, Negroes lynched, spat upon, cheated.

He saw millions of underpaid, hungry clerks clinging to stools with the fear of God in their hearts that they might lose

He saw men in overalls sweating all day long and unable to meet their bills. He saw men in elegant haberdashery riding around in shiny limousines. They never worked. They had everything. They just made deals.

And the small boy that is America grew to manhood to see a World War which everyone all around him knew was a lot of millionaire graft. He saw the great depression with millions jobless and hungry and every man who raised his voice against "the system" clubbed down by the police and called a Communist. IS THIS AMERICANISM?

And the man that is America faces today a world of graft, hunger, unemployment, decay, special privilege, injustice, cruelty, and turmoil; and he asks himself: Is this the world of democracy and freedom for which Lincoln gave his life? Is this the world where all races are on an equal footing, where there is justice for all and where the virtous and industrious rise like rockets to fame? Is this Americanism?

The ideals of Lincoln are still firm in his head. And the corrupt powers that be know this. The Hearst press and every other dirty rag of special privilege touts the name Lincoln, distorts his greatness and shouts in the name of Americanism for the violent suppression of Communists and the suppression of unions.

Lincoln was a great man, and not a fool. He knew the dangers inherent in America and called out in a firm, revolutionary voice against them. He said:

LINCOLN FORESAW

"This country, with its institutions, belongs to the people who inhabit it. Whenever they shall grow weary of the existing government, they can exercise their constitutional right of amending it, or their revolutionary right to dismember or overthrow it.

"In my present position I could scarcely be justified were I to omit raising a warning voice against this approach of returning despotism."

WARNED OF POLITICIANS

He was not deceived as to the nature of his associates nor the potential decay of American freedom:

"Politicians are a set of men who have interests aside from the interests of the people and who, to say the most of them, are, taken as a mass, at least one long step removed from honest men."

Lincoln was no mouther of a fictitious state of justice. He saw the achievement of a just society as a long task ahead. He knew that when the Civil War had freed the Negroes on paper, this was no complete victory, but only a preliminary step toward freeing them in reality.

He saw the dangers for America, not in the corruption of otherwise perfect institutions which needed only an honest hand to guide them successfully, but in the structure of society itself.

TWO LINCOLNS

Today there are two Lincolns. There is the phantom Lincoln of Hearst and the Liberty League, the pasteboard idol of profit and privilege—the counterfeit Lincoln of exalted ideas flung in the face of a degenerate reality. And there is the real Lincoln—the Lincoln who will go down in history side by side with such figures as Karl Marx, Thomas Jefferson, V. I. Lenin, Thomas Paine and every other voice that cried out for the achievement of a decent society.

Lincoln cried out for the liberation of an oppressed race and the institution of democracy. And America answered him, "We're coming, father Abraham, a hundred thousand strong."

That was the answer in 1863. What is the answer today? GREATER NEED THAN EVER

Not only does the Negro race remain unliberated, but the whites side by side with them, are sweating in chains of economic slavery as cruel in their own way as the chains of early American plantations. America has degenerated into a sink of special privilege, graft and exploitation. And democracy has become the dirty dish rag of Hearst, Morgan, Ford, DuPont and the Liber

What is the answer of America to that same call today? If Lincoln were alive, his advice would be brief: "Join the Communist Party and make America fit to be proud of-make American reality measure up to American ideals."

SEATTLE COMMUNIST IN RACE FOR CITY COUNCILMAN POST

Wakefield, Editor of Voice of Action Seeks Office

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 5 .-Lawell Wakefield, leading Seattle Communist and editor of the Voice of Action, is winning wide support in his campaign for city councilman, on a platform emphasizing the fight for civil rights and against any cuts in necessary services given by the city.

With city government in the control of a reactionary mayor and a council dominated by the "Order of Cincinnatus," whose program is cutting of wages and social and library services, these two issues will play a prominent in the city elections.

PARTY STAND

Wakefield has endorsed the position of the Communist Party in the campaign, as announced in an Open Letter which calls for 1) Civil rights; freedom of speech and assembly; 2) Disband the vigilantes, abolish the Red Squad; 3) Unionization: 4) Right to strike and picket; 5) Jobs at union pay, public works, reopening of factories; 6) No economies at expense of social services; 7) Free light and water for the unemployed; and 8) Increase taxation of rich and egrporations, against the sales

ARMY AND NAVY SCAB ON MOVIE ACTORS' GUILD

GOV'T PLANES AND FUEL USED IN PRO-WAR PICTURES

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 8.-Federal employees are scabbing in Hollywood with the express permission of U.S. Government officials, it was charged here last night by a delegate from the Screen Actors' Guild to the Central Labor Council.

Army and Navy airplanes are also being used in motion pictures for the benefit of the studios, without cost to the latter, the delegate also stated.

"Columbia studio ruined five United States airplanes in one picture and didn't have to pay for the wreckage," he said. The use of the National Guard to scab on members of the Guild in Hollywood films was previously exposed by this delegate to the Central Labor Council, who stated last night that immediately following this first expose, his union received a telegram from Victor McLaglen, star of the film "Sons of Guns," that he would see to it personally that the hiring of scabs stopped.

Government planes are being flown by government employees, and are burning federal gasoline, it was charged. The fliers are being paid by the government, although they may be receiving secondary pay from the studios. By discovery of this policy of the U. S. Government, is uncovered the motivating force behind the recent epidemic of films glorifying war, with particular attention to the U. S. Army and Navy. The reactionary forces behind the government are thus attempting by the spider. to pave the way for complete militarization of the American people, as part of the drive toward fascism and war.

Rejection By Reactionary Judges Is Predicted

WHAT HOPE FOR MOONEY'S WRIT?

By Bill Creighton.

The California Supreme Court is again pregnant with the Tom Mooney case. After the appropriate number of months of labor it is predicted it will, as heretofore, bring forth a mouse.

This forecast of the outcome of the Mooney application for a writ of habeas corpus is based on action by the court five and a half years ago in the famous Billings hearing. It will be recalled that on the first Billings application for a pardon, the court voted a denial, with Judge Langdon dissenting. A query by Judge Preston regarding the 'recanting' testimony of John MacDonald brought on a special hearing, at which the entire case was gone into at great length.

Billings, at the conclusion of this hearing, renewed his pardon application-and was again denied by a vote of six to one. Judge Langdon again being the lone holdout for justice.

What reason, then, is there to expect any change of heart on the part of the court at this time?

There are two possible answers to this question. First, changes in the personnel of the court in the hospital, Wayland risked his life interim; second, the possible effect on the court of the blast delivered against Mooney's treatment at the hands of California hy the Supreme Court of the United States.

NOT LIKELY These answers still remain possibilities, but they are dubious for these reasons: 1. The two replacements in the court since the Billings hearing and final decision are judges of the most reactionary stripe, whose influence on the court tends to make it more damning toward labor than be-

2. The court has very definitely indicated its present attitude, not only toward the prisones, but toward the centigation it indirectly received from the United States Supreme Court, by deliberately straining the last to keep Mooney the actual testimony from the

Morgan Worries About Civilization MUNITIONS COMMITTEE WORRIED Nobody Worries A bout J. P. Morgan

By BOB HOLLIDAY

The wizard of finance slipped a cog. J. P. Morgan, that loyable old cynic, has finally spilled the beans. The portly, pipe-smoking banker felt lonely yesterday and "didn't want to miss the party." So he came and sat in at a private meeting of the Senate Munitions Committee, not to doze off this time, but to deliver salty comments on life.

"If you destroy the leisure class, you destroy civilization," opined Mr. Morgan.

The Senate Munitions Committee finally climbed back up on the chairs as J. P. let go with the next ene.

"In the event of another major conflict," the old gentleman quavered, "the United States will have the choice of participating and underwriting it, as it did in the World War, or of remaining completely neutral. But," he rumbled, "you

But the Senate munitions committee had vanished into thin air. "We saved our souls and civilization in the last war," Morgan commented for the record.

"Whose soul and whose civilization?" queried a mild voice from the press. But Morgan was through with his matinee.

Questioned by other newspaper men what he meant by the leisure class, J. P. obligingly defined: "Anyone who can afford to employ a maid." He estimated that there are about 30 million American families

KARL MARX

EMANCIPATOR GONGRATULATED ON RE-ELECTI ON IN LETTER FROM 1ST IN TERNATIONAL

The historically progressive character of the Civil War was emphasized by Marx and Engels, founders of the revolutionary movement, from the very beginning. The war to destroy chattel slavery, which was hampering the development of industrial capitalism and thus of the American labor movement, paved the way for the next progressive step in historical development—the abolition of wage slavery. Marx sums up this meaning of the Civil War in the first volume of Capital.

"In the United States of America, any sort of independent labor movement was paralyzed so long as slavery disfigured a part of the republic. Labor with a white skin cannot emancipate itself where labor with a black skin is branded. But out of the death of slavery a new and vigorous life sprang. The fire fruit of the Civil War was an agitation for the 8-hour day-a movement which ran with express speed from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from New England to California."

Marx actively participated in the campaign against the plan of English capitalism to enter the Civil War on the side of the South. He not only wrote consistently in the European press exposing this as a reactionary and not progressive step, but also with the support of the militant leaders of the English labor movement organized a huge mass ful movement of sympathy for the North among the English a tremendous labor rally at the St. James Hall in London actually compelled the British ruling class to change its threat of siding with the South.

WROTE TO LINCOLN

It is this recognition the role of the North as the bearer of the progressive movement of that period, containing therefore the germ of the future social revolution, that we see so miantly expressed in the historic letter which Marx wrote to Lincoln in the name of the International Workingmen's Association (the First International) at the time of Lincoln's reelection to the

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

The Great Emancipator

A Progressive American

Perhaps no man who ever lived has been buried under so deep a tomb of mythical rubbish as the great Civil War president, Abraham Lincoln. Born of pioneer parents, struggling to make a hard living out of the then midwestern wilderness, Lincoln's family, by their lives, ered herself deep in the icy wa- tracted to a magnet the crystal represented the front rank of the militant fringe of Americans who were preparing the way for the development of the great capitalist nation then in the making.

FORWARD STEP

And it is because Lincoln led this struggle for the small farmer, and for the enormously expanding industrial activity of the North which was so tightly bound up with it, that he is the foremost progressive American of his period. American capitalism had to grow, and grow mightily, for only by its development could the increasing numbers of Americans be provided with the goods and services they required. Lincoln fought for American capitalism, the society marked by economic law as the next stage in civilization. For that reason he was the great progressive of the time. The expansion of Negro slavery was the primary obstacle to this irresistible development of capital-

MENTAL HYGIENE IN USSR

We have received a couple of etters from people who have heard of the wonderful results achieved by the U.S.S.R. in the treatment of various diseases under socialized medicine, and who want to know if their ailments could be treated there. One letter about a Moscow bone clinic we are forwarding to the Daily Worker Medical Advisory Board for reply and the other letter we are printing today, as it illustrates better than a thousand editorials the terrible conditions prevailing in this country in the treatment of metal diseases.

ANSWER:-The eyes of the working class throughout the world are turning more and more toward the U.S.S.R. with hope and confidence. Workers believe that nothing is impossible in that land of giants. UNITY AT HOME

In answer to the comrade who asked me why her daughter was so reactionary in her attitude, I suggested this possibility:

Many children reaching their teens have a strong desire to identify themselves with those around them. They want to become part of the group. They want to dress like the others do, say the same things as those around them, and they themselves are intolerant of any variations from the norm. They resent school fellows.

This girl lives in a small town. Her people are known as radicals. She feels she is left out of things at school because of this. Her mother tells me that she prepared a party and invited the girls in her class—and not one came.

When she gets older and comes into the class struggle, her attitude will very probably change.

Our children have to be won over, too. THAT LAST WORD

A farm wife had her say in lists among your fellow workers Meeker County, Minnesota, at a meeting of farmers called by the Holiday Ass'n to discuss settlement of the feed and seed loans.

She said to an attorney who had come to give "legal" advice to the assembled farmers:

"What do you mean coming here telling us farmers what to do and how to do it. Next thing we may expect to hear from the likes of you is that a well-balanced hay fork is the right thing to shovel manure with.

"We know what we want and what we are going to have. We're going to pay bushel for bushel and no more. If the F.C.A. don't want to settle on that basis we'll take the grain to the county agent and dump it in his office and our Holiday will write the receipt for it."

Then a representative of the Farm Bureau arose and very sarcastically remarked, "The Almighty made the first radio when he took the rib from the side of Adam and made a woman, and they have been broadcasting ever since."

Farm wife arose again: "Yes. but we women have a program to broadcast and you guys produce only static. Set down and let someone talk who has something to say!"-(From the Farm Woman in Farmers National Weekly.) YES, YES, GO ON COLUMN

Lenin on the U.S. CIVIL WAR

In his Letter to the American Workers, Lenin shows the rich revolutionary traditions of the American working class which are a powerful weapon in the hands of the workers in their revolutionary struggle against wage slavery-against capitalism. The capitalist class of the North was compelled to resort to war-to revolutionary means -to accomplish the destruction of slave-oligarchy and allow the free expansion of capitalist development unhampered by the feudalslave fetters. The next stage is the revolutionary war of the working we have pledged ourselves never class to destroy the finance-capitalist oligarchy and make possible the free and unhampered development of socialist production.

This Lenin points out in his Letter to the American Workers, written in 1918 when the new Soviet country was surrounded by the imperialist enemies determined to crush it by force and violence.

"The American people have a revolutionary tradition adopted | the abysmal ruin, destruction and by the representatives of the American proletariat, who gave repeated expression to their full solidarity with us, the Bolsheviks. This tradition is the war of liberation against the English in the 18th and the Civil War in the 19th century. Why We Support The Demand for a Congressional Investigation

Many objections were raised on the floor of the San Francisco Central Labor Council and in the Sailors' Union against the Congressional investigation demanded by the District Council of the Maritime Federation. Some of these objections were raised sincerely, some were not. Some of the arguments given were that the unions don't want government interference; that an investigation might be turned against the maritime unions; that it would result in unfavorable arbitration, etc. If all this were true, why is it that the shipowners are fighting desperately against any such investigation, and are utilizing all possible pressure in Washington to kill it?

The maritime unions have not asked for an investigation by the Department of Labor, or the Department of Justice, or an "impartial committee," of the entire maritime situation. They have made charges that the shipowners planned to repudiate their agreements, institute a lock-out, and use vigilante terrorism to smash the unions. They have demanded a PUBLIC INVESTIGATION of this conspiracy by a Congressional Commit-

Such a committee could delve into these charges, examine the minutes and records of the employers' secret conferences where this plot was hatched and would be forced to bring to light the evidence to corroborate the charges of the maritime unions that the shipowners are deliberately attempting to provoke a struggle on the waterfront which would give them the excuse to declare a lock-out. The unions have nothing to hide in such an investigation; the shipowners have. The Congressional Committee would be forced to hear and make public the evidence presented by the unions, regardless of how favorable the committee might want to be to the employers. That's why the employers fear such an investigation.

The timely exposure by the Maritime Federation has already forced the shipowners to modify their plans, and postpone the "showdown" they are aiming to provoke.

They are now attempting to provoke a struggle with the I.L.A. by trying to increase the loads and the speed-up. The longshoremen will not allow themselves to be provoked, but if the employers continue this line of attack they will meet the determined resistance of the longshoremen, backed by the Maritime Federation.

The solidarity of all maritime unions, and the support of Organized Labor will defeat the employers' conspiracy.

TO NEWS GUILD

Of King Edward VIII The Fascist Trend

The death of George V and the crowning of Edward VIII is heralded in the liberal press of both Britain and America as a step in the direction of fascism for the empire.

Marked leanings of the young King toward fascist ideas and the fact that immediately after ascending the throne he has "taken steps" toward cementing relationships with Nazi Germany are cited as indications.

The warning is well sounded, but the logic faulty. History is not altered or shaped by the death of a single man. The crowned head of England remains an impotent figure as before.

The power of present British politics lies firmly in the hands of British capitalism. These special interests were leaning in the direction of fascism and covertly negotiating with Nazi Germany long before the death of George V. The coronation of the new King merely creates a public spectacle to distract the mind of the mass and an opportunity to bring this fascist tendency into the open.

The sentimental popularity of Edward VII makes him an ideal sales person to introduce the swastika to Britain. He has no more power than his father had. But British capitalism, by all indications, intends to make more practical use of him.

The press of Britain is fostering the idea that with the new King a new era of justice to the lower classes will dawn on the empire. It is a soothing illusion, but truth is that the reality of Britain is no more altered when the empire changes its King than when the King changes

A Month's Hard Work Ahead In the Western Worker Drive

Within a month the workers of the West Coast must raise $3,380.61 if the drive for a $7500 Sustaining Fund for the Western Worker is to be successful.

That $7500 will accomplish a number of things. First, it will guarantee that you will get your Western Worker throughout 1936 without any hitches because of financial difficulties. Secondly, the paper can be expanded to eight pages, with more pictures, better type and other technical improvements. Thirdly, it will clear the way for a thorough drive for increased circulation. With properly organized effort we can double our present circulation and probably treble the influence

Those sections with drive funds on hand should send them in immediately. All sections must realize that no time can be lost if they are to fulfill their quotas. A month is scarcely time to organize and hold a successful affair which would raise funds for the drive.

Among the thousands of readers of the Western Worker there are undoubtedly many who intend to contribute but who have been postponing the buying of a money order,-(or the pasting of a dime to a sheet of cardhoard). These we urge to address an envelope and rush in their contributions.

The workers on the West Coast can't afford to not make the drive a success.

An eight-page Western Worker, with greater circulation is too great a weapon in the struggle for a higher living standard for us to let it go.

Communists Must Be On Common Ground With Masses

No one doubts the importance of penetrating the masses. Yet every day comrades enter into mass organizations totally unprepared for such particular work. These comrades not only do not understand their assignments but actually regard these assignments as a bit of sacrifice on their part -as something necessary because this or that bureau required them to do some "mass organization" work.

Needless to say this condition of affairs produces little or no results, if not actual harm. The comrades really lose valuable time and the masses of workers and toilers are criminally neglect-

This situation must be corrected at once. The people of California are moving fast. We cannot lose a moment's time in wasteful methods. The obvious thing to do is to train the comrades before they enter any mass organization. This means that the comrades who join a club or party or any other group must learn what it is all about-what an organization stands for.

SEEK UNITY Instead of trying to find out points of difference, let them search carefully for points of contact, They must learn how to agree, and not how to differ. Communism is comprehensive and scientific. There is no party or club that is as thorough or workable as the Communist Party. Communism touches the workers at all points. There is no danger of opportunism, of losing ultimate aims for immediate ones. The real danger lies in losing a common ground with the masses.

This involvees a change of at titude on the part of our comrades. They must realize that the Communist Party exists for the sake of the working class and the working class does not exist for the sake of the Communist Party; that while the Communist Party has much to teach the masses, it also has much to learn from the masses through their most crying needs and through the life spirit of the people.

TOWNSENDITES

Let those who undertake educational work in the mass organizations make sure that they are really interested, really inspired and willing, and able to further the interests of their adopted group. For instance, in the coming campaign amongst the Townsendites, Party comrades must really want the old people to receive their $200 per month. They must join forces with these militant old workers and protect them against the treachery of the monopolies and machinations of the Supreme Court.

They must take advantage of every device in order to prove to the Townsendites that we are in ARTIST DIES IN favor of their getting the $200 per month. This is an instance of a point of common interest which will involve the Townsendites along wider fronts with their natural leaders, the Communists. semi-starvation, Kenneth Lin, a Common ground, common lanmember of the Communist Party guage, common interests and a for a number of years, died here common experience—these are anti-slave and anti-Supreme Court secrets of our United Front work. DRED SCOTT DECISION SERVED SLAVE-HOLDERS

By Harry Carlisle.

The 1936 anniversary of Lincoln's birthday, occurring as it does in an election year in which "Change the Constitution!" promises to become an important slogan, recalls Lincoln's fight against the 'usurped" powers of the Supreme

Lincoln's battle on the question of "constitutional" legislation was forced upon him by the needs of growing capitalism:—a strongly centralized government and uniform property relationships to aid fice and the slave ultimately gaintransportation growth and industrial and commercial development; as follows in the name of the spread of the free market; and First International: abolition of the chattel slave in favor of a surplus of "free" wage workers to compete for jobs and keep wages down.

Lincoln hesitated and compromised the issue of freeing the slave, until he was forced by history into a determined anti-slavery fight. This fight was crystallized by the Supreme Court's famous "Dred Scott decision" in 1857, and led in turn to a long, ocratic-revolutionary traditions—compels it to seek allies on bloody, expensive Civil War.

who traveled with his master in mankind to revolt, especially when lines, and is already committed his freedom on ground of residence there. A lower Missouri court granted his claim, which was taken to the United States Supreme Court after the Missouri State Supreme Court reversed the decision. It lost by seven to two, and Supreme Court Chief Justice Haney, (slave-holder, defender of slave smugglers, spokesman for the reactionary land and slaveholding ruling class of the South) declared:

"The Negro race is regarded so far inferior that it has no right which the white man is hound to respect, and the Negro may justly be reduced to slavery for his benefit."

This "usurpation" of power openly demanded revolt.

Legally, the decision meant that Congress has no rights to make laws in the interest of the population if such laws "interfere" of residents within States. Similarly, the recent Supreme Court decisions against the NRA, the AAA, the Wagner Bill, decisions against the Guffey Bill membership to 40,000 before the and the Tennessee Valley electric power project, are founded on "States Rights" (actually private property rights of the ruling class —then slave-holders, now financecapital).

In 1857, keeping the Constitution safe for slave-holders was intolerable if capitalism was to progress. Lincoln, therefore, challenged the Supreme Court. He said:

"I felt that measures otherwise unconstitutional might become Ancient King Dionysius of Syracuse was the inventor of capitalist politics. His method, when talking business with an" associate was to seat him in a chair with a sword hanging over his head suspended by a single? human hair. This was calculated to put the associate in a reasonable frame of mind.

Modern capitalist governments have greatly enlarged the practice without altering the principle. Today no capitalist power ' "ld consider conferring with an er on a point of dispute without first mobilizing troops on the opponent's border and cruising their navies in circles around their essociate's colonies. The presence of the sword carries more weight than the words of the diplomats and precludes the necessity of logic in their arguments.

SMALL NATIONS

Small nations are pathetically impotent in the field of international politics. They have neither rmies nor navies of sufficient strength to hang on a hair over the opponent's head.

Uruguay made a recent bold attempt to substitute her delicatessens for warships and bulldoze the Soviet Union into making a deal under threat of indigestion. The method used was to suspend 200 tons of cheese over the Sovicts' head.

AWFUL PROSPECT

Strange as the maneuver was The American Federation of it did not lack shrewdness. Anyone who has ever eaten three or four cheese sandwiches before going to bed at night will realize 200 tons of cheese is equivalent to a nightmare more terrible than the cannonading of a powers ful battle fleet.

The President of Uruguay then proposed that if the Soviets would purchase 200 tons of cheese, he would call everything square, otherwise he would break off relations.

The Uruguayan delegate, flushed to the roots of his hair, lumbered to his feet and frantically waved a red herring again.

THE RECORD

Litvinov calmly retorted that the whole history of Uruguay was an uninterrupted series of "internal disorders, risings, mutinies, revolutions, conspiracies, upheavals and coups d'etat."

To support this, he quoted directly from the Encyclo "a Britanica: "After the Dec 4tion of Independence the history of Uruguay became a record of intrigues, financial ruin, and political folly and crime."
